State Will Install Lock-Type Cover For B'way Sewer

Preliminary Work To Start Soon on Thruway Section

Bixby Says Department Works on Plans for Use of Roadway to Saugerties

State officials said today that preliminary work on the section of the New York State Thruway between Sawkill and Route 28, should be under way next week.

J. S. Bixby, district engineer of the State Public Works Department at Poughkeepsie, said that F. R. Port, of this city, an assistant engineer in the department, has been assigned to stake out the section and it is expected that John Arborio Inc., of Poughkeepsie, the contractor, will be on the job next week.

Bixby also said that his department is working on plans to allow traffic to use the section of thruway completed between Saugerties and the Sawkill area this season, and if there are no serious hampering problems, traffic will use the Lake Katrine road to get on and off of the super highway. No trucks will be allowed to use it until later.

To Clear Brush, Trees

A first stage of the work on the Sawkill-Route 28 section will be the clearing of brush and trees from the right-of-way preliminary to the grading operations for which heavy machinery will be moved to the site.

The contract calls for the building of about two and a half miles of the route, from where it now ends in the Sawkill area, to a point where an interchange system will join it with Route 28.

The contractor will also build a gravel road serving four farms in the area, a bridge where the Sawkill road crosses, and short strips of access roads in the area.

Effort to Be Made to Control Storm Flooding of Roadway

J. S. Bixby, district engineer of the State Public Works Department at Poughkeepsie, said today that a plan agreed upon by the city and his department to eliminate the cause of floods in the Broadway underpass during heavy rains, will be tried.

After a suggestion by Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly, as acting mayor, that the city should not accept the underpass until the cause of floods is eliminated, the Common Council voted in favor of this action.

Official communications to Albany were referred back to Bixby's office and Lipsett, Inc., the crossing project contractor, was ordered to make an inspection. Joseph L. Thomas, construction superintendent for Lippsett, recently made this inspection, and the problem apparently was brought back to the state engineers.

To Execute Plan

Bixby said today that the plan agreed upon when he conferred with local officials would be executed. This calls for replacing present manhole covers with the lock head type and the closing of "windows" which allowed storm water overflows to go into the sanitary sewer line during heavy storms.

City officials are not satisfied that this will be the effective solution, but it was agreed that since the state is willing to do something about the condition that the plan should be tried.

State to Pay Cost

Bixby said the state will pay the cost of putting the plan into effect, and that city employes, who are familiar with the sewer system, will do the work. The construction or repair work involved is expected not to be long or costly.

The underpass was flooded several times during the summer as heavy rains sent not only a heavy flow of water but soil and debris into the catch basins. During one rain, soil piled along the sides of the underpass was washed down into the street into the sewer lines.

Again in the recent severe storm the underpass was flooded, and a car which became stalled, was towed from the flooded area.

Rains during the late summer also washed away much of the soil, which had been placed along the underpass in preparation for the landscaping project. This has been replaced and the work of laying sod is now progressing.

U. S. Raps Russia On Kennan Ouster

Nothing Said About Any Retaliation—Left to New President

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—The United States sharply rapped Russia last night for ousting American Ambassador George F. Kennan and for "systematically" keeping foreign envoys in Moscow from contacts with the Russian people.

A new American note to the Kremlin said the imposing of restrictions on foreign diplomats "grossly violates the traditions and customs in international intercourse developed over generations."

It said nothing, however, about retaliation and authorities forecast that the Truman administration will leave it up to the new President to decide whether to expel Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin or hit back in any other way.

The note replied to the Oct. 3 Soviet demand for the recall of Kennan on the ground that he voiced "slanderous attacks hostile to the Soviet Union." Kennan had said in Berlin on Sept. 19 that an American's life in Moscow is not much different from the experiences of American diplomats interned in Germany after Pearl Harbor.

Turin, Italy, Oct. 9 (AP)—A professor has been arrested here on charges of selling advance copies of his school's examination questions for the equivalent of $500. At the same school two years ago students were found taking their examinations equipped with a homemade walkie-talkie radio, so they could broadcast the questions to friends outside the classroom and receive the answers back.

Pennsylvania Crowd Agrees With Nixon on Spinelessness

Ike's Running Mate Says General Has Proved His Mettle Despite Stevenson

York, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP)—Sen Richard M. Nixon let fly today with fresh attacks on the Democratic administration's foreign policy.

The Republican vice presidential candidate, on a whistle-stop tour of eastern Pennsylvania, asked a York crowd if there was anything "more spineless" than the Truman-Acheson foreign policy.

Cries of "no, no" came from his listeners.

Nixon looked haggard. He slept little after last night's Pittsburgh speech in which he coupled a blast against Democratic foreign policy with praise of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as Russias public enemy Number One.

Waves Newspaper

The California senator waved a newspaper headlined: "Stevenson Says Ike Lacks Backbone for Presidency."

Then he asserted:

"Eisenhower has proved his backbone with his leadership in World War 2 and following the war. He is a man who has backbone and he is running against a gang that doesn't know what backbone is, and shouldn't talk about it in reference to anyone else."

Local Educator, B.C. Van Ingen Dies

Former Superintendent of City Schools Served Here Since 1922

Bart C. Van Ingen, 87, former superintendent of Kingston schools, died in this city on Wednesday afternoon. His home was at 106 Maiden Lane.

Born at Penfield in Monroe county on Sept. 14, 1865, he was the son of the late Huibert and Dirkje Van Ingen. After receiving his early education in the old type district school, Van Ingen attended high school in Webster. He was a graduate of the State Normal School at Geneseo and of Illinois Wesleyan University with a Ph.B. degree. He did post graduate work at Cornell University and had a Master of Arts degree.

In 1895, while he was principal of a school at Northville, he married Ada L. Avery, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Avery of that community. Mrs. Van Ingen died in Kingston eight years ago.

Came Here As Teacher

Van Ingen came to Kingston as a mathematics teacher on Sept. 5, 1922. In November, 1923, he was appointed principal of Kingston High School and continued in that position until 1931 when, on the death of Dr. Myron J. Michael, he was appointed superintendent of schools for this city. He retired in July, 1939.

A member of the First Dutch Church in Kingston he served several terms as an elder, had been clerk of the consistory and at the time of his death was custodian of the archives. He was a charter member and one of the early presidents of the Men's Club of that church.

Interested in civic affairs and character building institutions, Van Ingen devoted a large portion of his time to volunteer work following his retirement.

Chinese Are Riddled in Hill Fight

South Koreans Pummel Communists Trying to Gain Ground in Four-Day Drive

Battle Is Bloody

15,000 Reds in Action Across Western and Central Fronts

Seoul, Korea, Oct. 9 (AP)—Dogged South Korean infantrymen fought at a "bloody pace" tonight against two Chinese regiments on White Horse Hill amid a thunderous artillery duel.

U. S. Sabre jet pilots reported they shot down two Communist MIG 15s and damaged three others in air battles in MIG Alley over northwest Korea.

An American officer at the White Horse Hill fight, now nearing its fourth day, said the Koreans were fighting at a "bloody pace" against the Chinese who "have used up one division in the battle and are starting on their second."

He estimated the Reds had lost 8,000 killed and wounded in three days of fighting around White Horse. A Chinese division usually numbers about 10,000.

Hand to Hand Battle

Associated Press Correspondent Milo Farneti at the front said South Korean infantrymen were within 70 yards of the crest tonight after several hours of hand to hand fighting.

The U. S. Eighth Army said about 6,000 Chinese were digging in on the crest and northern slopes. With nearby Arrowhead Ridge, the peak dominates the Chorwon valley and the ancient invasion route to Seoul.

City Shock Source 'Fogs' Po'keepsie

Noise Like Explosion Also Reported by Residents—Ground Disturbance Recorded by Fordham Seismograph

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Residents of this area still were puzzling today over the cause of a shock wave felt by thousands of persons yesterday.

The possibility that it was a mild earthquake, as indicated by the Fordham University seismograph, was questioned by some persons who had experienced earthquakes before.

Still, no trace could be found of what else might have caused the shock.

Police and fire department switchboards lit up with calls from anxious residents. Some said the shock was accompanied by a noise like an explosion.

Jets Fly Over City

Jet planes were reported flying over the city at about the time of the shock. This led to an early theory—rejected by the air force—that a jet plane had crashed.

Some speculated that the shock was caused by a jet breaking through a sonic barrier or by a secret army experiment.

Military officials declined all comment except to say no plane had crashed in the area.

The Rev. Joseph Lynch, Fordham seismologist, said an earth disturbance about 45 miles north of the university was recorded at 4.41:28 p. m. (EST) yesterday. The time coincides with the time the shock was felt in Poughkeepsie, which is about 68 miles north of the university.

Calls It Local

Father Lynch said the disturbance was "merely a local resettlement such as this area experiences from time to time."

But, A. Scott Warthin, professor of geology at Vassar, in Poughkeepsie, told newsmen:

"Personally, I don't know what

Lie Says UN Must Produce Equitable Sharing in Korea

Says Aggression Resistance Must Continue Until Armistice—Defines Present War

United Nations, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie told the 60 members of the UN last night there must be a "more equitable sharing of the burden" in Korea.

He also told them it is their duty to carry on the fight until an armistice is reached, that resistance to aggression in Korea had increased the security of all nations which desire to live in peace, and that an end of the war along present battle lines would be a victory for the UN.

These declarations were key points in a statement on the world situation addressed by Lie to the General Assembly, which opens its 1952 session here next Tuesday. Lie said it was necessary to re-state the facts because "honest misunderstandings as well as falsehoods" persist in many parts of the world as to what the Korean War is all about.

Not Against Any System

Lie declared the Korean conflict is not a war against any system of government nor a war to unify North and South Korea, but "has been undertaken and fought by the United Nations only to throw back the aggressors, to bring the aggression to an end, and to restore peace and security."

The secretary-general made these other points on the world situation:

The East-West tensions remain unchanged since he made his last report a year ago.

Constitute Challenge

The rise of nationalism and the demand for greater equality of rights, freedoms and economic opportunity are as significant as the East-West conflict and they "constitute one of the greatest chal-

1950 Ruling Left Korea Out of Area

Nation Was Not Within Defense Perimeter in Pacific; Says This Was Strife Invitation

Gets Big Ovation

San Francisco Throngs Estimated at 100,000 for Eisenhower

By DON WHITEHEAD

San Francisco, Oct. 9 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower moves his campaign into southern California today after a scathing foreign policy indictment blaming the Korean war largely on the political decisions of the Truman administration.

Speaking last night at San Francisco, the GOP presidential nominee said a 1950 statement by the State Department, leaving Korea outside the announced defense perimeter in the Pacific, had encouraged if not invited "the ordeal in Korea."

He told a wildly cheering throng of nearly 29,000 overflowing the Cow Palace Arena that the United Nations had been "swindled" into the Korea peace talks—and as a result the Communists are now half again as strong as they were before the talks began.

Says Trap Was Perfect

In his prepared text, Eisenhower said: "the Soviet trap was perfectly conceived, perfectly timed, perfectly sprung."

He dropped this paragraph in his talk but told his press secretary, James Hagerty, that he would "stand by it." He called this situation a "bear pit" into which free world diplomacy had fallen.

It was one of the bitterest denunciations of the administration that Eisenhower has yet made. It paralleled in many ways the charges Republicans have been making for months.

With this speech behind him, he headed by plane today for a swing into Fresno, San Diego, Long Beach and Los Angeles.

100,000 Give Ovation

He rode into San Francisco by automobile in a blizzard of confetti and ticker tape. Police estimated 100,000 cheered him along the way. There was a high emotional content to the cheers and yells and in the faces of those who applauded him. It was striking to reporters who have followed the general through his campaign.

The demonstration raised the hopes of Eisenhower's lieutenants that he has a great reservoir of good will in California which will mean the capture of the state's 32 electoral votes Nov. 4.

Eisenhower's attack on the administration's foreign policy was combined with a defense of himself against accusations hurled at him by President Truman.

Truman Turns His Sarcasm on Ike

Cries He's Not Economical and Says Adlai Tight Man With Dollar

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Aboard Truman Train, Oct. 9 (AP)—President Truman said today that Dwight D. Eisenhower has "moaned and groaned about high prices" even as the Republicans plan to "murder what's left of price controls" if they win in November.

"To say that the Republicans are the party of low prices is like saying the shark is man's best friend, or that tigers make nice household pets," he said.

And he accused the Republican presidential candidate of practicing "the old flim-flam" on the voters by "going up and down the country promising tax cuts, and budget cuts, and saying the people are on an 'economic treadmill.'"

That was in a speech prepared for delivery at Cleveland, Ohio, in

Shenandoah, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP)—Well, the Methodist booth sold 360 hot dogs. And the Baptists did just about as well, but had 36 cases of soft drinks left. The high school football field is still pretty messed up with crumpled paper cups and empty potato chip bags.

But the cleanup men are busy and everything will be shipshape, so they say, in time for tomorrow night's homecoming game. And it's widely agreed that yesterday's pancake feed was a big success, attracting all of those out-of-towners.

Among those present: Harry S. Truman of Jackson county, just across the Missouri line, and Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, Ohio. The President brought his daughter Margaret, too. She looked mighty slick in that blue suit.

British Wreck Toll Now Stands at 94

Three Americans Among Dead at Harrow—157 Injured

Harrow, Eng., Oct. 9 (AP) — At least 13 bodies were dug today from deep in the debris of a triple train crash, bringing the death toll of the second worst rail disaster in British history to at least 94.

All of the victims were found inside two splintered coaches at the bottom of a 50-foot mound of debris piled up by yesterday's fantastic collision of two expresses and a suburban train in the Harrow rail station.

Meanwhile, one of the many injured died in a hospital.

Rescue workers, some of whom had been on duty since soon after the crash yesterday morning, reached the center of the wreckage mound shortly before noon.

Doctors said the first basket of

Bulganin Says Third War Would Finish U.S. Power

Moscow, Oct. 9 (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Nikolai Bulganin told the big 19th All-Union Communist Party Congress last night that a third world war would finish the United States as a fighting power.

Bulganin and British Communist chief Harry Pollitt joined the parade of speakers to the podium of the Congress—apparently the largest meeting of Communist leaders in history—after Maxim Z. Saburov, chairman of the State Planning Commission, outlined objectives of the current five year plan.

Emphasizing the strength of the Soviet Union, Bulganin predicted that if "American aggressors" kindle the flame of a new world war, it will be their last one. The deputy premier, however, appealed for still further strengthening of the Soviet state.

Pollitt stressed principally the significance of the Congress for workers of the world. The British Red leader is one of at least 115 delegates here from Communist parties of 45 foreign countries. Observers recall no previous Communist gathering that included so many leaders, or such a number from so many different countries.

Moscow newspapers disclosed today that Deputy Premier Lavrenty P. Beria (head of the Soviet police organization), has

Dewey Hits Rank Hypocrisy Of White Supremacy Ballot

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey says the "white supremacy" slogan on Alabama's Democratic ballot convicts that party's top nominees of "rankest hypocrisy."

In a statewide radio and television address last night, the New York governor ripped into Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama after holding up to TV-viewers the official Alabama ballot showing:

A rooster emblem, with the words "white supremacy" above it and the words "for the right" below it.

"There it is," Dewey said, "the rooster and the banner of white supremacy—Ku Klux Klan—Jim Crow banner—flying over the electors for Stevenson and Sparkman in this year 1952."

The symbol was placed on the Alabama ballot around 1901. It was adopted at the behest of white supremacy leaders in reaction to the post-civil war period when northern opportunists allowed mass Negro voting and many white voters were disfranchised.

In advance of Dewey's speech, his office said he would demand that Sparkman withdraw as the party's vice presidential candidate and that Stevenson "withdraw from the Alabama ballot."

However, in his speech, Dewey actually said:

"When I first saw these ballots I thought I should call for one or

Noise Like Explosion Also Reported by Residents—Ground Disturbance Recorded by Fordham Seismograph

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Residents of this area still were puzzling today over the cause of a shock wave felt by thousands of persons yesterday.

The possibility that it was a mild earthquake, as indicated by the Fordham University seismograph, was questioned by some persons who had experienced earthquakes before.

Still, no trace could be found of what else might have caused the shock.

Police and fire department switchboards lit up with calls from anxious residents. Some said the shock was accompanied by a noise like an explosion.

Jets Fly Over City

Jet planes were reported flying over the city at about the time of the shock. This led to an early theory—rejected by the air force—that a jet plane had crashed.

Some speculated that the shock was caused by a jet breaking through a sonic barrier or by a secret army experiment.

Military officials declined all comment except to say no plane had crashed in the area.

The Rev. Joseph Lynch, Fordham seismologist, said an earth disturbance about 45 miles north of the university was recorded at 4.41:28 p. m. (EST) yesterday. The time coincides with the time the shock was felt in Poughkeepsie, which is about 68 miles north of the university.

Calls It Local

Father Lynch said the disturbance was "merely a local resettlement such as this area experiences from time to time."

But, A. Scott Warthin, professor of geology at Vassar, in Poughkeepsie, told newsmen:

"Personally, I don't know what

1950 Ruling Left Korea Out of Area

Gets Big Ovation

San Francisco Throngs Estimated at 100,000 for Eisenhower

By DON WHITEHEAD

San Francisco, Oct. 9 (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower moves his campaign into southern California today after a scathing foreign policy indictment blaming the Korean war largely on the political decisions of the Truman administration.

Speaking last night at San Francisco, the GOP presidential nominee said a 1950 statement by the State Department, leaving Korea outside the announced defense perimeter in the Pacific, had encouraged if not invited "the ordeal in Korea."

He told a wildly cheering throng of nearly 29,000 overflowing the Cow Palace Arena that the United Nations had been "swindled" into the Korea peace talks—and as a result the Communists are now half again as strong as they were before the talks began.

Says Trap Was Perfect

In his prepared text, Eisenhower said: "the Soviet trap was perfectly conceived, perfectly timed, perfectly sprung."

He dropped this paragraph in his talk but told his press secretary, James Hagerty, that he would "stand by it." He called this situation a "bear pit" into which free world diplomacy had fallen.

It was one of the bitterest denunciations of the administration that Eisenhower has yet made. It paralleled in many ways the charges Republicans have been making for months.

With this speech behind him, he headed by plane today for a swing into Fresno, San Diego, Long Beach and Los Angeles.

100,000 Give Ovation

He rode into San Francisco by automobile in a blizzard of confetti and ticker tape. Police estimated 100,000 cheered him along the way. There was a high emotional content to the cheers and yells and in the faces of those who applauded him. It was striking to reporters who have followed the general through his campaign.

The demonstration raised the hopes of Eisenhower's lieutenants that he has a great reservoir of good will in California which will mean the capture of the state's 32 electoral votes Nov. 4.

Eisenhower's attack on the administration's foreign policy was combined with a defense of himself against accusations hurled at him by President Truman.

Lie Says UN Must Produce Equitable Sharing in Korea

Says Aggression Resistance Must Continue Until Armistice—Defines Present War

United Nations, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie told the 60 members of the UN last night there must be a "more equitable sharing of the burden" in Korea.

He also told them it is their duty to carry on the fight until an armistice is reached, that resistance to aggression in Korea had increased the security of all nations which desire to live in peace, and that an end of the war along present battle lines would be a victory for the UN.

These declarations were key points in a statement on the world situation addressed by Lie to the General Assembly, which opens its 1952 session here next Tuesday. Lie said it was necessary to re-state the facts because "honest misunderstandings as well as falsehoods" persist in many parts of the world as to what the Korean War is all about.

Not Against Any System

Lie declared the Korean conflict is not a war against any system of government nor a war to unify North and South Korea, but "has been undertaken and fought by the United Nations only to throw back the aggressors, to bring the aggression to an end, and to restore peace and security."

The secretary-general made these other points on the world situation:

The East-West tensions remain unchanged since he made his last report a year ago.

Constitute Challenge

The rise of nationalism and the demand for greater equality of rights, freedoms and economic opportunity are as significant as the East-West conflict and they "constitute one of the greatest chal-

Truman Turns His Sarcasm on Ike

Cries He's Not Economical and Says Adlai Tight Man With Dollar

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Aboard Truman Train, Oct. 9 (AP)—President Truman said today that Dwight D. Eisenhower has "moaned and groaned about high prices" even as the Republicans plan to "murder what's left of price controls" if they win in November.

"To say that the Republicans are the party of low prices is like saying the shark is man's best friend, or that tigers make nice household pets," he said.

And he accused the Republican presidential candidate of practicing "the old flim-flam" on the voters by "going up and down the country promising tax cuts, and budget cuts, and saying the people are on an 'economic treadmill.'"

That was in a speech prepared for delivery at Cleveland, Ohio, in

Over at Mustang Field Harry Failed To Shake Much Loose; Taft Cheered

By ED CREAGH

Shenandoah, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP)—Well, the Methodist booth sold 360 hot dogs. And the Baptists did just about as well, but had 36 cases of soft drinks left. The high school football field is still pretty messed up with crumpled paper cups and empty potato chip bags.

But the cleanup men are busy and everything will be shipshape, so they say, in time for tomorrow night's homecoming game. And it's widely agreed that yesterday's pancake feed was a big success, attracting all of those out-of-towners.

Among those present: Harry S. Truman of Jackson county, just across the Missouri line, and Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, Ohio. The President brought his daughter Margaret, too. She looked mighty slick in that blue suit.

Pancake feed? Oh, that's an old custom in these parts. Free

Three Americans Among Dead at Harrow—157 Injured

Harrow, Eng., Oct. 9 (AP) — At least 13 bodies were dug today from deep in the debris of a triple train crash, bringing the death toll of the second worst rail disaster in British history to at least 94.

All of the victims were found inside two splintered coaches at the bottom of a 50-foot mound of debris piled up by yesterday's fantastic collision of two expresses and a suburban train in the Harrow rail station.

Meanwhile, one of the many injured died in a hospital.

Rescue workers, some of whom had been on duty since soon after the crash yesterday morning, reached the center of the wreckage mound shortly before noon.

Doctors said the first basket of

Bulganin Says Third War Would Finish U.S. Power

Moscow, Oct. 9 (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Nikolai Bulganin told the big 19th All-Union Communist Party Congress last night that a third world war would finish the United States as a fighting power.

Bulganin and British Communist chief Harry Pollitt joined the parade of speakers to the podium of the Congress—apparently the largest meeting of Communist leaders in history — after Maxim Z. Saburov, chairman of the State Planning Commission, outlined objectives of the current five year plan.

Emphasizing the strength of the Soviet Union, Bulganin predicted that if "American aggressors" kindle the flame of a new world war, it will be their last one. The deputy premier, however, appealed for still further strengthening of the Soviet state.

Pollitt stressed principally the significance of the Congress for workers of the world. The British Red leader is one of at least 115 delegates here from Communist parties of 45 foreign countries. Observers recall no previous Communist gathering that included so many leaders, or such a number from so many different countries.

Moscow newspapers disclosed today that Deputy Premier Lavrenty P. Beria (head of the Soviet police organization), has

Dewey Hits Rank Hypocrisy Of White Supremacy Ballot

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey says the "white supremacy" slogan on Alabama's Democratic ballot convicts that party's top nominees of "rankest hypocrisy."

In a statewide radio and television address last night, the New York governor ripped into Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama after holding up to TV-viewers the official Alabama ballot showing:

A rooster emblem, with the words "white supremacy" above it and the words "for the right" below it.

"There it is," Dewey said, "the rooster and the banner of white supremacy—Ku Klux Klan—Jim Crow banner—flying over the electors for Stevenson and Sparkman in this year 1952."

The symbol was placed on the Alabama ballot around 1901. It was adopted at the behest of white supremacy leaders in reaction to the post-civil war period when northern opportunists allowed mass Negro voting and many white voters were disfranchised.

In advance of Dewey's speech, his office said he would demand that Sparkman withdraw as the party's vice presidential candidate and that Stevenson "withdraw from the Alabama ballot."

However, in his speech, Dewey actually said:

"When I first saw these ballots I thought I should call for one or

Donnaruma Gets Local 186 Backing

The Political Action Committee of Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, at a meeting Tuesday night, voted unanimously to support Walter Donnaruma, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 29th District, according to Mabel Fisher, business agent for the organization.

The Amalgamated is supporting Adlai E. Stevenson for President and John Sparkman for Vice President. "We also urge the election of a forward-looking Congress," said Frank McMahon, president of Local 186.

A report from the Political Action Committee follows:

"Having examined the voting record, we find that of Congressman Wharton has been consistently anti-public, and contrary to the best interests of the working people. It is the decision of this group that Mr. Donnaruma deseives the support of our group, and that of all labor in the area. His views on such issues as price and rent control, social security, Taft-Hartley, Tidelands Oil, minimum wages, farm problems (and the cause of the farmer and labor is the same), and other matters of vital importance to the well being and economic security of all of the people of this country, are such that we are calling upon our members, and all workers and farmers in the area, to work for the election of Walter Donnaruma on November 4.

"With the great industrial development taking place throughout the country, the Hudson valley has lagged behind. With the election of Walter Donnaruma we feel that the Hudson valley will, at long last, have a voice in the halls of Congress, and it will no longer be the forgotten land."

Appropriate Gift

Donnaruma Gets Local 186 Backing

The Political Action Committee of Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, at a meeting Tuesday night, voted unanimously to support Walter Donnaruma, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 29th District, according to Mabel Fisher, business agent for the organization.

The Amalgamated is supporting Adlai E. Stevenson for President and John Sparkman for Vice President. "We also urge the election of a forward-looking Congress," said Frank McMahon, president of Local 186.

A report from the Political Action Committee follows:

"Having examined the voting record, we find that of Congressman Wharton has been consistently anti-public, and contrary to the best interests of the working people. It is the decision of this group that Mr. Donnaruma deseives the support of our group, and that of all labor in the area. His views on such issues as price and rent control, social security, Taft-Hartley, Tidelands Oil, minimum wages, farm problems (and the cause of the farmer and labor is the same), and other matters of vital importance to the well being and economic security of all of the people of this country, are such that we are calling upon our members, and all workers and farmers in the area, to work for the election of Walter Donnaruma on November 4.

"With the great industrial development taking place throughout the country, the Hudson valley has lagged behind. With the election of Walter Donnaruma we feel that the Hudson valley will, at long last, have a voice in the halls of Congress, and it will no longer be the forgotten land."

FINAL REGISTRATION DAYS

The largest vote in the City of Kingston is indicated in this very important presidential election by the registration figures for the first two days of registration last week. Almost 1,000 more registered on these days than on the first two days in the 1948 presidential election.

There has been great community interest in getting citizens to register and if there are any unregistered qualified voters, it will be because of personal indifference.

Friday and Saturday of this week are the final days of registration for the election to be held next month. The polls on Friday will be open from 10 o'clock in the morning until in the evening. On Saturday, the polls will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning until in the evening.

Once again we remind our readers that unless they register on either Friday or Saturday of this week, they will lose their vote in this presidential election.

People who have the privilege of voting should consider it a duty to cast their ballot because the only safeguard against entrenched minority control of government is majority participation in elections by the people.

The American theory of government is that government based on the will of the majority is good government because the majority of people are intelligent. But when intelligent citizens fail to vote, bad government slips through the loophole of their neglect. Every qualified voter should make it his personal business to take an active part in determining the candidates to head our government. This election concerns every citizen.

The right of voting in this presidential election is one of the great privileges of American citizenship, a voice given to every qualified citizen. This and all other privileges of citizenship are wasted on people who do not vote.

A good start was made the first two days of registration last week. All other qualified voters should take the first step by registering either on Friday or Saturday.

DIESEL AND STEAM

Those who watch trains go by (and who doesn't?) have noticed the increase in the number of Diesel locomotives. More and more railroads are substituting them for the old steam reliables. Apparently they like the new variety so well that only lack of funds keeps them from replacing all their steam engines with Diesels.

Another straw to show which way the wind is blowing is the announcement that the Steam Locomotive Research Institute, Inc., is dissolving. This institute, founded in 1868, maintains a scholarship endowment at Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J. Now that it is going out of business, the funds will be used for scholarships in mechanical engineering, to be awarded to the needy sons of dead or living railroad men.

It will be a sad day for many if the steam locomotive disappears. One slight consolation may be that the Diesels find it necessary to take on some of the characteristics of their predecessors. It is already reported that in the Michigan north woods, where railroad tracks emerge unexpectedly out of the forest, not seen beforehand by drivers, these do not recognize the Diesel hoot as a sign of danger. It has been found desirable to equip the Diesels with the traditional steam whistle, which motorists are trained to heed.

Perhaps nothing reveals the power of nature and the weakness of man so fully as the chore of putting in a new lawn. When the work of grading, raking and seeding is done the householder usually is ready to collapse. And vanished is his control over what happens next and whether green or weeds will be born.

A young man in Detroit received a one year jail sentence for stealing a city garbage wagon to drive his girl around town. Perhaps he knew that in the Army a garbage truck is referred to as a "honey wagon."

TRUMAN'S ERROR

President Truman has been accusing General Eisenhower of grievous errors, some of them, if properly analyzed, amounting to treasonable conduct. The worst accusation is that General Eisenhower laid out the American Zone in Berlin without an entrance or an exit except through Russian-controlled territory. Because of this error, the United States was forced to employ the Berlin airlift, probably the most expensive transport service ever devised. Also Americans got killed.

General Lucius Clay immediately rushed to General Eisenhower's defense, accepting full responsibility for an arrangement which he, Clay, insists was not a blunder. Few will agree with General Clay that his arrangements for the American Zone would not have flunked a cadet at West Point. How did he expect Americans to get in or out of Berlin—by osmosis?

But in this matter, the full responsibility is neither Eisenhower's nor Clay's. It is Harry Truman's. He is Commander-in-Chief—a title over which he has made a great fuss. He did not scruple to dismiss General Douglas MacArthur for trying to fight and win a war by means other than those designed by Harry Truman, Commander-in-Chief. The responsibility for so vital a decision must rest politically with the President, militarily with the Commander-in-Chief. The Constitution fixed it that way.

If Eisenhower or Clay or both erred so seriously with regard to the American Zone in Berlin, Truman knew all about it at the time. Why did he not dismiss Eisenhower or Clay or both? Why did he wait from 1945 to October, 1952, to tell the American people about it? Why did he continue to appoint both Eisenhower and Clay to further offices? Look at this list:

Eisenhower: designated America's head representative in the Military Government to run Germany, March, 1945, and continued by Truman; Chief-of-Staff, November, 1945; temporary chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, February, 1949; Supreme Allied Commander in Europe and head of NATO, December, 1950.

Clay: U. S. Deputy Military Governor of Germany, 1945, later Military Governor; Commander U. S. Forces in European theatre, January, 1947; on U. S. Delegation to London Big Four Conference, November, 1947; President endorsed a National Committee for a Free Europe under leadership of General Clay, 1950; appointed Mobilization Office Aide under Charles Wilson, December, 1950.

In addition, note must be taken of the fact that Harry Tuman did favor Eisenhower for the Presidency and that he would have favored him for the Democratic nomination. He said on August 9, 1951, that his promise, in 1945, to General Eisenhower that he would give Eisenhower any job he wanted, including the Presidency, applied in 1952. He did not think that Eisenhower wanted the Democratic nomination and as for the Republicans, Harry's candidate was Bob Taft. However, he was all for Ike.

If General Eisenhower was ever as stupid as Harry Truman now says he is, why did he appoint him to such high offices and favor him for the Presidency? Furthermore, on October 25, 1951, when "The New York Herald Tribune" named Eisenhower as its candidate for the Presidency, Harry Truman said the newspaper had picked a fine candidate.

Surely, Truman cannot have it both ways; he cannot favor Eisenhower and oppose him; he cannot support him for the highest office in the land and then ridicule him. Either Eisenhower was fit when appointed and promoted and honored, or Truman is guilty of risking the welfare of the United States by appointing the wrong man years after he discovered that the man had made a grievous error.

The trouble with Harry Truman is his own conception of his perfection. Once a quiet, humble man, he has grown so puffed up with assurance that he fails to recognize that all men are fallible and that he is only a man. He blames Eisenhower for acts for which he, Truman, is constitutionally responsible. As President, he has always had the power to reject the advice and even the acts of his subordinates. This position he rigidly held with regard to MacArthur; yet, his position with regard to Eisenhower is that he, Truman, had no responsibilities for his subordinate's conduct. There is no logic is the Truman attack on Eisenhower. What he ought to do is to confess his own errors, his own incapacity.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

THE THYROID GLAND AND THE NOSE

Most physicians are most interested in a patient with an overactive thyroid gland (goiter) than in one with an underactive thyroid gland (myxedema). Patient with overactive thyroid gland is highstrung, usually underweight, trembling limbs, very rapid heart beat and, later, bulging eyes. Patient with underactive thyroid gland is leisurely in thought and action and usually overweight. By means of the metabolism test (finding rate at which the body processes work), both the overactive and underactive thyroid gland can be diagnosed.

In an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association, the relationship between the thyroid gland and diseases of the nose is discussed as the nose specialists have noted the relationship for many years.

In Annals of Ear, Nose and Throat, Dr. A. W. Proetz writes of being impressed by the frequency with which hypothyroidism (underactive thyroid gland) suggested itself as a causative factor in diseases of the nose and headache. He described his experiences with 130 patients all of whom were selected for study because the diagnosis of hypothyroidism was reasonably certain as cases were not complicated, and use of thyroid extract gave excellent results. The average basal metabolism rate was 82.5 per cent to 78.4 per cent. Normal is 100 per cent.

In these patients with insufficient thyroid hormone, the lining of nose (mucous membrane) was neither red nor pale. In allergy, the mucous membrane and in rhinitis (inflammation) the mucous membrane is red. Although colds were not severe, they lasted a long time as low grade infection followed slightest irritations. Asthenia (weakness), chilliness, and the usual symptoms of myxedema, described above, occurred rarely while about half the 130 patients complained of headache. An outstanding feature was that the usual treatment for nose disturbances failed to give results. On the other hand, a high precentage of cases showed striking improvement after treatment with thyroid extract.

From the above information, it is suggested that patients who are deficient in thyroid hormone (juice or extract of thyroid gland in the blood) may tend to nose infection and nose allergy. These symptoms can often be corrected, or at least, influenced by the use of thyroid extract alone. This widespread recognition of the relationship between the thyroid gland and the nose depends upon the awareness of the nose specialists (rhinologists) and the gland specialists (endocrinologists).

The simple test for the metabolism rate, finding amount of oxygen used by the body processes when body is at complete rest, will show if thyroid gland is underactive.

The High-Level Campaign

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Aboard President Truman's train—Harry Truman has been gliding past country that he knows well, and it has been smiling at him.

Outside his train window the alfalfa fields of Utah lay green and prosperous as he passed pick-up balers, which many farmers could not afford a few years ago, leaving a trail of green bales behind them. In California stack upon stack of wheat straw dotted the fields. At Provo, a new steel mill, built by the government when private industry refused to take the risk, has brought new prosperity.

Water seems more plentiful this year, and in some areas it has been brought down from the mountains by dams and reclamation projects pioneered by the Truman or Roosevelt administrations.

Yes, the Far West smiles on Harry Truman both politically and economically. It smiles but it isn't boisterous. It doesn't give him the noisy demonstrations that crowds give Eisenhower, and the President in turn doesn't usually give them the fire-and-brimstone, skin-'em-'alive oratory that Ike delivers from the rear platform. Sometimes he does, but he doesn't follow a general pattern.

However, though the crowds are big and the faces friendly you detect an undercurrent of Republicanism in these normally Democratic states.

It's hard to put your finger on, but it's there. It's there partly because the sun is smiling economically. There isn't the economic pinch that there has been sometimes. There isn't any workers' and farmers' fear of security. And in that respect, Harry Truman's reclamation, the new steel mill, the price supports perhaps may help defeat his own political ends. But perhaps more important is the desire of a change. People aren't particularly swayed by oratorical bombast on either side, and many are not at all enthusiastic about Eisenhower. And they don't know much about Stevenson, except that he's a little highbrow. But above all they want a change.

Will McCarran Bolt Ticket?

In Nevada, hoary-haired Sen. Pat McCarran is stuck politically between the devil and the deep blue sea. A young war veteran named Tom Mechling succeeded in trouncing McCarran's former law partner, Allan Bible, in the Democratic primaries, so the natural thing for McCarran to do would be to cut the Democratic ticket, which he hasn't hesitated to do in the past.

But if he cuts Democrat Mechling, then he elects GOP Sen. "Molly" Malone, for whom he has no respect whatsoever. Time after time, the brusque McCarran has snubbed or publicly browbeaten his GOP colleague from Nevada.

Once, when Malone was making a Senate speech condemning the Reciprocal Trade Treaty, McCarran, listening impatiently, finally whispered to Sen. Walter George of Georgia that he would "put a stop to this."

Deliberately stalking across the front of the Senate chamber, McCarran planted himself in front of the other senator from Nevada and fixed him with a glassy stare.

Today McCarran, a Democrat, is likely to cut the Democratic ticket and secretly support Malone whom he doesn't respect but whom he can control.

Nixon Undercut Warren

Republican leaders are not happy over the fact that California's popular Gov. Earl Warren welcomed President Truman when the President's train entered the state, and that he also is inviting both Stevenson and Eisenhower to speak from the steps of the state capitol.

However, Governor Warren is not only always elected by a large segment of Democratic votes, but he has no particular reason to love Nixon and Eisenhower.

It was Senator Nixon, a member of the California delegation, who bored from within at the Chicago convention in order to swing Warren's own delegation over to Eisenhower. Knowland, the senior California senator, was taken on the mountain-top by Senator Taft and offered the full weight of the Taft delegates from president if Taft failed to make it on the first ballot. In return Knowland had to deliver the California delegation on the first ballot.

Seldom has a young man been so severely tempted. But Senator Knowland remained loyal to his friend, Governor Warren.

Nixon, however, didn't. He cut Warren, got the vice presidency.

Off-Record Remark Hurt

Another reason why the governor of California isn't overly happy about the GOP ticket is some remarks which Eisenhower made about him when visiting in San Francisco two years ago.

Governor Warren had the courage to take a firm stand against the witch-hunters on the Board of Regents of the University of California when they demanded a faculty oath that would delve back into the entire life of every professor. Though his stand was unpopular, Warren bucked his Board of Regents and backed the faculty.

This inspired General Eisenhower to make some off-the-record remarks at the San Francisco Press Club that he didn't know of any loyalty oath he wouldn't be willing to stand up and swear to.

Naturally the remark got back to Warren.

"It is interesting," commented the governor to a friend, "that the general made his remark off the record so it would not be quoted in the east. For he and President Conant of Harvard were the first to take a public stand against loyalty oaths.

"Furthermore," continued Warren, "it happens that the university which Ike heads has more Communists and Reds than any other in the country."

Governor Warren is going out on a train to campaign for the ticket. But his friends say it's obvious his heart isn't in it.

Detroit Speech Indicates Stevenson Ignorant on Subject of Communism in U. S.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 9—Governor Stevenson started out in this campaign with the reputation of knowing something about national and international affairs because he has been chief executive of the state of Illinois. But the speech he delivered at Detroit on Tuesday night on the subject of communism indicates that either he never has read the newspapers on the subject of Communists in the United States, or the congressional reports, or, what is worse, he has decided in order to get votes to ignore the facts altogether.

It is a serious matter for a man who hopes to be president of the United States to know so little about the anti-Communist controversy as to assume that the whole thing merely concerns espionage or spying. If the Illinois governor thinks so, he ought to read the President's executive order concerning disloyalty in the federal government, and something about the effective way persons with communistic philosophy have influenced the tragic policies of the State Department in the Far East as revealed by the Senate Internal Security Committee.

The Democratic presidential nominee endeavors to defend the record of the Roosevelt-Truman administration in dealing with Communists and takes refuge in the misleading statement that J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI and General Walter Bedell Smith of the Central Intelligence Agency are the men who can drive Communists out of the government, and that with the problem in their hands all is well.

But the truth is that neither agency can do anything but submit evidence to the other departments which decide for themselves what to do about it. The FBI is forbidden to evaluable the information it gathers. If the President and the secretary of state choose to laugh off charges and reverse loyalty boards as has happened again and again, there isn't much that the FBI can do about it except groan in anguished silence.

Boasting of the Democratic party's early vigilance, Governor Stevenson says:

"In 1939 the Roosevelt administration made it unlawful for Communists to work for the federal government."

But it was the House Un-American Activities Committee consisting of Republicans and Democrats who prodded the administration into that step after Congress had been raising the issue repeatedly.

But in 1939 what was President Roosevelt doing? On page 470 of Whittaker Chambers' book he tells how the President "laughed" and told Assistant Secretary of State Adolph Berle to "jump in the lake" when Berle related the details of the charges made by Chambers about Alger Hiss and Communist cells in the federal government involving officials in key places.

From 1939 to 1943—for four years—the notes taken by Berle after his talk with Chambers were not given to the FBI by the State Department. And when the FBI did get the evidence furnished by Chambers, the Department of Justice took no steps to expose Alger Hiss or any of the other Communists named by Chambers, most all of whom, thanks to the congressional committees, have since been revealed as having been engaged in Communist activity.

It was Richard Nixon, now vice-presidential nominee, but in 1948 a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, who exposed Hiss, even though another Democratic president, this time Harry Truman, laughed off the charges and called them all a "Red herring" to divert attention from other public questions.

Governor Stevenson says: "In 1940 during the Roosevelt administration there was passed the Smith Act under which the Department of Justice in President Truman's administration subsequently convicted the thirty-one leaders of the American Communist party."

Why did it take from 1940 to 1948 to begin those prosecutions? As for FBI evidence, it had been gathered ever since the law was passed in 1940. But the FBI can't initiate any prosecutions. Governor Stevenson is wrong in letting the people believe the job can be left to the FBI. Actually the FBI gathered damaging evidence in the case of a certain foreign-service officer stationed in China, but the State Department ignored that evidence and cleared the man three times and he was fired only when the President's Loyalty Review Board took over the case on what is known as "post-audit."

The Democratic presidential nominee repeated at Detroit the familiar line of the "left wing," namely that "the junior senator from Wisconsin has yet to produce evidence leading to the conviction of one single Communist agent either in or out of government."

The average reader who takes this legalistically phrased statement literally is easily misled. For there can be no prosecution of "agents" as such unless someone in the conspiracy confesses, or unless the Russian government conveniently sends us an affidavit acknowledging proof of an agency relationship to an American Communist. This is the kind of proof "left-wingers" always insist upon as they decry circumstantial evidence.

Senator McCarthy has known that considering the dates of the alleged espionage activities the wartime statute authority didn't cover them anyway. He has concentrated instead on another law which declares ineligible for further government services persons found to be disloyal. He has been trying primarily to get the various departmental loyalty boards to protect the interests of the United States and has succeeded in getting many a Communist sympathizer fired, as the records will show, though the Department of State will never concede, of course, that it was influenced by McCarthy's crusade. It was all presumably just a coincidence.

The real issue is not how many "agents" were convicted in court, but how many Communist sympathizers like Alger Hiss were able to influence American foreign policy, and how many of the men who have admittedly been fired for disloyalty in recent months did influence the Far Eastern policies of the United States which led to the loss of China and outbreak of the Korean War. Also, how many of those on whom the FBI has furnished evidence have not yet been fired or prosecuted for perjury? It's the damage to American policy and the 120,000 casualties resulting therefrom, and not whether McCarthy exposed this or that Communist, which is the fundamental question. Governor Stevenson has never yet come to grips with that important part of the whole anti-Communist controversy. Either he doesn't know the background or his "left wing" advisers and "ADA" friends who have been attacking the FBI right along are still influencing the line taken by the governor in all his speeches thus far on the anti-Communist issue.

"Redbook" magazine, an affiliate of McCall's, which carries Eleanor Roosevelt's propaganda, has published a shocking smear of a group of senators and congressmen, claiming that this represents the pooled opinion of 52 anonymous authorities who are obviously cowards. The title of the article is "Our Worst Congressmen."

The author is Howard Whitman whose own credentials are not set forth.

The best that Whitman and Redbook can say for themselves is that they picked 52 yellow gossips without the manhood to look their victims in the eye and spread the malice of these sneaks over four whole pages in the forepart of the October issue and seven columns more in the back of the book.

A foreword to Whitman's article says he had confidential talks with 52 persons who are "well informed on the actions and abilities of our senators and representatives."

"Noted reporter Howard Whitman makes this straight-from-the-shoulder choice of America's 24 worst law-makers," the blurb continues. "The group consists of six senators, one ex-senator, five representatives, 13 congressional assistants, nine newspapermen, 10 leaders of better government organizations and eight other persons familiar with Congress."

The giveaway is plain. This was another job against the anti-Communists and the men who have fought hardest and best against union racketeers and leaders of armed union insurrection against government and internal security. Most of them were also opponents of Paul Hoffman's ECA, which built up a patronage machine of more than 3,000 unemployable, sedentary bums scattered the world over, the great majority of them members of the old Roose-

FINAL REGISTRATION DAYS

The largest vote in the City of Kingston is indicated in this very important presidential election by the registration figures for the first two days of registration last week. Almost 1,000 more registered on these days than on the first two days in the 1948 presidential election.

There has been great community interest in getting citizens to register and if there are any unregistered qualified voters, it will be because of personal indifference.

Friday and Saturday of this week are the final days of registration for the election to be held next month. The polls on Friday will be open from 10 o'clock in the morning until in the evening. On Saturday, the polls will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning until in the evening.

Once again we remind our readers that unless they register on either Friday or Saturday of this week, they will lose their vote in this presidential election.

People who have the privilege of voting should consider it a duty to cast their ballot because the only safeguard against entrenched minority control of government is majority participation in elections by the people.

The American theory of government is that government based on the will of the majority is good government because the majority of people are intelligent. But when intelligent citizens fail to vote, bad government slips through the loophole of their neglect. Every qualified voter should make it his personal business to take an active part in determining the candidates to head our government. This election concerns every citizen.

The right of voting in this presidential election is one of the great privileges of American citizenship, a voice given to every qualified citizen. This and all other privileges of citizenship are wasted on people who do not vote.

A good start was made the first two days of registration last week. All other qualified voters should take the first step by registering either on Friday or Saturday.

DIESEL AND STEAM

Those who watch trains go by (and who doesn't?) have noticed the increase in the number of Diesel locomotives. More and more railroads are substituting them for the old steam reliables. Apparently they like the new variety so well that only lack of funds keeps them from replacing all their steam engines with Diesels.

Another straw to show which way the wind is blowing is the announcement that the Steam Locomotive Research Institute, Inc., is dissolving. This institute, founded in 1868, maintains a scholarship endowment at Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J. Now that it is going out of business, the funds will be used for scholarships in mechanical engineering, to be awarded to the needy sons of dead or living railroad men.

It will be a sad day for many if the steam locomotive disappears. One slight consolation may be that the Diesels find it necessary to take on some of the characteristics of their predecessors. It is already reported that in the Michigan north woods, where railroad tracks emerge unexpectedly out of the forest, not seen beforehand by drivers, these do not recognize the Diesel hoot as a sign of danger. It has been found desirable to equip the Diesels with the traditional steam whistle, which motorists are trained to heed.

Perhaps nothing reveals the power of nature and the weakness of man so fully as the chore of putting in a new lawn. When the work of grading, raking and seeding is done the householder usually is ready to collapse. And vanished is his control over what happens next and whether green or weeds will be born.

TRUMAN'S ERROR

President Truman has been accusing General Eisenhower of grievous errors, some of them, if properly analyzed, amounting to treasonable conduct. The worst accusation is that General Eisenhower laid out the American Zone in Berlin without an entrance or an exit except through Russian-controlled territory. Because of this error, the United States was forced to employ the Berlin airlift, probably the most expensive transport service ever devised. Also Americans got killed.

General Lucius Clay immediately rushed to General Eisenhower's defense, accepting full responsibility for an arrangement which he, Clay, insists was not a blunder. Few will agree with General Clay that his arrangements for the American Zone would not have flunked a cadet at West Point. How did he expect Americans to get in or out of Berlin—by osmosis?

But in this matter, the full responsibility is neither Eisenhower's nor Clay's. It is Harry Truman's. He is Commander-in-Chief—a title over which he has made a great fuss. He did not scruple to dismiss General Douglas MacArthur for trying to fight and win a war by means other than those designed by Harry Truman, Commander-in-Chief. The responsibility for so vital a decision must rest politically with the President, militarily with the Commander-in-Chief. The Constitution fixed it that way.

If Eisenhower or Clay or both erred so seriously with regard to the American Zone in Berlin, Truman knew all about it at the time. Why did he not dismiss Eisenhower or Clay or both? Why did he wait from 1945 to October, 1952, to tell the American people about it? Why did he continue to appoint both Eisenhower and Clay to further offices? Look at this list:

Eisenhower: designated America's head representative in the Military Government to run Germany, March, 1945, and continued by Truman; Chief-of-Staff, November, 1945; temporary chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, February, 1949; Supreme Allied Commander in Europe and head of NATO, December, 1950.

Clay: U. S. Deputy Military Governor of Germany, 1945, later Military Governor; Commander U. S. Forces in European theatre, January, 1947; on U. S. Delegation to London Big Four Conference, November, 1947; President endorsed a National Committee for a Free Europe under leadership of General Clay, 1950; appointed Mobilization Office Aide under Charles Wilson, December, 1950.

In addition, note must be taken of the fact that Harry Tuman did favor Eisenhower for the Presidency and that he would have favored him for the Democratic nomination. He said on August 9, 1951, that his promise, in 1945, to General Eisenhower that he would give Eisenhower any job he wanted, including the Presidency, applied in 1952. He did not think that Eisenhower wanted the Democratic nomination and as for the Republicans, Harry's candidate was Bob Taft. However, he was all for Ike.

If General Eisenhower was ever as stupid as Harry Truman now says he is, why did he appoint him to such high offices and favor him for the Presidency? Furthermore, on October 25, 1951, when "The New York Herald Tribune" named Eisenhower as its candidate for the Presidency, Harry Truman said the newspaper had picked a fine candidate.

Surely, Truman cannot have it both ways; he cannot favor Eisenhower and oppose him; he cannot support him for the highest office in the land and then ridicule him. Either Eisenhower was fit when appointed and promoted and honored, or Truman is guilty of risking the welfare of the United States by appointing the wrong man years after he discovered that the man had made a grievous error.

The trouble with Harry Truman is his own conception of his perfection. Once a quiet, humble man, he has grown so puffed up with assurance that he fails to recognize that all men are fallible and that he is only a man. He blames Eisenhower for acts for which he, Truman, is constitutionally responsible. As President, he has always had the power to reject the advice and even the acts of his subordinates. This position he rigidly held with regard to MacArthur; yet, his position with regard to Eisenhower is that he, Truman, had no responsibilities for his subordinate's conduct. There is no logic is the Truman attack on Eisenhower. What he ought to do is to confess his own errors, his own incapacity.

That Body of Yours

THE THYROID GLAND AND THE NOSE

Most physicians are most interested in a patient with an overactive thyroid gland (goiter) than in one with an underactive thyroid gland (myxedema). Patient with overactive thyroid gland is highstrung, usually underweight, trembling limbs, very rapid heart beat and, later, bulging eyes. Patient with underactive thyroid gland is leisurely in thought and action and usually overweight. By means of the metabolism test (finding rate at which the body processes work), both the overactive and underactive thyroid gland can be diagnosed.

In an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association, the relationship between the thyroid gland and diseases of the nose is discussed as the nose specialists have noted the relationship for many years.

In Annals of Ear, Nose and Throat, Dr. A. W. Proetz writes of being impressed by the frequency with which hypothyroidism (underactive thyroid gland) suggested itself as a causative factor in diseases of the nose and headache. He described his experiences with 130 patients all of whom were selected for study because the diagnosis of hypothyroidism was reasonably certain as cases were not complicated, and use of thyroid extract gave excellent results. The average basal metabolism rate was 82.5 per cent to 78.4 per cent. Normal is 100 per cent.

In these patients with insufficient thyroid hormone, the lining of nose (mucous membrane) was neither red nor pale. In allergy, the mucous membrane and in rhinitis (inflammation) the mucous membrane is red. Although colds were not severe, they lasted a long time as low grade infection followed slightest irritations. Asthenia (weakness), chilliness, and the usual symptoms of myxedema, described above, occurred rarely while about half the 130 patients complained of headache. An outstanding feature was that the usual treatment for nose disturbances failed to give results. On the other hand, a high precentage of cases showed striking improvement after treatment with thyroid extract.

From the above information, it is suggested that patients who are deficient in thyroid hormone (juice or extract of thyroid gland in the blood) may tend to nose infection and nose allergy. These symptoms can often be corrected, or at least, influenced by the use of thyroid extract alone. This widespread recognition of the relationship between the thyroid gland and the nose depends upon the awareness of the nose specialists (rhinologists) and the gland specialists (endocrinologists).

The simple test for the metabolism rate, finding amount of oxygen used by the body processes when body is at complete rest, will show if thyroid gland is underactive.

The High-Level Campaign

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Aboard President Truman's train—Harry Truman has been gliding past country that he knows well, and it has been smiling at him.

Outside his train window the alfalfa fields of Utah lay green and prosperous as he passed pick-up balers, which many farmers could not afford a few years ago, leaving a trail of green bales behind them. In California stack upon stack of wheat straw dotted the fields. At Provo, a new steel mill, built by the government when private industry refused to take the risk, has brought new prosperity.

Water seems more plentiful this year, and in some areas it has been brought down from the mountains by dams and reclamation projects pioneered by the Truman or Roosevelt administrations.

Yes, the Far West smiles on Harry Truman both politically and economically. It smiles but it isn't boisterous. It doesn't give him the noisy demonstrations that crowds give Eisenhower, and the President in turn doesn't usually give them the fire-and-brimstone, skin-'em-'alive oratory that Ike delivers from the rear platform. Sometimes he does, but he doesn't follow a general pattern.

However, though the crowds are big and the faces friendly you detect an undercurrent of Republicanism in these normally Democratic states.

It's hard to put your finger on, but it's there. It's there partly because the sun is smiling economically. There isn't the economic pinch that there has been sometimes. There isn't any workers' and farmers' fear of security. And in that respect, Harry Truman's reclamation, the new steel mill, the price supports perhaps may help defeat his own political ends. But perhaps more important is the desire of a change. People aren't particularly swayed by oratorical bombast on either side, and many are not at all enthusiastic about Eisenhower. And they don't know much about Stevenson, except that he's a little highbrow. But above all they want a change.

Will McCarran Bolt Ticket?

In Nevada, hoary-haired Sen. Pat McCarran is stuck politically between the devil and the deep blue sea. A young war veteran named Tom Mechling succeeded in trouncing McCarran's former law partner, Allan Bible, in the Democratic primaries, so the natural thing for McCarran to do would be to cut the Democratic ticket, which he hasn't hesitated to do in the past.

But if he cuts Democrat Mechling, then he elects GOP Sen. "Molly" Malone, for whom he has no respect whatsoever. Time after time, the brusque McCarran has snubbed or publicly browbeaten his GOP colleague from Nevada.

Once, when Malone was making a Senate speech condemning the Reciprocal Trade Treaty, McCarran, listening impatiently, finally whispered to Sen. Walter George of Georgia that he would "put a stop to this."

Deliberately stalking across the front of the Senate chamber, McCarran planted himself in front of the other senator from Nevada and fixed him with a glassy stare.

Today McCarran, a Democrat, is likely to cut the Democratic ticket and secretly support Malone whom he doesn't respect but whom he can control.

Nixon Undercut Warren

Republican leaders are not happy over the fact that California's popular Gov. Earl Warren welcomed President Truman when the President's train entered the state, and that he also is inviting both Stevenson and Eisenhower to speak from the steps of the state capitol.

However, Governor Warren is not only always elected by a large segment of Democratic votes, but he has no particular reason to love Nixon and Eisenhower.

It was Senator Nixon, a member of the California delegation, who bored from within at the Chicago convention in order to swing Warren's own delegation over to Eisenhower. Knowland, the senior California senator, was taken on the mountain-top by Senator Taft and offered the full weight of the Taft delegates from president if Taft failed to make it on the first ballot. In return Knowland had to deliver the California delegation on the first ballot.

Seldom has a young man been so severely tempted. But Senator Knowland remained loyal to his friend, Governor Warren.

Nixon, however, didn't. He cut Warren, got the vice presidency.

Off-Record Remark Hurt

Another reason why the governor of California isn't overly happy about the GOP ticket is some remarks which Eisenhower made about him when visiting in San Francisco two years ago.

Governor Warren had the courage to take a firm stand against the witch-hunters on the Board of Regents of the University of California when they demanded a faculty oath that would delve back into the entire life of every professor. Though his stand was unpopular, Warren bucked his Board of Regents and backed the faculty.

This inspired General Eisenhower to make some off-the-record remarks at the San Francisco Press Club that he didn't know of any loyalty oath he wouldn't be willing to stand up and swear to.

Naturally the remark got back to Warren.

"It is interesting," commented the governor to a friend, "that the general made his remark off the record so it would not be quoted in the east. For he and President Conant of Harvard were the first to take a public stand against loyalty oaths.

"Furthermore," continued Warren, "it happens that the university which Ike heads has more Communists and Reds than any other in the country."

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 9—Governor Stevenson started out in this campaign with the reputation of knowing something about national and international affairs because he has been chief executive of the state of Illinois. But the speech he delivered at Detroit on Tuesday night on the subject of communism indicates that either he never has read the newspapers on the subject of Communists in the United States, or the congressional reports, or, what is worse, he has decided in order to get votes to ignore the facts altogether.

It is a serious matter for a man who hopes to be president of the United States to know so little about the anti-Communist controversy as to assume that the whole thing merely concerns espionage or spying. If the Illinois governor thinks so, he ought to read the President's executive order concerning disloyalty in the federal government, and something about the effective way persons with communistic philosophy have influenced the tragic policies of the State Department in the Far East as revealed by the Senate Internal Security Committee.

The Democratic presidential nominee endeavors to defend the record of the Roosevelt-Truman administration in dealing with Communists and takes refuge in the misleading statement that J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI and General Walter Bedell Smith of the Central Intelligence Agency are the men who can drive Communists out of the government, and that with the problem in their hands all is well.

But the truth is that neither agency can do anything but submit evidence to the other departments which decide for themselves what to do about it. The FBI is forbidden to evaluable the information it gathers. If the President and the secretary of state choose to laugh off charges and reverse loyalty boards as has happened again and again, there isn't much that the FBI can do about it except groan in anguished silence.

Boasting of the Democratic party's early vigilance, Governor Stevenson says:

"In 1939 the Roosevelt administration made it unlawful for Communists to work for the federal government."

But it was the House Un-American Activities Committee consisting of Republicans and Democrats who prodded the administration into that step after Congress had been raising the issue repeatedly.

But in 1939 what was President Roosevelt doing? On page 470 of Whittaker Chambers' book he tells how the President "laughed" and told Assistant Secretary of State Adolph Berle to "jump in the lake" when Berle related the details of the charges made by Chambers about Alger Hiss and Communist cells in the federal government involving officials in key places.

From 1939 to 1943—for four years—the notes taken by Berle after his talk with Chambers were not given to the FBI by the State Department. And when the FBI did get the evidence furnished by Chambers, the Department of Justice took no steps to expose Alger Hiss or any of the other Communists named by Chambers, most all of whom, thanks to the congressional committees, have since been revealed as having been engaged in Communist activity.

It was Richard Nixon, now vice-presidential nominee, but in 1948 a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, who exposed Hiss, even though another Democratic president, this time Harry Truman, laughed off the charges and called them all a "Red herring" to divert attention from other public questions.

Governor Stevenson says: "In 1940 during the Roosevelt administration there was passed the Smith Act under which the Department of Justice in President Truman's administration subsequently convicted the thirty-one leaders of the American Communist party."

Why did it take from 1940 to 1948 to begin those prosecutions? As for FBI evidence, it had been gathered ever since the law was passed in 1940. But the FBI can't initiate any prosecutions. Governor Stevenson is wrong in letting the people believe the job can be left to the FBI. Actually the FBI gathered damaging evidence in the case of a certain foreign-service officer stationed in China, but the State Department ignored that evidence and cleared the man three times and he was fired only when the President's Loyalty Review Board took over the case on what is known as "post-audit."

The Democratic presidential nominee repeated at Detroit the familiar line of the "left wing," namely that "the junior senator from Wisconsin has yet to produce evidence leading to the conviction of one single Communist agent either in or out of government."

The average reader who takes this legalistically phrased statement literally is easily misled. For there can be no prosecution of "agents" as such unless someone in the conspiracy confesses, or unless the Russian government conveniently sends us an affidavit acknowledging proof of an agency relationship to an American Communist. This is the kind of proof "left-wingers" always insist upon as they decry circumstantial evidence.

Senator McCarthy has known that considering the dates of the alleged espionage activities the wartime statute authority didn't cover them anyway. He has concentrated instead on another law which declares ineligible for further government services persons found to be disloyal. He has been trying primarily to get the various departmental loyalty boards to protect the interests of the United States and has succeeded in getting many a Communist sympathizer fired, as the records will show, though the Department of State will never concede, of course, that it was influenced by McCarthy's crusade. It was all presumably just a coincidence.

The real issue is not how many "agents" were convicted in court, but how many Communist sympathizers like Alger Hiss were able to influence American foreign policy, and how many of the men who have admittedly been fired for disloyalty in recent months did influence the Far Eastern policies of the United States which led to the loss of China and outbreak of the Korean War. Also, how many of those on whom the FBI has furnished evidence have not yet been fired or prosecuted for perjury? It's the damage to American policy and the 120,000 casualties resulting therefrom, and not whether McCarthy exposed this or that Communist, which is the fundamental question. Governor Stevenson has never yet come to grips with that important part of the whole anti-Communist controversy. Either he doesn't know the background or his "left wing" advisers and "ADA" friends who have been attacking the FBI right along are still influencing the line taken by the governor in all his speeches thus far on the anti-Communist issue.

Tells DAR How Policy Is in Danger

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Whittaker Chambers, admitted courier for a pre-war Soviet spy ring, says U. S. foreign policy is being formulated by many of the people who he said "pushed" China toward communism.

Chambers addressed the 56th annual dinner meeting last night of the New York State Organization of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The loss of China to the Communists, Chambers said, was the most important event in the latest stage of an international crisis now at the point where it "may well prove catastrophic to this nation."

Chambers said he was quoting the word used by Owen Lattimore former State Department consultant on Far Eastern affairs, in saying China was "pushed" toward communism.

Chambers said he would not name the men who "pushed" China, but added that they had been investigated by congressional groups.

"Many of the same people are still shaping our foreign policy," Chambers said. He did not elaborate.

An earlier speaker, Canon Edward West of the cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, told the DAR that reform in government starts first with the individual.

"There is much talk of the need of reform in government, but reform first starts in you or me," the Episcopal clergyman said.

Will Ask 40 Hours And Raise in Pay

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers Union will press for a 25-cent-an-hour cost of living wage increase and other benefits for 40,000 city and 8,000 private lines transit employes, Michael J. Quill, TWU president, announced yesterday.

Quill said in a press conference the union will try to get the 25-cent boost in a new private lines contract, due January 1, and in the case of the city will strive for the increase even though an existing memorandum of understanding between the union and the city has nearly 15 months to run.

Quill gave present Board of Transportation pay rates as $1.86 to $2.04 per hour.

On private lines, he said, the Fifth Avenue Coach Company and New York City Omnibus Corporation pay $1.73½ and the other seven companies affected pay $1.66.

Quill said the TWU will also demand a 40-hour week on private lines to replace present 44 and 48-hour weeks. He said the demands on the companies will specify that the union wants the work week reduction effected with no loss in weekly take-home pay and then wants the 25-cent cost of living wage boost on top of that improvement.

The demands will be presented to the Board of Transportation and the private lines tonight, he said.

Wrong Way Windows

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 9 (AP)—Coeds in five new dormitories at Alabama Polytechnic Institute blush when they look at a goldfish bowl. They know how it feels to live in one. Achivalric southern gentlemen hinted that all was not as it should be with bathroom windows in the new dorms. The window panes are designed so a girl taking a bath can see out but outsiders can't look in. The windows had been installed backwards because the factory put handles on the wrong side by mistake.

Final Registration Days

Friday and Saturday of this week are the final days of registration for the presidential election November 4. The polls will be open Friday from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. and on Saturday from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. Unless you register, you cannot vote. Do it tomorrow.

Pilgrim Homes Has 100th House Under Construction in '52

Pilgrim Garden Homes, Inc., organized only three years ago, has begun construction of its 100th home, it has been announced by Walter Donnaruma, president of the firm.

Donnaruma said that the company expected to erect approximately 80 homes during the next three years, including "a whole residential community at Linderman Hills," located on Linderman avenue beyond its intersection with Navarre street.

The Linderman Hills project is now being studied by firm engineers.

Within the past three years the firm's building program has seen completion of nine homes in its new Valentin Park project, 24 at Browning Terrace, another of its projects, 40 in the Miller's Lane area, and others in rural areas.

Practically the entire Browning Terrace program was completed during 1952.

Three Price Classes

Donnaruma said that the homes are being constructed in three price classes. The firm is in a position to accept orders for delivery of homes during 1953.

"For the 100th new home there are 100 new features," Donnaruma stated, listing a number of them. He pointed out that the trend in architecture in this country was to "show more glass," that people "want to bring the outdoors inside." He said that the firm sought to locate the homes in a scenically attractive area and to "adapt the house architecturally to its particular location.

Two Types of Homes

Two types of homes are being built by the firm, Donnaruma explained, the Gunnison prefab built by U. S. Steel and the conventional construction in contemporary design.

One of the new homes, located on Valentin avenue in Valentin Park, was opened Sunday for public inspection in conjunction with National Home Week. This home was featured in Better Homes and Gardens in the issue of June, 1952.

Approximately 50 per cent of the homes being built by the firm are prefab and without basements, Donnaruma said. This type features a new style of "perimeter heating" designed by the Small Homes Council of the University of Illinois. The heater is a counterflow furnace, the ducts becoming heated and radiating heat upward through the floor.

Austin Avery is vice-president of the firm and Ernest L. Smith is secretary.

Subject to Punishment

Cairo, Egypt, Oct. 9 (AP)—Egypt's reform government ruled today that black marketeers will be subject to punishment by military courts and made the army responsible for enforcing recent drastic reductions in food prices.

Will Ask 40 Hours And Raise in Pay

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers Union will press for a 25-cent-an-hour cost of living wage increase and other benefits for 40,000 city and 8,000 private lines transit employes, Michael J. Quill, TWU president, announced yesterday.

Quill said in a press conference the union will try to get the 25-cent boost in a new private lines contract, due January 1, and in the case of the city will strive for the increase even though an existing memorandum of understanding between the union and the city has nearly 15 months to run.

Quill gave present Board of Transportation pay rates as $1.86 to $2.04 per hour.

On private lines, he said, the Fifth Avenue Coach Company and New York City Omnibus Corporation pay $1.73½ and the other seven companies affected pay $1.66.

Quill said the TWU will also demand a 40-hour week on private lines to replace present 44 and 48-hour weeks. He said the demands on the companies will specify that the union wants the work week reduction effected with no loss in weekly take-home pay and then wants the 25-cent cost of living wage boost on top of that improvement.

The demands will be presented to the Board of Transportation and the private lines tonight, he said.

Wrong Way Windows

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 9 (AP)—Coeds in five new dormitories at Alabama Polytechnic Institute blush when they look at a goldfish bowl. They know how it feels to live in one. Achivalric southern gentlemen hinted that all was not as it should be with bathroom windows in the new dorms. The window panes are designed so a girl taking a bath can see out but outsiders can't look in. The windows had been installed backwards because the factory put handles on the wrong side by mistake.

Final Registration Days

Friday and Saturday of this week are the final days of registration for the presidential election November 4. The polls will be open Friday from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. and on Saturday from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. Unless you register, you cannot vote. Do it tomorrow.

Pilgrim Homes Has 100th House Under Construction in '52

Pilgrim Garden Homes, Inc., organized only three years ago, has begun construction of its 100th home, it has been announced by Walter Donnaruma, president of the firm.

Donnaruma said that the company expected to erect approximately 80 homes during the next three years, including "a whole residential community at Linderman Hills," located on Linderman avenue beyond its intersection with Navarre street.

The Linderman Hills project is now being studied by firm engineers.

Within the past three years the firm's building program has seen completion of nine homes in its new Valentin Park project, 24 at Browning Terrace, another of its projects, 40 in the Miller's Lane area, and others in rural areas.

Practically the entire Browning Terrace program was completed during 1952.

Three Price Classes

Donnaruma said that the homes are being constructed in three price classes. The firm is in a position to accept orders for delivery of homes during 1953.

"For the 100th new home there are 100 new features," Donnaruma stated, listing a number of them. He pointed out that the trend in architecture in this country was to "show more glass," that people "want to bring the outdoors inside." He said that the firm sought to locate the homes in a scenically attractive area and to "adapt the house architecturally to its particular location.

Two Types of Homes

Two types of homes are being built by the firm, Donnaruma explained, the Gunnison prefab built by U. S. Steel and the conventional construction in contemporary design.

One of the new homes, located on Valentin avenue in Valentin Park, was opened Sunday for public inspection in conjunction with National Home Week. This home was featured in Better Homes and Gardens in the issue of June, 1952.

Approximately 50 per cent of the homes being built by the firm are prefab and without basements, Donnaruma said. This type features a new style of "perimeter heating" designed by the Small Homes Council of the University of Illinois. The heater is a counterflow furnace, the ducts becoming heated and radiating heat upward through the floor.

Austin Avery is vice-president of the firm and Ernest L. Smith is secretary.

Subject to Punishment

Cairo, Egypt, Oct. 9 (AP)—Egypt's reform government ruled today that black marketeers will be subject to punishment by military courts and made the army responsible for enforcing recent drastic reductions in food prices.

General Eisenhower said a sermon in a sentence when he opened the new Atlantic pact headquarters in France. Here is what he said: "It is our prayer that with high courage and the support of our people and the grace of God, we shall not fail in striving to lift from the hearts of men the fear of cellblocks and slave camps."

He—What's that?

She—I'm married, and my husband was amateur boxing champ in this state.

Susan—You're really an idiot.

Harold—Be careful, you're talking about the man I love.

Truman Turns His

the public square during a day of "give 'em hell" campaigning in Indiana and Ohio en route to Buffalo, N. Y., for a major address tonight around 9:30 o'clock (EST).

Speech Is Sarcastic

With heavy sarcasm, Truman referred to Eisenhower's talk of bringing efficiency and eliminating waste in government.

He said the army has "improved a great deal in that respect since the Republican candidate was its chief of staff."

And he said further improvement is possible under Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, "who is known in Illinois—and elsewhere—as a tight-fisted man with a dollar." Then he lit into Stevenson's opponent.

"I see no reason to expect the Republican candidate to do as well," Truman declared. "He was in a position to cut waste in the military, as chief of staff of the army. But I do not recall that he brought about any conspicuous examples of doing so.

No Better Than Marshall

"He certainly did no better in this respect than General Marshall before him or General Bradley and General Collins after him. And he knows that military expenditures simply cannot be cut enough to reduce taxes, without weakening our defense and injuring our national safety.

This is just the old flim-flam, and the Republican party hopes that we will be so dazzled by their general, that we will not see through his specious arguments."

The President chose the home state of Senator Robert A. Taft, now campaigning for Eisenhower, for talking about price controls because of the candidacy for the Senate there of Mike DiSalle, his own former price stabilizer. DiSalle, who rode the Truman train, is seeking to unseat Republican Senator John W. Bricker.

His route led also through the Indiana stumping grounds of Republican Senator William E. Jenner, now seeking re-election against Democratic Governor Henry Schricker.

Calls Them 'Pigmies'

Truman has called Jenner and Republican Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin "moral pigmies" for their attacks on General George C. Marshall.

In his Cleveland address Truman referred to Eisenhower as "an army general" who doesn't "know much—if anything—about the real issues" and said "the Republican snollygexisters don't want him to learn."

"They think the military glamour is going to make the people forget the real issues," the President said. "But we are not going to let them get away with that."

City Shock Source

it was. I know it was not an earthquake."

He said there were two distinct blasts about one-half second apart, followed two minutes later by an earth tremor.

"Earthquakes do not make that noise," he said.

No Reports of Meteors

Asked to theorize on what it might have been, he said it was possible that a meteor had exploded or that a jet plane had crossed the sound barrier. There were no reports of any meteor being seen.

Manuel A. Santos, chief engineer for Caldwell & Scott, Inc., New York city construction firm, told the Poughkeepsie New Yorker:

"It positively was not an earthquake—because I've been through too many."

Santos, who happened to be in Poughkeepsie at the time, said he had been through the 1946 and 1948 Dominican Republic earthquakes and had studied earthquakes for years because his firm constructs buildings in countries where they occur.

Some New Experiment?

Asked what it could have been, he said:

"I don't know unless it was some new experiment by the army, about which we know nothing."

Santos said there definitely was a detonation and that it did not create ground oscillation that accompanies an earthquake. He said there was vibration as from an explosion.

Informed of these comments, Father Lynch repeated that the disturbance recorded on the seismograph definitely was a ground resettlement.

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation said it had checked all its equipment and found no trace of any explosion of natural gas, which is piped into this area.

The shock area was believed to have been about 20 miles long and five miles wide. Beacon, 15 miles south of Poughkeepsie, and other towns 10 to 15 miles north of Poughkeepsie, reported no track of the shock.

Only Two Contractors Won't Submit Books

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Six contractors who worked on projects in the 9 million dollar Laurelton, Queens, sewer network yesterday submitted their books and records to Investigations Commissioner James H. Sheils.

Sheils said only two out of 17 contractors still have refused to produce books and records for scrutiny. They are Queens sewer contractor Victory Clemente and the Andrew Catapano Company of (88-43 76th avenue) Glendale, Queens.

Clemente has been ordered to show cause in court tomorrow why he should not produce his records for city inspection.

The Catapano firm's case has been referred to the corporation counsel to determine whether legal steps should be taken to require the contractor to comply or have him cited for contempt.

George Washington received unanimous electoral votes both times he was chosen President.

both of them to retire as candidates. But, after all, it's up to them.

"What they will do to remove this stain from the Democrat ticket and from our relations with the rest of the world is up to them."

Dewey's office later explained it meant the withdrawal demand on Stevenson and Sparkman "figuratively."

Terming Sparkman " a man who has spent his whole public life fighting to suppress the rights of American citizens," Dewey added:

"The Democrat candidates for president and vice president stand convicted of the rankest hypocrisy ever perpetrated on the American people ***

"Such a ticket  could not possibly serve America.  If this Democrat ticket were ever elected it would cost us the support of nation after nation all over the world, where people have brown skins and yellow skins."

In Birmingham, Ala., last night, Negro lawyer Arthur D. Shores, a leader in his race's civil rights fight, said in a statement:

"We look for its (white supremacy slogan) early removal, yet Sen. Sparkman and Gov. Stevenson are no more responsible for this slogan than Gov. Dewey.

"The Negro voters will not permit such references to trivialties to lessen their support of the Democratic party for the overall benefits brought to the common man."

In Columbus, Ohio, last night, Sparkman told newsmen he did not know what Dewey meant when he said "Jim Crow." The Alabama senator did not elaborate.

Concerning Dewey's comment on his candidacy, Sparkman said: "He should know, he's an expert on being removed from office. The American people have removed him twice, in 1944 and in 1948."

Stevenson was not immediately available for comment.

Dewey, a backer of the GOP presidential nominee, Dwight D. Eisenhower, spoke over the New York state ABC-TV network and the state NBC radio network.

Beria also confidently predicted the Soviets would triumph in any future war.

The DAR State Conference adopted without discussion or a dissenting vote a resolution which said the President's commission was "hastily established" to hold hearings concerning revision of immigration laws in the face of the recently enacted McCarran Law.

The role of the UN is becoming more and more important, since it is the best medium for keeping the parties "talking instead of fight."

All countries should be admitted to the UN regardless of whether their governments are good or bad.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and similar regional defense arrangements have a real place in "the building of a world-wide collective security system based upon the United Nations."

It should be possible, even in the middle of the present armaments programs, to increase the flow of capital for economic development of backward areas by a billion dollars a year.

TILLSON

Tillson, Oct. 9—The executive committee of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company met Tuesday evening at the firehall. Plans for the next regular monthly meeting, which will take place Tuesday, Oct. 14, were discussed. Chief Engineer Russell Douglas said that in the Tillson Fire District during the past two years, there had been less loss by fire, and not as many fires as in the past. This is believed to be the result of making the public fire-conscious and by observing fire prevention week. Although the fire company was unable to participate in the observance of fire prevention week, it was pointed out that movies, dealing with this subject, were shown at the local school. The company officers discussed the desirability of purchasing a tank truck, an increase in fire drills, and a fire fighting discussion period at regular meetings.

Regular monthly meetings of the Tillson Association are held on the first Thursday of each month. It was erroneously announced in Tuesday's paper that these meetings were held on the second Thursday. There will be no meeting tonight. The next meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 6, at the Tillson School.

Appointment Criticized

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—The state meeting of the Daughters of American Revolution today criticized President Truman's appointment of an immigration commission as "an unwarranted and unprecedented  usurpation" of Congress. The DAR State Conference adopted without discussion or a dissenting vote a resolution which said the President's commission was "hastily established" to hold hearings concerning revision of immigration laws in the face of the recently enacted McCarran Law.

Report Gunboat Chase

Hong Kong, Oct. 9 (AP) — The British navy radio received a distress message tonight that two British ships were being chased by an unidentified gunboat near Matsu Island off Foochow. They were the 1,972-ton Tefkros and the 1,929-ton Admiral Hardy, presumably en route to Communist China ports. Only yesterday Britain announced it had protested to Peiping against Communist artillery attacks on three British ships off Hong Kong on Oct. 6.

No new element has been found in meteorites.

The role of the UN is becoming more and more important, since it is the best medium for keeping the parties "talking instead of fight."

All countries should be admitted to the UN regardless of whether their governments are good or bad.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and similar regional defense arrangements have a real place in "the building of a world-wide collective security system based upon the United Nations."

It should be possible, even in the middle of the present armaments programs, to increase the flow of capital for economic development of backward areas by a billion dollars a year.

TILLSON

Tillson, Oct. 9—The executive committee of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company met Tuesday evening at the firehall. Plans for the next regular monthly meeting, which will take place Tuesday, Oct. 14, were discussed. Chief Engineer Russell Douglas said that in the Tillson Fire District during the past two years, there had been less loss by fire, and not as many fires as in the past. This is believed to be the result of making the public fire-conscious and by observing fire prevention week. Although the fire company was unable to participate in the observance of fire prevention week, it was pointed out that movies, dealing with this subject, were shown at the local school. The company officers discussed the desirability of purchasing a tank truck, an increase in fire drills, and a fire fighting discussion period at regular meetings.

Regular monthly meetings of the Tillson Association are held on the first Thursday of each month. It was erroneously announced in Tuesday's paper that these meetings were held on the second Thursday. There will be no meeting tonight. The next meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 6, at the Tillson School.

Policy Is Continued

Atlanta, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Atlanta Journal, the South's largest newspaper, today announced its support of Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. The Journal said that Stevenson was not its choice at the Democratic convention for the presidential nomination but added: "He has demonstrated an understanding of public affairs, a willingness and an ability to express himself in clear-cut terms and a sense of high-minded responsibility which are increasing his stature as the campaign progresses." The Journal, which has never gone Republican, gave preconvention support to Georgia's Sen. Richard Russell for the Democratic nomination.

Man, Woman Are Hurt As Car Hits Bridge

A man and woman were shaken, cut and bruised about 12:30 p. m. when the car in which they were riding struck the bulkhead on the south end of the Rondout Creek bridge, a deputy sheriff reported.

Deputy William Churchill said Miss Eva Beesmer, RFD 4, Kingston, told him the vehicle she was driving hit the bridge as she tried to avoid an unknown car.

Riding with her was Carmen Finelli, who gave his address as the YMCA in Kingston.

Miss Beesmer, according to the deputy, said she was endeavoring to make a turn out of the Connelly road onto 9w state highway when the mishap occurred.

Churchill said both occupants of the car were shaken up, cut and bruised, and that they were given treatment at Kingston Hospital.

Investor Forum

by
Harry C. France

Half of the people reading this article own the savings bonds of the United States government. These figures are official: 83-million persons, societies and institutions possess such obligations. With a population of around 155-millions, my statement makes allowances for some duplication, which there is.

The most accurate compilation of the total amount of savings bonds outstanding places the figure at $57,753,000,000. Thus, with 83-million holders, the average holding is around $695. This represents a tremendous reservoir of buying power. It is like having in America 83-million people each with savings accounts of nearly $700!

During the next 10 years, 1952-1962, almost all of these savings bonds will mature. They will furnish a flood of re-investment money. Investment bankers, brokers and mutual fund salesmen who are not alive to this situation have only themselves to blame if they do not distribute more broadly the wealth of the United States during this period.

In 1953, $6,246,000,000 of savings bonds mature; in 1954, $7,935,000,000; in 1955, $6,756,000,000! Sometimes I wish I could turn the clock back 25 years and, becoming a security sales manager once again, organize a staff of hard-hitting salesmen who would go out and gather in millions of this money.

A recent survey by a leading organization indicates that, at the present time, there are about 7,000,000 stockholders in America. Thus, for every person owning shares of the best corporations in the world, there are 11 people possessing Uncle Sam's debts!

It proves how miserably merchandized is the equity wealth of America. I tnink the products that are best merchandized in this country are automobiles. General Motors, Chrysler, and Ford sales executives and representatives are tops in my book. And the worst merchandized things in America are the common stocks of our leading enterprises.

Let me present some evidence. New York Stock Exchange seats right now are about $38,000. The highest quality security merchandise in the world is listed on that Exchange. And a holder of a seat has the privilege of carrying on a buy and sell commission business on the floor of that Exchange.

America is flooded with money. America is saturated with maturing savings bonds. America is plagued by cheap money. There are 83-million people and institutions eager and waiting to hear the good news about owning some of the dynamic, productive wealth of our country.

Are investment bankers, brokers, advisers and security salesmen going to wake up from their slumbers and during the 1952-1953 period put one million more names on the stockholder's lists? If this were done, New York Stock Exchange seats would be worth $100,000 or more. (They sold for $600,000 in 1929).

As a matter of fact, these 83-million savings bond holders deserve something better. This is a plain statement but, nevertheless, all too true:

In these high cost, inflationary days, those millions of thrifty and saving people who are buying low yielding bonds should be rewarded with something that pays more than 2½ or 3 per cent a year.

Every reader of these lines who owns $1,000 of Uncle Sam's savings bonds should think, during 1952-53, of becoming a stockholder in a sound, well-managed, long-dividend-paying corporation.

Savings bonds are excellent. So are savings accounts in banks. And insurance is an indispensable asset.

But, beyond these, look to America's best enterprises. Search out some person who knows common stock values. Cultivate his acquaintance. And in the decade ahead, when some money comes in from matured savings bonds, add your name to the present 7,000,000 American stockholders.

Investor Forum

by Harry C. France

Half of the people reading this article own the savings bonds of the United States government. These figures are official: 83-million persons, societies and institutions possess such obligations. With a population of around 155-millions, my statement makes allowances for some duplication, which there is.

The most accurate compilation of the total amount of savings bonds outstanding places the figure at $57,753,000,000. Thus, with 83-million holders, the average holding is around $695. This represents a tremendous reservoir of buying power. It is like having in America 83-million people each with savings accounts of nearly $700!

During the next 10 years, 1952-1962, almost all of these savings bonds will mature. They will furnish a flood of re-investment money. Investment bankers, brokers and mutual fund salesmen who are not alive to this situation have only themselves to blame if they do not distribute more broadly the wealth of the United States during this period.

In 1953, $6,246,000,000 of savings bonds mature; in 1954, $7,933,000,000; in 1955, $6,756,000,000! Sometimes I wish I could turn the clock back 25 years and, becoming a security sales manager once again, organize a staff of hard-hitting salesmen who would go out and gather in millions of this money.

A recent survey by a leading organization indicates that, at the present time, there are about 7,000,000 stockholders in America. Thus, for every person owning shares of the best corporations in the world, there are 11 people possessing Uncle Sam's debts!

It proves how miserably merchandized is the equity wealth of America. I tnink the products that are best merchandized in this country are automobiles. General Motors, Chrysler, and Ford sales executives and representatives are tops in my book. And the worst merchandized things in America are the common stocks of our leading enterprises.

Let me present some evidence. New York Stock Exchange seats right now are about $38,000. The highest quality security merchandise in the world is listed on that Exchange. And a holder of a seat has the privilege of carrying on a buy and sell commission business on the floor of that Exchange.

America is flooded with money. America is saturated with maturing savings bonds. America is plagued by cheap money. There are 83-million people and institutions eager and waiting to hear the good news about owning some of the dynamic, productive wealth of our country.

Are investment bankers, brokers, advisers and security salesmen going to wake up from their slumbers and during the 1952-1953 period put one million more names on the stockholder's lists? If this were done, New York Stock Exchange seats would be worth $100,000 or more. (They sold for $600,000 in 1929).

As a matter of fact, these 83-million savings bond holders deserve something better. This is a plain statement but, nevertheless, all too true:

In these high cost, inflationary days, those millions of thrifty and saving people who are buying low yielding bonds should be rewarded with something that pays more than 2½ or 3 per cent a year.

Every reader of these lines who owns $1,000 of Uncle Sam's savings bonds should think, during 1952-53, of becoming a stockholder in a sound, well-managed, long-dividend-paying corporation.

Savings bonds are excellent. So are savings accounts in banks. And insurance is an indispensable asset.

But, beyond these, look to America's best enterprises. Search out some person who knows common stock values. Cultivate his acquaintance. And in the decade ahead, when some money comes in from matured savings bonds, add your name to the present 7,000,000 American stockholders.

Time Convention

Milwaukee (AP) — The Wisconsin Watchmakers Association started and wound up a state convention all in one day on a recent Sunday. They elected officers, heard technical talks, watched "watch" movies and held a dance. The whole program went off like clockwork. A feature attraction was a watch exhibited by a Swiss group that was 20 times as large as an ordinary watch.

Final Registration Days

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

This election campaign is different in several respects from others in the past. The Ruminator thinks the differences are open to your serious consideration, because they are in tune with trends which are distinctly unfavorable to the American way of life which we have been brought up to accept and revere.

First, let us consider Mr. Truman's "tear 'em apart" campaign. He said in Montana that he was going after the Republicans "and tear 'em apart.")

While I confess I have not exhaustively researched the facts, I cannot recall any election in the past when a retiring President has openly and actively attacked the candidate of the opposing party.

Retiring Presidents have made their preferences clear, of course —Roosevelt for Taft, in 1908; Coolidge for Hoover, in 1928, as examples — but the Presidential prestige has not been used, I think, for what is coarsely termed "hatchet-man" tactics.

Presidents running for re-election have bitterly walloped their opponents, of course. This year however, we have the appalling spectacle of the President of the United States making whistle-stop speeches and formal addresses focussed on tearing down the character of a man to whom the same President in past years has paid not only the highest homage but whom he has placed in positions of extraordinary world-wide responsibility. And, mind you, when the President is not running for re-election.

It seems to the Ruminator that this is about as an exaggerated form of demagoguery as has ever been witnessed in this great Republic of ours.

What lies behind this revolting performance?

You may say it is only the degradition of political campaigning.

But one cannot help ruminating over the more sinister aspects.

You and I know that Roosevelt-Truman program has unquestionably established a trend in the United States toward the omnipotence of the state—toward an all-powerful government bureaucracy.

Mr. Truman knows far better than any other man what will happen to the "Truman State" if a Republican is elected. He knows what has been built up in the way of "labor power," for example, and what his Administration has done in international dealings. He knows, obviously, that if the Republicans win the election that the Truman-Roosevelt regime will be blackened with all the recriminations and "I-told-you-so's" which the Republican office-holders can dig up and flaunt before the public.

Mr. Truman's personal reputation and aims will be brought to censure, obviously, if the opposing party comes into power.

Finally, the persistent trend toward state-socialism may be halted for a brief period of four or eight years if General Eisenhower is elected. Everything for which President Truman has campaigned will, as time goes on, be demonstrated (I think) to have been ill-conceived and harmful to the nation.

From these viewpoints, it is understandable, perhaps, why Mr. Truman is using the prestige of his great office to defeat General Eishenhower. Nevertheless, it is inexcusable and a dreadful black page in our history.

Another aspect of the Truman campaign is the number of people in his entourage who are giving their time and assistance to his attacks who are on the public payroll—whose salaries are paid for by you and me. Think this one over! His campaign-train companions are not employes of the Democratic National Committee, but members, largely, of his White House staff. A shocking situation.

As a final sidelight on this election campaign it is interesting to note from the "polls" that an extraordinarily large percentage of people queried remain "on the fence"—haven't made up their minds whom they'll vote for. This is unusual for October, as ordinarily the great majority of voters are pretty well decided by the time September has closed. One poll suggested that over half of the voters were still undecided. This may be erroneously high, but it does appear clear that the "undecided vote" is exceedingly large.

This latter condition points all the more dangerously to the Truman attack. We can only hope that Mr. Truman's methods will backfire, but thus far reports indicate that his listeners do not "object" to his attacks on General Eisenhower.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

This election campaign is different in several respects from others in the past. The Ruminator thinks the differences are open to our serious consideration, because they are in tune with trends which are distinctly unfavorable to the American way of life which we have been brought up to accept and revere.

First, let us consider Mr. Truman's "tear 'em apart" campaign. He said in Montana that he was going after the Republicans "and tear 'em apart.")

While I confess I have not exhaustively researched the facts, I cannot recall any election in the past when a retiring President has openly and actively attacked the candidate of the opposing party.

Retiring Presidents have made their preferences clear, of course —Roosevelt for Taft, in 1908; Coolidge for Hoover, in 1928, as examples — but the Presidential prestige has not been used, I think, for what is coarsely termed "hatchet-man" tactics.

Presidents running for re-election have bitterly walloped their opponents, of course. This year however, we have the appalling spectacle of the President of the United States making whistle-stop speeches and formal addresses focussed on tearing down the character of a man to whom the same President in past years has paid not only the highest homage but whom he has placed in positions of extraordinary world-wide responsibility. And, mind you, when the President is not running for re-election.

It seems to the Ruminator that this is about as an exaggerated form of demagoguery as has ever been witnessed in this great Republic of ours.

What lies behind this revolting performance?

You may say it is only the degradition of political campaigning.

But one cannot help ruminating over the more sinister aspects.

You and I know that Roosevelt-Truman program has unquestionably established a trend in the United States toward the omnipotence of the state—toward an all-powerful government bureaucracy.

Mr. Truman knows far better than any other man what will happen to the "Truman State" if a Republican is elected. He knows what has been built up in the way of "labor power," for example, and what his Administration has done in international dealings. He knows, obviously, that if the Republicans win the election that the Truman-Roosevelt regime will be blackened with all the recriminations and "I-told-you-so's" which the Republican office-holders can dig up and flaunt before the public.

Mr. Truman's personal reputation and aims will be brought to censure, obviously, if the opposing party comes into power.

Finally, the persistent trend toward state-socialism may be halted for a brief period of four or eight years if General Eisenhower is elected. Everything for which President Truman has campaigned will, as time goes on, be demonstrated (I think) to have been ill-conceived and harmful to the nation.

From these viewpoints, it is understandable, perhaps, why Mr. Truman is using the prestige of his great office to defeat General Eisenhower. Nevertheless, it is inexcusable and a dreadful black page in our history.

Another aspect of the Truman campaign is the number of people in his entourage who are giving their time and assistance to his attacks who are on the public payroll—whose salaries are paid for by you and me. Think this one over! His campaign-train companions are not employes of the Democratic National Committee, but members, largely, of his White House staff. A shocking situation.

As a final sidelight on this election campaign it is interesting to note from the "polls" that an extraordinarily large percentage of people queried remain "on the fence"—haven't made up their minds whom they'll vote for. This is unusual for October, as ordinarily the great majority of voters are pretty well decided by the time September has closed. One poll suggested that over half of the voters were still undecided. This may be erroneously high, but it does appear clear that the "undecided vote" is exceedingly large.

This latter condition points all the more dangerously to the Truman attack. We can only hope that Mr. Truman's methods will backfire, but thus far reports indicate that his listeners do not "object" to his attacks on General Eisenhower.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Training Parley Held at College

New Paltz, Oct. 7—The regional training institute for city and village elective and appointive officials was held in New Paltz, Saturday, Oct. 6, at the College Union Building. The area represented at the meeting includes Ulster, Dutchess, Orange Rockland and Sullivan counties. Thirty communities were represented. The course is offered by the Municipal Training Institute of New York state which is an educational institution chartered by the Regents of the University of the State of New York and administered by officers and members of the New York State Conference of Mayors and other municipal officials.

In the morning the lecturer was Morgan Strong, director of the Municipal Training Institute. He discussed highways, state and federal aid, tax limits, school relationships, equalization and permissive taxes. A round-table discussion followed his talk. Conference Aids to Your Administration also was a topic for discussion before the noon recess. Lunch was served by the College Union cafeteria.

In the afternoon session the subjects which Strong lectured on were as follows: building regulations, zoning, traffic control, gambling, finances, charters, transportation, home rule and civil defense. Later in the afternoon new laws and the legislative program were discussed. This was followed by another round-table discussion. The convention adjourned at 4 p. m. Mayor Robert Reid reported that the convention was helpful and successful. The elective officials who attended the institute were provided with notebooks which were used freely during lectures and discussions.

Astronomy Is Topic At Century Meeting

After reviewing briefly the better known phases of astronomy, members of the solar system, seasons, and eclipses, Dr. Ordway gave a series of enlightening examples of comparative sizes and distances, and described some outstanding constellations and some solar events past and to come. He also discussed current progress in astronomy, and interesting current speculations among astronomers.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Training Parley Held at College

New Paltz, Oct. 7—The regional training institute for city and village elective and appointive officials was held in New Paltz, Saturday, Oct. 6, at the College Union Building. The area represented at the meeting includes Ulster, Dutchess, Orange Rockland and Sullivan counties. Thirty communities were represented. The course is offered by the Municipal Training Institute of New York state which is an educational institution chartered by the Regents of the University of the State of New York and administered by officers and members of the New York State Conference of Mayors and other municipal officials.

In the morning the lecturer was Morgan Strong, director of the Municipal Training Institute. He discussed highways, state and federal aid, tax limits, school relationships, equalization and permissive taxes. A round-table discussion followed his talk. Conference Aids to Your Administration also was a topic for discussion before the noon recess. Lunch was served by the College Union cafeteria.

In the afternoon session the subjects which Strong lectured on were as follows: building regulations, zoning, traffic control, gambling, finances, charters, transportation, home rule and civil defense. Later in the afternoon new laws and the legislative program were discussed. This was followed by another round-table discussion. The convention adjourned at 4 p. m. Mayor Robert Reid reported that the convention was helpful and successful. The elective officials who attended the institute were provided with notebooks which were used freely during lectures and discussions.

Local Woman Named At WCTU Convention

New Paltz, Oct. 7—On Friday, Oct. 3, seven members of the New Paltz WCTU attended a county-wide convention at the Port Ewen Methodist Church and the welcome was given by the Rev. Harry E. Christiana of the Reformed Church. There was no speaker scheduled as the principal business was the hearing of yearly reports and election of officers.

Mrs. Lillian Shultis of Kingston was reelected president. Mrs. R. M. Hasbrouck of New Paltz was reelected vice-president; Mrs. Emma Sherman of Ellenville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Nellie Newkirk of Ellenville, recording secretary; Mrs. Emma Carpenter of Plattekill, treasurer. Mrs. Lewis of Ellenville was appointed assistant treasurer to Mrs. Carpenter.

Another appointment was Miss Lois Betz, New Paltz, as county director of spiritual life to succeed Mrs. Eliza Keates Young of Milton who has served in this capacity for many years.

Mrs. John R. Steketee, Kingston, conducted the remembrance service given yearly as a memorial to members who have passed away during the year. There were three from the New Paltz Union: Mrs. Charity Roosa Van Auken, New Paltz; Mrs. Alice Martin, New Paltz and Mrs. Ada Deyo of Tillson.

Plan Pack Meetings

New Paltz, Oct. 7—John Harrison, who will be Cub Scoutmaster for the New Paltz group, Pack 74, has announced that the Cub Scout committee of Den Mothers, Den Fathers, treasurer Kelly Campbell and himself would meet possibly this week to make plans for the first pack meet. Meanwhile, parents are attending a Cub Scout leaders training school in Kingston for six evenings under the guidance of Scoutmaster George Dennis. Last Friday four parents attended the first session at St. James Methodist Church. They were Mrs. Nan Green, Mrs. Larry Argiro, Mrs. Nathan Stillman and Mrs. William Jay. Parent participation in cub scouting is essential, if it is to be successful.

Supper Is Changed

New Paltz, Oct. 7—The Methodist Church has changed the night of its fall supper to Wednesday, Oct. 29, so that it will not conflict with Halloween fun. A turkey dinner has been decided on by the committee. It will be served family style and there will be two sittings. The early diners will be served at 5:30 p. m. and those who prefer a later supper hour will be served at 6:45.

Party in Question

New Paltz, Oct. 7—George Ackert, chairman of the New Paltz Recreation Committee, said today that he did not know whether his committee would sponsor the usual Halloween parade for the village youngsters this year. "We usually depended on the Drum and Bugle Corp to lead the parade and this fall the group is not meeting so I don't know what we can do." He also added that it was a lot of hard work for a very few people.

Astronomy Is Topic At Century Meeting

New Paltz, Oct. 7—Skies over New Paltz will be scrutinized with new interest by many who attended the first fall meeting of the Century Club at the Reformed Church Sunday night to hear Dr. Richard Ordway's informative talk, Astronomy for the Layman.

The speaker, who considers himself an amateur astronomer since his regular field is geology, was introduced to the large audience by the pastor, the Rev. Gerret Wullschleger. After reviewing briefly the better known phases of astronomy, members of the solar system, seasons, and eclipses, Dr. Ordway gave a series of enlightening examples of comparative sizes and distances, and described some outstanding constellations and some solar events past and to come. He also discussed current progress in astronomy, and interesting current speculations among astronomers.

Following a lively question period the group adjourned to the church yard to observe the October sky and look at the moon through a telescope.

Preceding the program members and guests of the Century Club enjoyed refreshments served by Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn Weisgerber and their committee.

Couples to Meet

New Paltz, Oct. 7—The Couples Club will attend the sub-district meeting for Young Adults in Ellenville Sunday, Oct. 12. The cars plan to leave the church at 7:15 p. m.

Rummage Sale Set

New Paltz, Oct. 7—Mrs. Walter Dyer has been appointed chairman of the fall rummage sale, which is given each year by the ladies of the Methodist Church. She announced that it will be held in a different location this time, at the former Campus restaurant on Main street. The days selected for the sale are Oct. 16, 17, 18.

Guild Membership Is Divided Into Groups

New Paltz, Oct. 7—Three of the four groups of the recently re-organized Dutch Guild of the Reformed Church will hold their first regular group meetings Thursday.

The entire membership of the Guild has been divided into four equal groups, two of which will hold afternoon meetings, and two will meet in the evening. The Guild remains the parent organization, holding general meetings in September, January, April, and June, while the individual groups will meet during the other months of the year. Letters have been sent to all Guild members informing them of their group and time and place of meeting.

Members of the executive cabinet of the Guild include Mrs. Margaret LeFevre, president; Mrs. Ethel DeHardt, secretary-terasurer; Mrs. Kay Allen, chairman Group 1; Miss Agnes Hagan, chairman Group 2; Mrs. Lucille Martin, chairman Group 3; Mrs. Lucille Phillips, chairman Group 4.

On Thursday, Oct. 9, Group 2 will meet at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Harold Lent; Group 3 meets at 8 p. m., with Mrs. Vincent Lyons; Group 4 will meet at 2:30 p. m., with the chairman, Mrs. Phillips, at Lake Minnewaska. On Thursday, Oct. 16, at 8 p. m., Group 1 will meet with the chairman, Mrs. Allen.

Will Discuss Pool

New Paltz, Oct. 7—The village board which met Tuesday night in a special session with the town board and school board to discuss with representatives of the State Youth Commission the possibility of a swimming pool for New Paltz. The boards decided that they would call another meeting and ask organizations and individuals to be represented and let it be known if they are in favor of the pool. No decision will be made yet. This meeting is an opportunity to explore the possibility further. Representatives of nearby communities comparable to New Paltz in size are expected to be present and tell how they accomplished the work. The meeting is called for Friday, 8 p. m., Oct. 17.

New York Voters Keep Polls Busy

New York, Oct. 9 (AP) — Voter registration in New York city has continued at a record high level for three consecutive nights.

With the half-way mark still not reached, 1,676,846 prospective voters have signed up.

The comparative figure for the record year of 1944 was 1,469,225. The increase in the three-day total was 207,621—slightly better than 14 per cent over 1944.

Last night's registration was 561,597, compared with the third-night figure of 524,775 in 1944.

Monday's registration was 549,974 and Tuesday's 565,275. The small slackening from Tuesday was attributed by election officials to delays encountered at the registry booths.

The 1944 record registration total for the six-day period was 3,556,377. Registration for the election next Nov. 4 is expected to be about four million.

Registration upstate, where most of New York's Republican strength lies, also is showing a record-bound trend. Registration in this predominantly Democratic city continues tonight and tomorrow night, with a day-and-night session Saturday.

More than 99 per cent of the air at sea level is composed of oxygen and nitrogen.

A&P Founded 93 Years Ago

A small, retail tea store in New York city, operated by a New Englander, was the first of the A&P Food Stores which this month are observing the company's 93rd anniversary.

George Huntington Hartford of Augusta, Me., opened the original red - fronted A&P on Vesey street, Manhattan, in October 1859. At that time tea was a luxury item but young Hartford managed to bring the commodity within reach of everyone's pocketbook.

By buying whole cargoes of tea directly from China Clipper Ships, Hartford bypassed excessive fees and commissions demanded by the big importers of that era. Volume sales at low prices has been A&P policy since the firm was founded.

In recent years, the one-man A&P grocery stores have almost passed from the scene. Today the company operates modern self-service stores and in contrast to the first A&P with its one product, the big A&P Super Markets now regularly stock more than 4,000 different items.

Here in New England, the company has modernized scores of its outlets since the end of World War II, and also has erected many new super markets in communities throughout the area. The A&P stores incorporate all the latest shopping conveniences.

ew York Voters Keep Polls Busy

New York, Oct. 9 (AP) — Voter gistration in New York city has ntinued at a record high level r three consecutive nights. With the half-way mark still not reached, 1,676,846 prospective voters have signed up.

The comparative figure for the record year of 1944 was 1,469,225. The increase in the three-day total was 207,621—slightly better than 14 per cent over 1944.

Last night's registration was 561,597, compared with the third-night figure of 524,775 in 1944.

Monday's registration was 549,974 and Tuesday's 565,275. The small slackening from Tuesday was attributed by election officials to delays encountered at the registry booths.

The 1944 record registration total for the six-day period was 3,556,377. Registration for the election next Nov. 4 is expected to be about four million.

Registration upstate, where most of New York's Republican strength lies, also is showing a record-bound trend. Registration in this predominantly Democratic city continues tonight and tomorrow night, with a day-and-night session Saturday.

Five Instructors Subpoenaed for Communist Probe

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—A high school teacher and four college instructors have been subpoenaed to appear Saturday before the U. S. Senate Internal Security Subcommittee probing communism in the nation's schools.

The high school teacher, 41-year-old Cyril Graze, went on departmental trial yesterday before the board of education on charges of insubordination and unbecoming conduct.

Graze, suspended from his position as mathematics teacher at Forest Hills High School, has refused to say whether or not he ever was a Communist.

In a summation made at the end of his hearing, Graze said the charges against him was "retaliation" against his charge that the board of education "is a cesspool of bigotry."

After he finished his statement, Graze was handed a subpoena to appear before the Senate group, which also subpoenaed:

Dr. Joseph Pressler, 45, Brooklyn College physical education teacher; Edwin Berry Burgum, 58, English professor at New York University; Dr. Melba Phillips, 45, Brooklyn College physics teacher; and Dr. Sarah Riedman, Brooklyn College physiology teacher.

Await Legal Check

Meanwhile, newspaper reports said the board of education has delayed the dismissal of any more teachers under Section 903 of the city charter until the legality of the board's procedures has been determined.

The section provides that the job of any city employe refusing to answer questions of an authorized body on the ground of possible self-incrimination shall be vacated.

Last week, six city school teachers were fired by the board of education for refusing to answer subcommittee questions about communism. Last Monday, the board of higher education dismissed three faculty members of city-owned colleges for the same reason.

Gross Alters Testimony

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Jailed bookmaker Harry Gross altered his testimony before the Brooklyn rackets grand jury that he had "done business" with the late Police Inspector George W. Mulholland. "That's a mistake—I never paid him a quarter. He was an honest cop," Gross said yesterday of his own testimony given last year. Gross was under cross-examination yesterday as a city witness at the departmental trial of 30 suspended policemen accused of sharing in his graft payments. The witness said Muhlholland had been pointed out to him and he had seen him many times, but he did not know him personally and he never spoke to him.

Cheese Rice Is Vegetable Filler

SAVORY CHEESE RICE STUFFING for hollowed-out fall vegetables is sprinkled with crumbled cooked bacon for added flavor.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Stuffed onions, tomatoes, eggplant, zucchini, green peppers all make wonderful fall dishes. Hollow them out, steam or bake them until tender, then fill with savory stuffing. They make a complete main dish for luncheon this way or a very substantial addition to dinner.

Here's a quick stuffing made with the new, packaged, precooked rice:

Cheese Rice
(Makes 4 servings)

One and one-third cups packaged, pre-cooked rice, 1½ cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¾ cup grated cheddar cheese or 1 cup grated processed American cheese, 8 strips of bacon, cooked until crisp.

Combine, rice, water, salt and pepper in saucepan. Mix just until all rice is moistened. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat, uncovered, fluffing rice gently once or twice with a fork. (Do not stir.)

Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes. Place ½ cup of the cheese on top of the rice. (Do not mix.) Cover again and let stand 5 minutes more. Mix lightly with a fork. Stuff into vegetables and sprinkle with crumbled cooked bacon and the rest of the cheese.

One of our favorite vegetable dishes is this: First, cut tomatoes in half—sprinkle a little, very little, brown sugar on top of each half. Then chop green peppers, onion and parsley and mix. Place a mound of this mixture on top of the brown sugar.

Over the vegetable mixture lay a small strip of fat bacon. Place the tomatoes in a shallow baking dish. Bake in moderate over about 15 minutes. Succulent and different with fish or steak.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Tomato juice, ready-to-eat cereal, soft-cooked eggs, raisin toast, butter or margarine, raspberry jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Green peppers stuffed with cheese rice, whole wheat bread, butter or margarine, baked apples, tea, milk.

DINNER: Pan-broiled fish steak, lemon wedges, baker tomato halves, parsley potato balls, crusty rolls, butter or margarine, grapefruit and lettuce salad, French dressing, steamed marmalade pudding, lemon sauce, coffee, milk.

As Pegler Sees It

velt-Wallace Communist system.

Before Hoffman took over ECA, Senator Herbert Lehman, of New York, threw billions to the winds, even in countries which Roosevelt had allotted to Russia, but Lehman is not one of "our worst congressmen" in the consensus of Redbook's Klux of Anonymous Cowards.

I think it unlikely but, obviously, he could have been one of the six senators "well-informed on the actions and abilities" of their political enemies, who were invited to attack them from behind Redbook's Iron Curtain of Anonymity I am assuming of course, that these poltroons actually do exist. We have nothing more than the word of Whitman and Redbook that they do.

I don't have to tell you that Senator Joe McCarthy is the principal demon, with Pat McCarran of Nevada in a photo-finish with him. Senator Molly Malone, also of Nevada and a Republican, whereas McCarran is a Democrat, is well up and it is mere coincidence that these three are not only expert Red-baiters but ferocious pro-Americans, guilty of "nationalism" in the first degree.

The reason why Rep. Clare Hoffman of Michigan is there on the first page may be found in his tireless and often dangerous fight against the CIO's murderous goons and incendiaries in the wild insurrections in the motor centers of his own state and in the packing-house riots in Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska. Hoffman often fought them alone, traveling thousands of miles to carry on hearings as a subcommittee of one in order to put the facts into the historical record. He will feel honored by the enmity of the magazine firm which adopted Eleanor Roosevelt as its chief editorial feature in McCall's.

Rep. Fred Busby, of Chicago, another Republican and a Redbaiter and racket-fighter in the city which has been sending that preposterous old faker, Ad Sabath, to Congress ever since 1906, is one of Redbook's "worst." But Sabath, one may take it, is Redbook's notion of a stateman.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., would seem to be a worthy fellow and one notes no voters for Klein of New York or Senator Morse of Oregon or Murray of Montana among those condemned by the Secret 52.

Of the Democrats condemned, Redbook's brave jury, by coincidence no doubt, happened to select two who are already lame ducks, representative John Rankin, of Mississippi, and Senator McKeller, of Tennessee. Rankin was a fierce pro-American in the House Committee on un-American activities.

Sheppard Butler, Redbook's managing editor, wearily said: "I had nothing to do with it. I was very much puzzled by it."

"Was there any politcal motive behind it?"

"Damned if I know," Mr. Butler said. "Damned if I know."

Whitman said the idea just evolved over lunch with Wade Nichols, the editor, and Bill Hartley, who was executive editor at the time but has since left the job.

I pointed out to Whitman that he might have selected Drew Pearson and eight others almost as bad for his nine newspapermen. After all, I told him, Pearson had a grudge against McCarthy for kicking him around the gents' room of a Washington club and wouldn't be impartial. And Pearson, with his flagrant record in favor of Communists, would be unlikely to give McCarran decent judgment, either, considering Pat's anti-Red career.

Pearson's lawyer went to Las Vegas last winter to wage a lawsuit against McCarran on behalf of Herman Greenspun, a New York protege of Vito Marcantonio, the notorious party-liner, who is also a survivor of the old Buggsy Siegal mob and a registered ex-convict.

Whitman would not say whether Pearson was one of his wise, impartial and courageous accusers of "our worst congressmen." He did admit that he had read Greenspun's notorious record after his piece for Redbook had been turned in. But even so he had not thought it necessary in the interests of fairness to the public to revise his copy and modify a flattering and misleading reference to Siegal's old pal and press-agent as a brave young "liberal" fighting against entrenched evil.

Well, so that is the Redbook for you, a worthy stablemate of McCall's magazine.

My name is P-E-G-L-E-R and unlike Redbook's 52 authorities, I declare these to be my own statements.

We have nothing more than the word of Whitman and Redbook that they do.

I don't have to tell you that Senator Joe McCarthy is the principal demon, with Pat McCarran of Nevada in a photo-finish with him. Senator Molly Malone, also of Nevada and a Republican, whereas McCarran is a Democrat, is well up and it is mere coincidence that these three are not only expert Red-baiters but ferocious pro-Americans, guilty of "nationalism" in the first degree.

The reason why Rep. Clare Hoffman of Michigan is there on the first page may be found in his tireless and often dangerous fight against the CIO's murderous goons and incendiaries in the wild insurrections in the motor centers of his own state and in the packing-house riots in Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska. Hoffman often fought them alone, traveling thousands of miles to carry on hearings as a subcommittee of one in order to put the facts into the historical record. He will feel honored by the enmity of the magazine firm which adopted Eleanor Roosevelt as its chief editorial feature in McCall's.

Rep. Fred Busby, of Chicago, another Republican and a Red-baiter and racket-fighter in the city which has been sending that preposterous old faker, Ad Sabath, to Congress ever since 1906, is one of Redbook's "worst." But Sabath, one may take it, is Redbook's notion of a stateman.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., would seem to be a worthy fellow and one notes no voters for Klein of New York or Senator Morse of Oregon or Murray of Montana among those condemned by the Secret 52.

Of the Democrats condemned, Redbook's brave jury, by coincidence no doubt, happened to select two who are already lame ducks, representative John Rankin, of Mississippi, and Senator McKeller, of Tennessee. Rankin was a fierce pro-American in the House Committee on un-American activities.

Sheppard Butler, Redbook's managing editor, wearily said: "I had nothing to do with it. I was very much puzzled by it."

"Was there any politcal motive behind it?"

"Damned if I know," Mr. Butler said. "Damned if I know."

Whitman said the idea just evolved over lunch with Wade Nichols, the editor, and Bill Hartley, who was executive editor at the time but has since left the job.

I pointed out to Whitman that he might have selected- Drew Pearson and eight others almost as bad for his nine newspapermen. After all, I told him, Pearson had a grudge against McCarthy for kicking him around the gents' room of a Washington club and wouldn't be impartial. And Pearson, with his flagrant record in favor of Communists, would be unlikely to give McCarran decent judgment, either, considering Pat's anti-Red career.

Pearson's lawyer went to Las Vegas last winter to wage a lawsuit against McCarran on behalf of Herman Greenspun, a New York protege of Vito Marcantonio, the notorious party-liner, who is also a survivor of the old Buggsy Siegal mob and a registered ex-convict.

Whitman would not say whether Pearson was one of his wise, impartial and courageous accusers of "our worst congressmen." He did admit that he had read Greenspun's notorious record after his piece for Redbook had been turned in. But even so he had not thought it necessary in the interests of fairness to the public to revise his copy and modify a flattering and misleading reference to Siegal's old pal and press-agent as a brave young "liberal" fighting against entrenched evil.

Well, so that is the Redbook for you, a worthy stablemate of McCall's magazine.

My name is P-E-G-L-E-R and unlike Redbook's 52 authorities, I declare these to be my own statements.

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 9, 1952. SEVENTEEN

95 New Cases Reported

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—The State Health Department today reported 95 new cases of polio in counties outside New York city last week—a 15 per cent drop from the previous week. The new cases boosted the year's total to 1,176, or 41 per cent over the 835 listed in the corresponding 1951 period. A department spokesman said it appeared certain that the state's total this year would not be "as high relatively" as the national total. But he said it was "generally, still too early to say" how serious the state outbreak would be for 1952 as a whole."

Offices Closed Monday

Offices and departments of the city hall will be closed all day Monday in observance of Columbus Day, it was announced today.

Walnuts Grow in Perry's Yard

Says Youngsters Face Extra Social Problems

New York, Oct. (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said last night material progress has "spread cobblestones all over the landscape" to impede the formulation of character in growing generations.

"We are multiplying the social problems of our youngsters day by day," he added.

Hoover spoke at the second annual dinner and presentation of honorary citizenship awards of the George "Junior Republic."

Boys and girls at the "Junior Republic" School at Freeville, N. Y., have self-government, including issuance of currency, operation of courts and elections of officers. The school, founded by William R. George, a New York city businessman, has 125 students.

Hoover received honorary citizenship granted by the citizens of the "Junior Republic." Federal District Judge David A. Pine, of Washington, D. C., who invalidated President Truman's seizure of the strike-bound steel industry, was similarly honored.

The awards were for activities helping to preserve "our democratic way of life for the youth of our country."

Charged With Desertion

Nome, Alaska, Oct. 9 (AP)—An air force man who is charged with deserting his unit in Dayton, Ohio, was picked up yesterday floating about the Bering Sea on a five-man life raft. It has not been explained how he got there. The man, whose name has been withheld by officials, was spotted three miles from the mouth of the Yukon river by O. W. Tasch, a civilian pilot flying an amphibious plane. Tasch asked him where he was going and he said Nome. He was 150 miles from his target, straight north across dangerous waters. Tasch took him aboard his plane and turned him over to military authorities.

No strongly radioactive matter has been found in meteorites.

Adlai Likes Harry And Still Insists Taft Owns General

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 9 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson declared today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—"the honorary Republican candidate for president"—has surrendered GOP leadership to Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

In contrast, the Democratic nominee said in a speech prepared for a party luncheon here, President Truman has proved himself "a man of independence" who has "rallied the free peoples against the mortal threat of communism and Rusian imperialism."

The Illinois governor took the political bit in his teeth on a flying tour of Missouri, the President's home state, to put into words a swiftly-developing trend in the presidential campaign.

This trend has found the Democrats attacking Eisenhower as only the tool of Taft, the man he defeated for the nomination. It has found the Republicans concentrating their attacks on Truman and saying that Stevenson must accept responsibility for any and all administration "blunders."

Stevenson, who has been talking recently of Franklin D. Roosevelt's measures to fight the depression of the '30's, without mentioning Truman, gave the President a home area send-off as "a blue ribbon winner, among Democrats."

Noting that the President comes from nearby Independence, Mo., Stevenson declared:

"Harry Truman is certainly a man of independence. I think that's the thing I like about him most. In your Missouri language, he won't take anything off anybody.

"No one knows this better than Joe Stalin. And every Missourian can be proud of the fact that a man from Independence, through a series of heroic and historical decisions, has rallied the free peoples against the mortal threat of communism and Russian imperialism."

Ironing Table Cover

A new cotton scorch-resistant ironing cover can be thrown into the washing machine without losing body, shape or scorch-resistant qualities, say the manufacturers. It is constructed to fit all regulation-size ironing boards, wooden or metal, with a skin-tight stay-smooth ironing surface.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD S. THIBAUT, Jr.

To Hold Public Budget Hearing On November 6

Woodstock, Oct. 9—A preliminary budget hearing was presented at the meeting of the town board Wednesday night at the town hall. According to Kenneth L. Wilson, supervisor, a public hearing on the preliminary budget will be held Thursday, Nov. 6, two days after election. Wilson stated that there had been no salary change for the board.

It was announced that Woodstock Fire Company No. 1, passed a resolution at their meeting Monday night, requesting the town board to authorize the widening of the doors in the fire house. Tentative plans call for the widening of the doors on each side the length of a brick. The board has alloted $1,000 for this purpose.

The town board passed a resolution to place Constable Charles Farley on yearly basis. Constable Farley, heretofore, has been on duty only during the summer months. Between Oct. 1, and Dec. 31, 1952, Farley will be on duty from 9 to 11 a. m., and from 3 to 5:30 p. m., weekdays, Monday through Friday, and on Saturday from 9 to 6 p. m. These hours will continue from Jan. 1, to May 30, 1953. From June 1, through Sept. 30, he will be on full-time duty, and subject to call for a special duty with no additional compensation, at a salary of $1,400 a year. His hours will be subject to change at the discretion of the town board.

The board also announced that the town clerk would be entitled to two weeks vacation during the coming year and a deputy would be appointed to serve during that period.

A new item added to the budget was a sum of $200 to be used for a war emergency fund. The Woodstock Library will receive its usual $600. The recreation field will receive $500, a sum duplicated by the state.

The town hall bond, which matures March, 1953, is $2,050. Veterans organizations will receive $200. Thomas Provenzano receives $500 per year for washing the windows and waxing the floor of the town hall. Election officials receive a total of $600. Heat, light and fuel for the town hall amount to $2,000 and office equipment $300.

The above amounts plus the salaries of the town board, the dog warden and the board of assessors are included in the total figure of $15,735.

Anticipated revenues from the township are mortgage taxes of $3,500. Per capita assistance (state aid for the running of town government) is $8,062.05; dog licenses $450; town hall rentals $1,100; 1952 surplus $1,000; fees from the town clerk and justices of the peace $1,500. The total amount of anticipated revenues total $15,610.

Other items on the budget include registrar of vital statistics, $50, with expenses of $10; light district taxes, $1,727; the township fire district for 1953 taxes, $5,063.58. Wilson stated that the town had no right to lower or raise fire taxes, this being the legal right of the board of fire commissioners. Last year's fire taxes, it was stated, were $2,800, with the increase in the new budget being necessitated by the loss of the West Hurley district which formerly paid $100 per month to Woodstock for protection, and other rising costs of operation.

The township highway department appropriation consists of the general fund, $24,000; bridges, $400; materials, $1,100; machinery, $5,080; principal and interest, $6,198, making a total of $10,981; snow removal, $4,000.

This shows a $1,000 increase over the 1952 budget, due to the increase of school buses, both to the local school and to the Onteora district. There is also $750 for brush removal, and $3,200 for miscellaneous purposes including insurance. The total of item four in the highway department is $10,750. Another item in the highway budget will be a total of $8,130 of past due bills left by the former superintendent of highways, Howard France.

The proposed ordinances, rules and regulations of the Woodstock Water District were read at the meeting. Wilson expressed appreciation to Harry Edinger of the Ulster County Department of Health for assistance given in compilation of rules and regulations. A public hearing on the ordinances, rules and regulations of the Woodstock Water District will be held in the office of the town clerk, at the town hall, at 8 p. m., Monday, Oct. 20.

Resort Promotion Is Discussed by Businessmen Here

Woodstock, Oct. 9—A special meeting of the Woodstock Business Association to discuss plans for making the village more appealing to visitors during the fall, winter and spring seasons was held Tuesday night at Pine Crest Lodge. Members of the organization have felt for some time that Woodstock can be made into a year-round resort community.

Mordy Berkowitz, chairman of the committee which investigated the possibilities for a year-round season here, submitted a report.

Although the Woodstock Business Association will not sponsor the project as such, it will guide and assist in general planning.

A typical weekend was outlined. First, it will be necessary for the association to have a list of rooms available in the village. People with rooms to rent are requested to send, by mail to the association, a description of the rooms, the number of rooms and other facilities as well as a price list.

Visitors who have no cars will be able to make arrangements to be met in Kingston and taken to the rooms reserved. After dinner the guests will be offered a choice of local movies, a recorded concert or possibly a musicale or square dance. In the fall season hay rides may be included. Planned for winter Saturday mornings will be bus trips to Belleayre for skiing, with box lunches provided. Returning to Woodstock by bus the visitors will be offered another choice of evening entertainment.

No schedule will be made for Sunday mornings, allowing visitors an opportunity to attend church services if they wish. In the afternoon there will be conducted tours of the surrounding countryside. Visitors may return to the city Sunday night or early Monday morning.

During the spring season fishing trips will be planned, outdoor art classes for weekend parties, photography field trips, bird lovers groups, nature study classes and hikes. There may also be horseback rides and bicycle trips.

Another feature contemplated is a spring fair and, if possible another in the fall.

Further details of the plan will be discussed at the next meeting Wednesday, Oct. 15, at Pine Crest Lodge.

To Hold Public Budget Hearing On November 6

Woodstock, Oct. 9—A preliminary budget hearing was presented at the meeting of the town board Wednesday night at the town hall. According to Kenneth L. Wilson, supervisor, a public hearing on the preliminary budget will be held Thursday, Nov. 6, two days after election. Wilson stated that there had been no salary change for the board.

It was announced that Woodstock Fire Company No. 1, passed a resolution at their meeting Monday night, requesting the town board to authorize the widening of the doors in the fire house. Tentative plans call for the widening of the doors on each side the length of a brick. The board has alloted $1,000 for this purpose.

The town board passed a resolution to place Constable Charles Farley on yearly basis. Constable Farley, heretofore, has been on duty only during the summer months. Between Oct. 1, and Dec. 31, 1952, Farley will be on duty from 9 to 11 a. m., and from 3 to 5:30 p. m., weekdays, Monday through Friday, and on Saturday from 9 to 6 p. m. These hours will continue from Jan. 1, to May 30, 1953. From June 1, through Sept. 30, he will be on full-time duty, and subject to call for a special duty with no additional compensation, at a salary of $1,400 a year. His hours will be subject to change at the discretion of the town board.

The board also announced that the town clerk would be entitled to two weeks vacation during the coming year and a deputy would be appointed to serve during that period.

A new item added to the budget was a sum of $200 to be used for a war emergency fund. The Woodstock Library will receive its usual $600. The recreation field will receive $500, a sum duplicated by the state.

The town hall bond, which matures March, 1953, is $2,050. Veterans organizations will receive $200. Thomas Provenzano receives $500 per year for washing the windows and waxing the floor of the town hall. Election officials receive a total of $600. Heat, light and fuel for the town hall amount to $2,000 and office equipment $300.

The above amounts plus the salaries of the town board, the dog warden and the board of assessors are included in the total figure of $15,735.

Anticipated revenues from the township are mortgage taxes of $3,500. Per capita assistance (state aid for the running of town government) is $8,062.05; dog licenses $450; town hall rentals $1,100; 1952 surplus $1,000; fees from the town clerk and justices of the peace $1,500. ## Disagrees With Ike Talks Form Trap

Albion, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Averell Harriman, campaigning through New York state in behalf of the Democratic ticket, says the Republican presidential nominee is calling for withdrawal of troops from Korea at a time when the Korean truce talks are at a crucial point.

The mutual security administrator, sharing the platform with John Cashmore, Democratic senatorial candidate, charged last night:

"Candidate Eisenhower and other Republicans are calling for the withdrawal of our troops from the line in Korea at the very moment when the armistice negotiations are at a crucial point and when the subject is about to be considered by the United Nations.

"This of all times is when we should be showing Stalin our determination to stand with the gallant troops of the Republic of South Korea who—as the general knows—are constantly increasing their forces and assuming an ever-larger share of the front-line defense. . . ."

Red Trap, Says Ike

Eisenhower, meanwhile speaking in San Francisco, had labeled the truce talks a "Soviet trap" and said they were designed to gain time for the Communists.

As Harriman was ending his speech before an Orleans county Democratic dinner audience, Cashmore rushed into the hall from a speaking engagement in nearby Batavia. The Brooklyn borough president took the platform and urged a down-the-line Democratic victory in the Nov. 4 election. He asked:

"What good will it do to elect a president to carry out a Democratic-Liberal program if he is not backed by a Democratic Congress?"

Would Oust Ives

Following Cashmore's talk, Harriman again took the rostrum and urged Cashmore's election to the U. S. Senate seat now held by Republican Irving M Ives.

The joint discussion led observers to believe the meeting was designed to win for Cashmore the upstate vote that might have been disgruntled by his nomination.

Newsmen covering the dinner said neither Harriman nor Cashmore was billed on the program as the principal speaker.

Sprague to Make New Resistor at Kingston Factory

A new type of resistor for telephone and radio will be produced by the Sprague Electric Company at its Kingston plant, it was revealed in a talk Wednesday night by Wayne Wright, production foreman.

Addressing the Men's Club of the First Dutch Church, Wright explained that the new resistor will make use of a carbonizing process and will be cheaper to produce than the conventional wire-wound resistor. It was developed originally in 1950 by the Bell Telephone Laboratories, and that organization awarded Sprague the contract to develop the production facilities.

Demonstrates Products

Wright demonstrated other Sprague products to be made locally, as well as those made in the company's other plants. He also outlined the history of the company from its founding in 1926 to its present position as the world's largest manufacturer of capacitors, employing a total of about 6,000 persons.

Other guests of the club at its regular monthly meeting were David Cates, personnel manager of the local Sprague plant, and Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was opened with a moment of silence in tribute to one of its charter members, B. C. Van Ingen, who died Wednesday afternoon. President Fred L. Van Deusen presided at the business meeting which followed a dinner at Bethany Hall.

Disagrees With Ike Talks Form Trap

Albion, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Averell Harriman, campaigning through New York state in behalf of the Democratic ticket, says the Republican presidential nominee is calling for withdrawal of troops from Korea at a time when the Korean truce talks are at a crucial point.

The mutual security administrator, sharing the platform with John Cashmore, Democratic senatorial candidate, charged last night:

"Candidate Eisenhower and other Republicans are calling for the withdrawal of our troops from the line in Korea at the very moment when the armistice negotiations are at a crucial point and when the subject is about to be considered by the United Nations.

"This of all times is when we should be showing Stalin our determination to stand with the gallant troops of the Republic of South Korea who—as the general knows—are constantly increasing their forces and assuming an ever-larger share of the front-line defense. . . ."

Red Trap, Says Ike

Eisenhower, meanwhile speaking in San Francisco, had labeled the truce talks a "Soviet trap" and said they were designed to gain time for the Communists.

As Harriman was ending his speech befcre an Orleans county Democratic dinner audience, Cashmore rushed into the hall from a speaking engagement in nearby Batavia. The Brooklyn borough president took the platform and urged a down-the-line Democratic victory in the Nov. 4 election. He asked:

"What good will it do to elect a president to carry out a Democratic-Liberal program if he is not backed by a Democratic Congress?"

Would Oust Ives

Following Cashmore's talk, Harriman again took the rostrum and urged Cashmore's election to the U. S. Senate seat now held by Republican Irving M Ives.

The joint discussion led observers to believe the meeting was designed to win for Cashmore the upstate vote that might have been disgruntled by his nomination.

Newsmen covering the dinner said neither Harriman nor Cashmore was billed on the program as the principal speaker.

Sprague to Make New Resistor at Kingston Factory

A new type of resistor for telephone and radio will be produced by the Sprague Electric Company at its Kingston plant, it was revealed in a talk Wednesday night by Wayne Wright, production foreman.

Addressing the Men's Club of the First Dutch Church, Wright explained that the new resistor will make use of a carbonizing process and will be cheaper to produce than the conventional wire-wound resistor. It was developed originally in 1950 by the Bell Telephone Laboratories, and that organization awarded Sprague the contract to develop the production facilities.

Demonstrates Products

Wright demonstrated other Sprague products to be made locally, as well as those made in the company's other plants. He also outlined the history of the company from its founding in 1926 to its present position as the world's largest manufacturer of capacitors, employing a total of about 6,000 persons.

Other guests of the club at its regular monthly meeting were David Cates, personnel manager of the local Sprague plant, and Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was opened with a moment of silence in tribute to one of its charter members, B. C. Van Ingen, who died Wednesday afternoon. President Fred L. Van Deusen presided at the business meeting which followed a dinner at Bethany Hall.

$13,939 Collected In Scout Campaign

At the regular monthly meeting of the executive board of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, Tuesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Maynard Mizel, chairman of the 1952 annual finance campaign, reported a total of $13,939 collected to date, or 74 per cent of the goal. It was announced that the western district had won the campaign trophy which would be presented at the monthly district meeting Thursday, Oct. 9, at West Shokan. Mizel stressed the fact that the campaign is not over yet and will not be over until enough money is collected to assure the Boy Scouting program in Ulster and Greene counties this year. Mizel thanked the men of the board who had worked with him on the campaign.

The council president, Ray Quackenbush of Saugerties, presented a Boy Scout statuette to Mizel as a small token of appreciation for his work and efforts in the campaign. He urged all districts to continue their efforts until complete coverage of their territories has been achieved. Quackenbush also presented to each of the seven district chairmen a good citizenship pocket piece for their work to date on the nationwide effort to "Get Out the Vote." Similar recognition will be given to all boys and leaders who participate. It was announced that posters urging registration are now being delivered and that Saturday, Nov. 1, 1,500 Scouts and Cubs would deliver 25,000 door knob hangers urging every citizen to vote.

Reports on Jamboree

William Sherrill Keyser, chairman of the 1953 National Jamboree Committee announced that this jamboree would be held at Santa Ana, Calif., July 17-23, 1953. A tentative itinerary has been submitted to the National Association of Railroads for approval and will include stop overs at Chicago, National Glacier Park, Portland, San Francisco and Grand Canyon; a steamer trip from Seattle to Vancouver, B. C. and many other points of interest. The complete cost of this three week trip will be $350 for each participant. It was stressed that the reservation dead line is March 2. All interested Scouts should file their application and $10 fee with the council office as soon as possible.

You don't really have to be a good mathematician to play first-class bridge, but it doesn't hurt to know a few simple facts about probability. For example, the chance of winning a simple finesse is about even (it's exactly even unless the bidding indicates that one opponent has more strength than the other).

Here's another important fact: The odds are about 2 to 1 that five missing cards in a suit will be divided three in one hand and two in the other.

I didn't select those two figures out of a clear sky. They were the important things to remember when South was planning the play of the hand shown today.

When the hand was actually played (in the Italian national championships this year), South won the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds, discarding the queen of hearts from his hand. He then drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the ace of clubs, entered dummy with a third trump, and led a club towards his queen.

This play really amounted to a club finesse. Unfortunately for declarer, the finesse failed. He lost two club tricks and therefore failed to make his slam contract.

South should have made his contract by playing for a 3-2 club break instead of for a successful club finesse. Do you see the right line of play?

Dummy wins the first trick with the ace of diamonds, and South discards a club. Dummy returns the jack of diamonds, South discards another club, and West wins with the queen of diamonds. West dares not return a club or a heart (either would give South a free finesse), so he returns a third diamond to dummy's ten, and South discards the queen of clubs.

Now South takes the ace of clubs, enters dummy with a trump to ruff a club, gets back with a second trump to ruff a second club, and gets back with dummy's third trump to cash the last club. The last club enables South to discard the queen of hearts, after which South can claim the rest of the tricks with the ace of hearts and trumps.

Offered Trip Home

The government has notified 3,500 of the refugees who are getting free rations that the food will be cut off next Jan. 31. The passage is offered to any of these who want to move on. There are several hundred thousand refugees from Red China in Hong Kong, but most of them are able to manage for themselves.

$13,939 Collected In Scout Campaign

At the regular monthly meeting of the executive board of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, Tuesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Maynard Mizel, chairman of the 1952 annual finance campaign, reported a total of $13,939 collected to date, or 74 per cent of the goal. It was announced that the western district had won the campaign trophy which would be presented at the monthly district meeting Thursday, Oct. 9, at West Shokan. Mizel stressed the fact that the campaign is not over yet and will not be over until enough money is collected to assure the Boy Scouting program in Ulster and Greene counties this year. Mizel thanked the men of the board who had worked with him on the campaign.

The council president, Ray Quackenbush of Saugerties, presented a Boy Scout statuette to Mizel as a small token of appreciation for his work and efforts in the campaign. He urged all districts to continue their efforts until complete coverage of their territories has been achieved. Quackenbush also presented to each of the seven district chairmen a good citizenship pocket piece for their work to date on the nationwide effort to "Get Out the Vote." Similar recognition will be given to all boys and leaders who participate. It was announced that posters urging registration are now being delivered and that Saturday, Nov. 1, 1,500 Scouts and Cubs would deliver 25,000 door knob hangers urging every citizen to vote.

Reports on Jamboree

William Sherrill Keyser, chairman of the 1953 National Jamboree Committee announced that this jamboree would be held at Santa Ana, Calif., July 17-23, 1953. A tentative itinerary has been submitted to the National Association of Railroads for approval and will include stop overs at Chicago, National Glacier Park, Portland, San Francisco and Grand Canyon; a steamer trip from Seattle to Vancouver, B. C. and many other points of interest. The complete cost of this three week trip will be $350 for each participant. It was stressed that the reservation dead line is March 2. All interested Scouts should file their application and $10 fee with the council office as soon as possible.

Surgeon Has One Leg

New York (AP) — Dr. Emma Aronson, 65, lost her right leg two years ago but it did not end her career as a surgeon. At the New York Infirmary where she is an attending gynecologist, Dr. Aronson designed a special revolving chair for use in the operating room. It has a seat that can be raised or lowered, an airplane strap and a backrest which gives balance.

You don't really have to be a good mathematician to play first-class bridge, but it doesn't hurt to know a few simple facts about probability. For example, the chance of winning a simple finesse is about even (it's exactly even unless the bidding indicates that one opponent has more strength than the other).

Here's another important fact: The odds are about 2 to 1 that five missing cards in a suit will be divided three in one hand and two in the other.

I didn't select those two figures out of a clear sky. They were the important things to remember when South was planning the play of the hand shown today.

When the hand was actually played (in the Italian national championships this year), South won the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds, discarding the queen of hearts from his hand. He then drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the ace of clubs, entered dummy with a third trump, and led a club towards his queen.

This play really amounted to a club finesse. Unfortunately for declarer, the finesse failed. He lost two club tricks and therefore failed to make his slam contract.

South should have made his contract by playing for a 3-2 club break instead of for a successful club finesse. Do you see the right line of play?

Dummy wins the first trick with the ace of diamonds, and South discards a club. Dummy returns the jack of diamonds, South discards another club, and West wins with the queen of diamonds. West dares not return a club or a heart (either would give South a free finesse), so he returns a third diamond to dummy's ten, and South discards the queen of clubs.

Now South takes the ace of clubs, enters dummy with a trump to ruff a club, gets back with a second trump to ruff a second club, and gets back with dummy's third trump to cash the last club. The last club enables South to discard the queen of hearts, after which South can claim the rest of the tricks with the ace of hearts and trumps.

Offered Trip Home

Hong Kong (AP) — The British government of this crown colony is offering to pay passage to China or Nationalist Formosa for destitute refugees crowding Hong Kong. The government has notified 3,500 of the refugees who are getting free rations that the food will be cut off next Jan. 31. The passage is offered to any of these who want to move on. There are several hundred thousand refugees from Red China in Hong Kong, but most of them are able to manage for themselves.

Truman to Talk In Yonkers, Harlem

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—President Truman, in a newly-added stop on his cross-country train campaign tour for the Democratic ticket, will speak in Yonkers Friday night before coming here for a 24-hour visit and a major address in Harlem on civil rights.

His train is scheduled to arrive in Grand Central Terminal about 9:45 p. m.

Good Story Writers

Dublin, Ireland (AP) — Irish author Frank O'Connor says his recent visit to the United States gave him a feeling that "every American is a born short-story writer." He visited Harvard and other universities where he gave lectures. "I had one or two short stories submitted to me by young students that were as good as any new work I've read for years."

Final Registration Days

Friday and Saturday of this week are the final days of registration for the presidential election November 4. The polls will be open Friday from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. and on Saturday from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. Unless you register, you cannot vote. Do it tomorrow.

Lewis Explains Fund Is Not Perfect Yet

Cincinnati, Oct. 9 (AP)—Mine workers chief John L. Lewis has issued a strong hint to coal mine operators that they may be tapped again for an increase in the welfare fund royalty.

The leader of the United Mine Workers, who are meeting in their quadrennial convention here, dumped into strong complaints on the convention floor yesterday by delegates who said the miners were not getting enough benefits from the fund.

The miners union recently won a 10-cent a ton increase in its welfare royalty, raising the present per tonnage assessment by the coal mine owners to 40 cents. With an estimated 500,000,000 tons expected to be produced this coming year, royalty payments to the welfare fund would total somewhere near $200,000,000 a year.

Lewis in answering delegate complaints about the welfare-fund, said:

"I think we want to retain our sense of values on this subject and keep our feet fairly well on the ground. The welfare fund admittedly has not yet achieved perfection. Why? chiefly because we have not had enough money to achieve perfection.

"Why don't we get more money? We are working on that. We started in doing this job a good deal like the Dutchman cutting the dog's ear off. * * * he cut them off a little bit at a time so it wouldn't hurt."

The Maya Indians who once produced a high civilization in what is now Mexico are still the most important element in the population of Yucatan.

APPRECIATION OF HIS COURTESIES

A letter this morning says: "I am unmarried, in my middle thirties, and live in an apartment alone. I would like advice about sending an invitation to a gentleman who is a few years older, single and living alone. Our relationship has been of a business nature except that he has several times taken me out to dinner. I should like to repay him in some way and wondered if inviting him to dinner in my apartment would be all right?"

It would be proper if you invite two other persons.

How to Thank Hostess

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the proper way for a guest to express his thanks to a hostess in the following situations: (1) After a weekend visit; (2) after a dinner party; (3) after an evening's visit?

Answer: (1) Write a letter of thanks as soon as you return home. (2) You say good night and thank your hostess as graciously as you can. (3) Again, you say good-night and thank your hostess. Nothing further is necessary.

Announcement Party

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter will soon receive her engagement ring and I would like to give a large reception, at my house, to announce the engagement. It will be a surprise to everyone. Will you please tell me how the invitations should be worded, and also how and when the announcement is made?

Answer: Merely send invitations to an afternoon tea or, if you and your friends prefer, a cocktail party, and announce the news of the engagement at the party. You tell first few guests who arrive and then they will tell others who come later.

Is your question about engagements—how to make a public announcement or announcement to your friends? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail but her leaflet E-1, "Engagements," will help you. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. ## Minnesota Woman Found Guilty of Shooting Husband

Munich, Germany, Oct. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Martha Joan Wage, 19-year-old Red Wing, Minn., mother of two children, was found guilty today of intentional manslaughter in the fatal shooting of her husband, U. S. Air Force Sgt. Dan P. Wage of Baldwin, Wis.

Sentence was to be pronounced later today (at 10 a. m. EST).

A three-Judge U. S. District Court returned the guilty verdict against the pale, blonde woman who admitted firing the fatal shot at her husband with an army carbine July 26 after the 25-year-old sergeant had brought a plump German girl into the Wage home at nearby Fuerstenfeldbruck Air Base.

The court had deliberated on the verdict since the trial—conducted under German law—ended Aug. 30.

Good Story Writers

Dublin, Ireland (AP) — Irish author Frank O'Connor says his recent visit to the United States gave him a feeling that "every American is a born short-story writer." He visited Harvard and other universities where he gave lectures. "I had one or two short stories submitted to me by young students that were as good as any new work I've read for years."

Final Registration Days

Friday and Saturday of this week are the final days of registration for the presidential election November 4. The polls will be open Friday from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. and on Saturday from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. Unless you register, you cannot vote. Do it tomorrow.

Lewis Explains Fund Is Not Perfect Yet

Cincinnati, Oct. 9 (AP)—Mine workers chief John L. Lewis has issued a strong hint to coal mine operators that they may be tapped again for an increase in the welfare fund royalty.

The leader of the United Mine Workers, who are meeting in their quadrennial convention here, dumped into strong complaints on the convention floor yesterday by delegates who said the miners were not getting enough benefits from the fund.

The miners union recently won a 10-cent a ton increase in its welfare royalty, raising the present per tonnage assessment by the coal mine owners to 40 cents. With an estimated 500,000,000 tons expected to be produced this coming year, royalty payments to the welfare fund would total somewhere near $200,000,000 a year.

Lewis in answering delegate complaints about the welfare-fund, said:

"I think we want to retain our sense of values on this subject and keep our feet fairly well on the ground. The welfare fund admittedly has not yet achieved perfection. Why? chiefly because we have not had enough money to achieve perfection.

"Why don't we get more money? We are working on that. We started in doing this job a good deal like the Dutchman cutting the dog's ear off. * * * he cut them off a little bit at a time so it wouldn't hurt."

The Maya Indians who once produced a high civilization in what is now Mexico are still the most important element in the population of Yucatan.

APPRECIATION OF HIS COURTESIES

A letter this morning says: "I am unmarried, in my middle thirties, and live in an apartment alone. I would like advice about sending an invitation to a gentleman who is a few years older, single and living alone. Our relationship has been of a business nature except that he has several times taken me out to dinner. I should like to repay him in some way and wondered if inviting him to dinner in my apartment would be all right?"

It would be proper if you invite two other persons.

How to Thank Hostess

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the proper way for a guest to express his thanks to a hostess in the following situations: (1) After a weekend visit; (2) after a dinner party; (3) after an evening's visit?

Answer: (1) Write a letter of thanks as soon as you return home. (2) You say good night and thank your hostess as graciously as you can. (3) Again, you say good-night and thank your hostess. Nothing further is necessary.

Announcement Party

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter will soon receive her engagement ring and I would like to give a large reception, at my house, to announce the engagement. It will be a surprise to everyone. Will you please tell me how the invitations should be worded, and also how and when the announcement is made?

Answer: Merely send invitations to an afternoon tea or, if you and your friends prefer, a cocktail party, and announce the news of the engagement at the party. You tell first few guests who arrive and then they will tell others who come later.

Is your question about engagements—how to make a public announcement or announcement to your friends? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail but her leaflet E-1, "Engagements," will help you. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. ## Minnesota Woman Found Guilty of Shooting Husband

Munich, Germany, Oct. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Martha Joan Wage, 19-year-old Red Wing, Minn., mother of two children, was found guilty today of intentional manslaughter in the fatal shooting of her husband, U. S. Air Force Sgt. Dan P. Wage of Baldwin, Wis.

Sentence was to be pronounced later today (at 10 a. m. EST).

A three-Judge U. S. District Court returned the guilty verdict against the pale, blonde woman who admitted firing the fatal shot at her husband with an army carbine July 26 after the 25-year-old sergeant had brought a plump German girl into the Wage home at nearby Fuerstenfeldbruck Air Base.

The court had deliberated on the verdict since the trial—conducted under German law—ended Aug. 30.

The marriage of Miss Marie Gale Jansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jansen of Gardiner, to Wolf Ove Bergann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olav T. Bergann, of Brooklyn, took place at 3 p. m. Sunday, Oct. 5, in the Reformed Church in Gardiner. The Rev. John Van Strien officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 100 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The church was decorated with autumn leaves, and baskets of white and multi-colored fall flowers. Miss Elizabeth DeGraff was soloist, and Mrs. Frank Agor, organist.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white lace, Princess styled gown, fashioned over pale orchid satin, with a portrait collar, long pointed sleeves, and a full skirt terminating in a train. Her illusion veil was caught to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book with a white, purple lipped orchid, and a shower of miniature carnations and streamers.

Miss Marjorie E. Walker of Long Island was maid-of-honor. She wore a Nile green tulle over yellow taffeta gown, and a matching half-crown type headpiece. She carried a matching pompon muff.

The Misses Mary Scofield and Esther Meredith were the bridesmaids. Miss Jean Jansen, the bride's niece, was a junior bridesmaid. They were attired in gowns of orchid tulle over lavender taffeta, yellow tulle over burnt orange, and yellow tulle over Nile green, respectively. The gowns were fashioned with bouffant skirts, fitted bodices and portrait collars. Matching half-crown type headpieces and pompon muffs, completed the ensembles.

Barbara Jean Molsen, wearing a blush, orchid tulle over matching taffeta gown, was the flower girl. She carried a satin basket of variegated pompons. John Jansen was the ring bearer.

Philip Metzger of this city was best man. The ushers were O. Richard Jansen, brother of the bride, and Eugene Petruski of this city.

The couple left for a wedding trip through the New England states. For traveling, the bride chose a pin-checked suit, black accessories, and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Bergann was graduated from the New Paltz High School and from the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing.

Mr. Bergann was graduated from Kingston High School and served with the U. S. Marines. He is employed by Incoro, Inc., in this city.

Lutheran League Has A Successful Rally At Immanuel Church

A successful rally of the Albany zone of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League was held Sunday at Immanuel Lutheran Church on Livingston street. Members and guests were present from Albany, Saratoga Springs, Schenectady, Hudson and Glens Falls.

After Mrs. Hubert Richter, president of the Ruth Guild, had welcomed the guests, the meeting was called to order by Mrs. William Pfeiffer of Albany, zone president.

Demonstrates Technique

Melvin Luebke, principal of the Mill Neck Lutheran School for the Deaf, only school of its kind on the Atlantic seaboard, reported on the outstanding progress made since the founding of the school two years ago. He presented two small boys aged three and five, pupils at the school, and demonstrated techniques of teaching them to lipread and produce sounds.

The Rev. E. Scherer of Williston Park, addressed the gathering on The Study of Missions, stressing the fact that the missionaries sent out, "are personal representatives who need the prayer and support of each individual."

During the business session the following officers were elected: Mrs. William Thiel of Kingston, president; Mrs. Karl Schleede of Schenectady, vice-president; and Mrs. George Derwig of Johnstown, secretary-treasurer.

It was announced that the Atlantic District Convention will be held May 20, 1953 in Providence, R. I. The 1953 Fall Rally will be sponsored by Immanuel Lutheran Church of Schenectady. Devotions were conducted by the Rev. E. L. Witte, pastor of the local congregation.

After the meeting supper was served by the Ruth Guild.

THE HELL BOMB

By JAY HEAVILIN and RALPH LANE

Nuclear energy can be liberated by two methods. One is fission, in which the nucleus of a heavy chemical element, such as uranium, is split into two nuclei of lighter elements. A neutron is fired into an atom, splitting it, to start the self-multiplying chain reaction pictured at right. Each nucleus splits into two fragments weighing less than the parent nucleus. According to a theory evolved by Albert Einstein the slight weight loss represents a tremendous release of energy.

This is the process used in the atomic bomb.

NEA 10-9

Fusion, the other means of liberating nuclear energy, works just the opposite. Two nuclei of light elements are fused, or combined, under incredibly high temperatures to form the nucleus of a heavier element. The new nucleus, in each case, weighs less than the original nuclei. Again each weight loss represents loose energy trying to escape. It bursts out so quickly that within a millionth of a second the energy of trillions of atoms smashing together produces a super-explosion.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Retail prices of lamb, frying chickens, pork loin roasts and a long list of fresh vegetables moved a little lower in many markets this week.

But large eggs, in tight supply almost all over the country, advanced as much as 7 cents a dozen. Dealers said this was the usual fall pinch in top grade large eggs, made worse this year by active buying for the armed forces.

"Eggs could go even higher by the end of the week," said a spokesman for the authoritative market reporting concern Urner-Barry Co. "But it won't be long before these high prices drive the trade to the medium sizes, which the wiser housewives have been buying for the past few weeks anyhow. Mediums haven't climbed as much—there are a lot more of them around."

Lamb Price Is Off

Lamb was off 4 to 6 cents a pound in some places as supplies increased, and "specials" on leg of lamb with prices trimmed as much as 16 cents were reported in scattered cities. Changes in prices of frying chickens and pork loin roasts ranged from 1 to 7 cents a pound and some chains put both items on their lists of advertised features for food shopping during the next few days.

Other meats showing up frequently as specials: Prime ribs of beef, chuck roasts, rib or plate stew, sirloin steak, fresh hams, smoked picnic hams, bacon, pork shoulder roasts.

On the fresh produce shelves, abundant supplies of these vegetables sent prices lower in most places: Snap beans, beets, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, cabbage, celery, cucumbers, iceberg lettuce, peppers, western potatoes, western carrots, spinach, radishes and sweet potatoes. Onions and tomatoes worked a little higher.

Potato Shortage Threatens

The Agriculture Department, in a forecast of the vegetable situation for 1953, said rapid marketing of this year's crop and good growing weather in some of the late-producing areas threatened to lead to another potato shortage next spring.

Marketing from some late-crop states, like Maine, have been faster than usual, with shipments through mid-September up 15 per cent compared with last year, the report said. This means that carry-over stocks next January may be smaller than usual in proportion to the size of the late crop. The department said prices next year may average a little below the 1952 levels, however.

Honeydew melons were somewhat lower-priced this week but most other fruits cost more at wholesale and were slowly rising at retail. Grapes, though a trifle higher, were still among the best fruit buys and were stressed by the Agriculture Department as a plentiful item for thrifty shopping. Grapefruit shipments from Florida were picking up but prices were still moderately high.

Warning on Sugar

One of this country's biggest sugar refiners warned this week that sugar may be in short supply in the northeast next month unless government sugar quotas are raised. These quotas, fixed by the secretary of agriculture, limit the amount of raw sugar which may be bought by refiners in any year. The 1952 quota is 7,700,000 tons, but the sugar trade estimates the nation's needs at eight million this year.

National Sugar Refining Co. advised its customers that it won't be able to meet demands for sugar after November 1. The company said that if the quota is not boosted promptly, New England and the middle Atlantic states will feel the pinch most since the quotas for Cuba and Puerto Rico, which normally supply those areas, are nearly exhausted.

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). ## 'Delighted,' Is Reply

North Providence, R. I., Oct. 9 —Bayard Ewing, Republican nominee for U. S. Senator, says the Democrats went to the wrong man for money. He told a rally audience last night that he received a telegram signed by Senators Kefauver, Fulbright and Douglas asking for "the largest check possible" for a "Volunteers for Stevenson Radio and TV Fund." Ewing said his wife wired back: "Delighted your fund so inadequate. My husband is Republican candidate for U. S. senator."

Denies Truth to Rumors

Hollywood, Oct. 9 (AP)—Barbara Stanwyck denies there is any truth to rumors that she and Robert Taylor are about to become reconciled — even though they were seen holding hands at Ciro's Tuesday night. Miss Stanwyck, divorced from Taylor early this year, said yesterday that the hand-holding "doesn't mean a thing except that we remain good friends." As for Taylor, his studio said he had no comment.

THE HELL BOMB

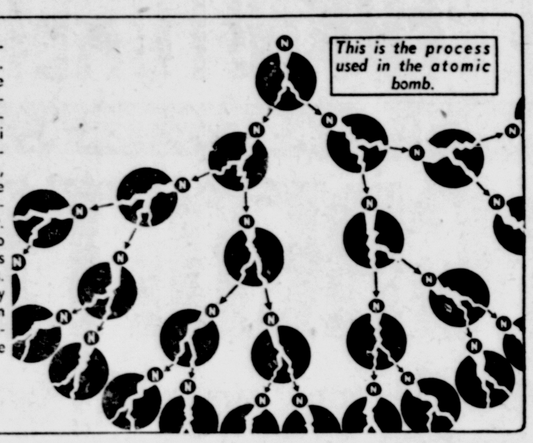
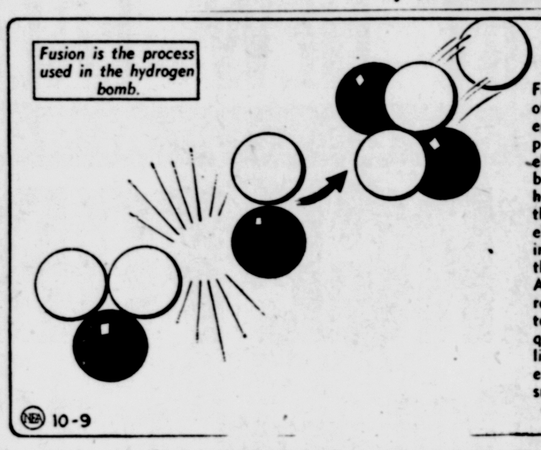
By JAY HEAVILIN and RALPH LANE

Nuclear energy can be liberated by two methods. One is fission, in which the nucleus of a heavy chemical element, such as uranium, is split into two nuclei of lighter elements. A neutron is fired into an atom, splitting it, to start the self-multiplying chain reaction pictured at right. Each nucleus splits into two fragments weighing less than the parent nucleus. According to a theory evolved by Albert Einstein the slight weight loss represents a tremendous release of energy.





Fusion, the other means of liberating nuclear energy, works just the opposite. Two nuclei of light elements are fused, or combined, under incredibly high temperatures to form the nucleus of a heavier element. The new nucleus, in each case, weighs less than the original nuclei. Again each weight loss represents loose energy trying to escape. It bursts out so quickly that within a millionth of a second the energy of trillions of atoms smashing together produces a super-explosion.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Retail prices of lamb, frying chickens, pork loin roasts and a long list of fresh vegetables moved a little lower in many markets this week.

But large eggs, in tight supply almost all over the country, advanced as much as 7 cents a dozen. Dealers said this was the usual fall pinch in top grade large eggs, made worse this year by active buying for the armed forces.

"Eggs could go even higher by the end of the week," said a spokesman for the authoritative market reporting concern Urner-Barry Co. "But it won't be long before these high prices drive the trade to the medium sizes, which the wiser housewives have been buying for the past few weeks anyhow. Mediums haven't climbed as much—there are a lot more of them around."

Lamb Price Is Off

Lamb was off 4 to 6 cents a pound in some places as supplies increased, and "specials" on leg of lamb with prices trimmed as much as 16 cents were reported in scattered cities. Changes in prices of frying chickens and pork loin roasts ranged from 1 to 7 cents a pound and some chains put both items on their lists of advertised features for food shopping during the next few days.

Other meats showing up frequently as specials: Prime ribs of beef, chuck roasts, rib or plate stew, sirloin steak, fresh hams, smoked picnic hams, bacon, pork shoulder roasts.

On the fresh produce shelves, abundant supplies of these vegetables sent prices lower in most places: Snap beans, beets, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, cabbage, celery, cucumbers, iceberg lettuce, peppers, western potatoes, western carrots, spinach, radishes and sweet potatoes. Onions and tomatoes worked a little higher.

Potato Shortage Threatens

The Agriculture Department, in a forecast of the vegetable situation for 1953, said rapid marketing of this year's crop and good growing weather in some of the late-producing areas threatened to lead to another potato shortage next spring.

Marketing from some late-crop states, like Maine, have been faster than usual, with shipments through mid-September up 15 per cent compared with last year, the report said. This means that carry-over stocks next January may be smaller than usual in proportion to the size of the late crop. The department said prices next year may average a little below the 1952 levels, however.

Honeydew melons were somewhat lower-priced this week but most other fruits cost more at wholesale and were slowly rising at retail. Grapes, though a triffle higher, were still among the best fruit buys and were stressed by the Agriculture Department as a plentiful item for thrifty shopping. Grapefruit shipments from Florida were picking up but prices were still moderately high.

Warning on Sugar

One of this country's biggest sugar refiners warned this week that sugar may be in short supply in the northeast next month unless government sugar quotas are raised. These quotas, fixed by the secretary of agriculture, limit the amount of raw sugar which may be bought by refiners in any year. The 1952 quota is 7,700,000 tons, but the sugar trade estimates the nation's needs at eight million this year.

National Sugar Refining Co. advised its customers that it won't be able to meet demands for sugar after November 1. The company said that if the quota is not boosted promptly, New England and the middle Atlantic states will feel the pinch most since the quotas for Cuba and Puerto Rico, which normally supply those areas, are nearly exhausted.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Action Is Resumed On Sprinkler Loss

Testimony was continued today in the action brought in Supreme Court by General Sportswear, Inc., of 23 Market street, Ellenville, manufacturers of children's and infant's wear, against Mid-Hudson Automatic Sprinkler Company to recover damages which plaintiff suffered when a sprinkler system in the Ellenville factory was set off on December 20, 1947, flooding a portion of the factory.

Stanley C. Rosenstock, vice-president and general manager, testified a coupling in the attic portion had broken and the factory flooded and damage done to the stock and to finished materials. He said an inventory of the stock damaged was $29,824.68 and in addition there was damage to the building and machines and also to piece goods. Goods salvaged was sent to New York for cleaning and drying and a net of $10,678.43 was realized from that merchandise.

Rosenstock said the damage was caused by a fitting which broke, setting off the water on a Saturday evening after he had left the factory.

Roy L. Featherstone appears for plaintiff and N. LeVan Haver for defendant.

Testimony was also offered as to the manner of installation of the system and one witness stated the fitting which broke was a new one installed in 1946.

Settlement was announced in No. 154, an action brought by Jerry Esposito and another against Ida DeGrazia, an action involving title to real estate. Rusk & Rusk for plaintiff and Benjamin J. Axelrod for defendant.

Capital Sweep Is Essential to Save Nation From Peril

If the people of this nation understood "the grave peril in which the Washington gang has placed us and our children and our children's children," it would not be necessary for the Republicans to conduct a campaign this fall, State Senator Arthur H. Wicks told members and guests of the Walker Valley Republican Club Wednesday night.

Stating that the only way "we can save our country and our party" is by a Republican victory in November, Senator Wicks contended there are "many reasons why the Missouri gang should be cleaned out of office.

"There is Korea; the debasing of our national currency by domestic policies that the Democrats use to buy votes but which are imperiling our national economic system; there is corruption and crookedness in every part of our national government with the result that public morality has sunk to a new low. But the Communist issue alone should be sufficient to convice the people of this country that we must sweep out of office those who are responsible for this disgraceful condition," he said.

On the Communist issue, Senator Wicks commented that "traitors and Communists have been permitted to infiltrate our federal government and influence governmental policies which are designed to weaken us and strengthen Russia." He cited the case of Mrs. Leon Keyserling, who only last week had been relieved of her duties as a highly placed government employe "for security reasons." Mrs. Keyserling is the wife of the chief economic adviser to Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

Senator Wicks also rapped President Truman's current whistle-stop campaign, saying that "while our boys are being killed and maimed in Korea, we Americans must suffer an additional shame of having the President of the United States going throughout the country, screaming lies and falsehoods in an attempt to elect his stooge so that he will be sure to have the cover kept on the stinking mess which he will leave behind him when he quits the presidency.

Wicks, temporary president and majority leader of the State Senate, and also Ulster county Republican chairman, addressed approximately 200 persons at the meeting, which was held at the Pine Bush firehouse.

U. S. Entitled to Ship

Alexandria, Va., Oct. 9 (AP)—A federal judge ruled today the government is entitled to recover the oil tanker Meacham because it was transferred illegally to a corporation financed by Chinese aliens. The Meacham has figured in two congressional investigations. The Meacham was sold by the Maritime Commission in 1948 to the Joseph E. Casey group. Later it was transferred to a succession of companies linked with the China International Foundation, headed by Newbold Morris. The government contended the vessel in effect was financed and controlled by alien Chinese who had been denied the right to acquire it from the commission, and in violation of its American registry.

New York Knickerbockers To Play Exhibition Contest Here Saturday

Famous NBA Five With Big Clifton Opens Pro Series

Plan 10 Exhibitions If Public Responds

The famous New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association will meet the Pine Plains Bombardiers Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

The Knickerbockers, coached by Joe Lapchick, famous center of the immortal Original Celtics, are Madison Square Garden's representatives in the NBA, the nation's only big league pro circuit.

George Steutzle, of Pine Plains, a renowned stained glass expert who promotes basketball as a hobby, said he hoped to stage 10 games in Kingston, if public support warrants them.

The return of major league basketball to Kingston for the first time since the last days of Frank "Pop" Morgenweck's regime and the Kate Smith Celtics will be an outstanding sports event in local history.

Sweetwater Due

The Knickerbockers will have with them a flock of nationally-renowned collegiate stars and one of the greatest attractions of them all — Sweetwater Clifton — the giant Negro who formerly played with the fabulous Harlem Globe Trotters.

The Globe Trotters, incidentally, are scheduled for a Kingston appearance on Dec. 11, Steutzle said, if the crowds respond to the early attractions.

Among the bookings planned, besides the Knickerbockers, are the Globe Trotters, New York Rens, Rochester Royals, Boston Celtics and the Philadelphia Warriors.

Besides Clifton, the Knickerbockers feature Vince Boryla, former Notre Dame scoring champion; Carl Braun, of Colgate, who led the New Yorkers in scoring three straight seasons; and Ernie Vandeweghe, an All-American at Colgate.

Tricky Dick McGuire of St. John's University, three times All-Metropolitan, one of the game's greatest play makers (a la Nick Harvey) and Harry Gallatin, one of the pros' outstanding big men, are other standouts with the Knicks.

Have Rookie Aces

In addition to these veterans, the Knicks will show local basketball fans two of last season's top collegians — Ralph Polson, 6-7½ center of Whitworth College (Seattle) and Bert Cook of Utah State.

Polson was third leading scorer in the country last winter with 709 points. He averaged 33 points in three NAIB tournament games, a new record for that classic, and was generally recognized as the best center on the Pacific Coast.

The Knicks have a flock of other established stars among them Ray Lumpp, former NYU great; Connie Simmons, George Kaftan, Al McGuire, and the sharp shooting Max Zaslofsky, a top NBA scorer for the past six years.

The Pine Plains Bombardiers are the Eastern New York basketball champions for the past three years. Their big ace is John Cottrill, 6 foot 3 inch center, former Ryder College star. He racked up 816 points in 47 games with Pine Plains last year. The Plainsmen won 42 and lost only five.

Ticket reservations in Kingston are being handled by the Tommy Maines Sport Shop.

Navy Guard Top Lineman of Week

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—Steve Eisenhauer, Navy guard, is the linesman of the week.

A husky 200-pounder from Sheffield, Pa., Eisenhauer today easily won the first Associated Press lineman poll of the football season.

His standout performance last Saturday as the unbeaten Middies walloped Cornell, 31-7, put him on top in the voting.

Eisenhauer, a 21-year-old junior who failed to earn a letter a year ago, blocked a punt for one touchdown against Cornell. He recovered two fumbles and made four tackles alone which cost the Big Red 31 yards.

He was a thorn in Cornell's side all afternoon as he spearheaded the Navy forward wall which held Cornell to a net gain by rushing of two measly yards.

Three ends — Ed Woodsum of Yale, Ed Bell of Pennsylvania and Jimmy Mask of Mississippi—also were praised.

Woodsum scored all of Yale's four touchdowns against Brown to put him only four behind Larry Kelley's feat of scoring 14 touchdowns in his Yale playing days some 15 years ago.

Bell twice made vital tackles against Dartmouth and, in the closing minutes, intercepted a forward pass to kill Dartmouth's last threat.

Mask blocked a punt and recovered on the Auburn five to set up Ole Miss' first touchdown against Auburn.

Reds Acquire Catcher

Cincinnati, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds said today they have acquired 26-year-old catcher Dick Kinaman from the Cleveland Indians. He comes to the Reds as part of the waiver deal which sent outfielder Wally Westlake from the National League Reds to the American League Indians. Kinaman hit .259 for Indianapolis last summer and is rated an outstanding defensive catcher with a fine throwing arm.

Colclough's Foul Shots Decide Game

The vaunted Cerasaro Brothers Sport Center cagers continued on the victory path Wednesday night in the YMCA Autumn Basketball League but it actually took a rhubarb to settle the outcome.

The Sportsmen won by 53 to 52 over the rugged Port Ewen quintet.

Conversion of three free throws following a rhubarb when Jim Amato of the losers was charged with a technical, was the deciding factor. Jimmy Colclough of the Sportsmen looped in all three free shots to give his club a 51-50 edge.

John Godwin followed with a deuce to make it 53-50. Vince Van Bramer closed the gap to 53-52 by scoring two free shots for Port Ewen as the gong sounded ending the contest.

Port Ewen jumped off to a slim 9-8 lead at the first quarter and led by 24-20 at halftime. Both clubs were knotted at 35-all at the end of the third canto.

Colclough Hits 23

Colclough, who made the difference with those three foul shots, emerged as top scorer of the night with 23 points. Jack Schrader and Godwin followed with 11 and 10 in that order.

Jack Beaver sparked the losers with 18 while Van Bramer followed with 15.

In other games last night, the Schoonmaker Five trounced the Newkirk Aces by 55 to 36 and the Accord Chevies rolled over Central Lunch by 59 to 33.

Joe Gardiner, Art Gordon and Art Pinkham were the big guns for Schoonmakers with 16, 14 and 13 points respectively. Bill DuBois riddled the nets for 16 to lead the Aces.

G. Schoonmaker and Bart Schatzel registered 16 and 12 respectively for the Chevies in their lop-sided triumph. George Hooker found the range for nine points to pace the Lunchmen.

Rangers, Wings In NHL Opener

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—The National Hockey League swings into its 35th season tonight with the defending champion Detroit Red Wings playing host to the injury-riddled New York Rangers while the veteran-studded Montreal Canadiens are entertaining the rejuvenated Chicago Black Hawks.

The Rangers, hoping to better last season's fifth place finish, are plagued by the injury jinx. Goalie Chuck Rayner is shelved with a leg injury and forward Don Raleigh is sidelined with a broken wrist, sustained in a pre-season exhibition game.

Prince Eton Cops

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Prince Eton, driven by John Bedell, scored a length and a quarter victory last night over Josedale Dandy in the Montrose Pace at Yonkers Raceway. The favored Miss Shine-a-Mite was third. Overlooked in the betting, Prince Eton paid $13.90, $7.70 and $4.00 to those who backed him in the crowd of 14,316. Time for the mile was 2:05 4/5.

Ez Wins, Seeks Bout With Layne, Then for Crown

Cincinnati, Oct. 9 (AP)—Ezzard Charles, former world's heavyweight champion, wants a crack at the present title-holder, Rocky Marciano—but he wants to take on Rex Layne first.

Charles, 189, nedded less than two rounds last night to hang a knockout on Bernie Reynolds, 187, of Fairfield, Conn., in a nationally televised bout which drew a slim crowd of only 3,132 to the Cincinnati Garden.

When it was over, the 31-year-old Charles said, "I'd really like to fight Rex Layne. After that, I want to do what everyone else wants to do—fight Marciano."

The soft-spoken Cincinnati Negro heavyweight said that he felt he must lick Layne in order to ge a shot at Marciano. Layne won a referee's decision over Charles in a bout in Utah a couple of months ago.

Charles' knockout of the 25-year-old Reynolds also knocked the Connecticut heavyweight, who fights out of Cliffside, N. J., right out of the boxing profession, according to Reynolds' manager, Joe Vella.

"This was positively his last fight," said Vella, while Reynolds was taking a shower. "If a boy doesn't have it, it is no reason for him to be a punching bag."

Charles has a fight with Cesar Brion in New York on Oct. 24 and he reiterated that after that, he wants Layne.

Skaters Vie for Crowds

Indianapolis, Oct. 9 (AP)—A box office battle of ice-borne blondes—Barbara Ann Scott and her Hollywood Ice Revue versus Sonja Henie and her 1953 Ice Revue—begins tonight. They'll appear simultaneously in Indianapolis for eight of the next 10 nights. Barbara Ann, the sweet school girl type, tok Sonja's job in Arthur Wirtz's Hollywood show a year ago. Sonja immediately organized her own show. Her management claimed a total attendance of over one million for her 1951-52 tour. The Scott show claimed over two million.

Yanks Will Sign Stengel to New Record Contract

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—All thoughts of retirement cast aside, Casey Stengel, who managed the New York Yankees to the fourth straight world championship, is ready to sign a new contract, reputedly for $100,000 per year.

This would make him far and away the highest paid manager in baseball, almost twice the salary reputedly paid Leo Durocher of the New York Giants. Among active ballplayers, only Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals is supposed to be in that class.

The only other manager to win four consecutive World Series championships was Joe McCarthy, also of the Yankees.

Hugh Bradley, writing in the New York Journal-American, said Stengel "is sure to return as manager for a two year period at $100,000 per season if he feels his income tax statement can stand this extra burden."

Stengel is due to confer with George Weiss, general manager of the Yankees, before he leaves New York with his wife Edna for a South American vacation.

Stengel's present salary has never been revealed but it is probably over $75,000. Now in his 60's the canny Yankee pilot has toyed with the idea of retiring, but after the Yankees beat the Dodgers in the series he laughed off all talk of shelving himself.

Halfback Ollie Cline of the Detroit Lions in the National Football League has a strange hobby. He makes bullets.

Injury-Riddled Army Team Faces Trouble Against Rugged Dartmouth on Saturday

Kickoff time is 2 p. m.

This will be the fourth meeting between the teams since 1895, five years after West Point played its first football game. Of the three previous tilts, Army won two—losing last year, 28-14, after wins of 6-0 in 1895 and 6-2 in 1899.

Coach Earl "Red" Blaik's pupils opened the 1952 campaign with a surprising 28-7 victory over an up-and-coming South Carolina contingent. Dartmouth, tutored by capable DeOrmond (Tuss) McLaughry, meanwhile debuted by bowing to Holy Cross, 27-9.

Dartmouth, however, with a rugged display of defensive power to hold mighty Penn to a 6-0 win, while Army lost to Southern California. Cadet mistakes helped swell the Trojan score and everything considered the Black Knights of the Hudson made a good showing.

The availability of three of Army's top backs and an ace tackle, Bob Guidera, still is not known for sure. Halfbacks John Wing and Freddie Meyers, the Academy's top player, plus quarterback Dick Boyle, suffered leg injuries of varying degrees and did not play at all against Carolina or Southern Cal.

Dartmouth's chief guns are T-formation quarterback Jim Miller; Dick Collins, who scampered 89 yards for a TD against Holy Cross; and Dick Calkins. Chief threat to Army gainers in the line appear to be tackle Emery Pierson and Captain Pete Reich at guard.

The probable lineups:

| ARMY | | DARTMOUTH |
|---|---|---|
| Sisson | LE | Thielschuer |
| Wilkerson | LT | Rambour |
| Lunn | LG | Atahans |
| Ordway | C | Papatones |
| Ziegler | RG | Reich |
| Mischak | RE | Miller |
| Vann | QB | Smale |
| Meyers | LHB | Collins |
| Wing | RHB | Dorsett |

Tickets Cause Rhubarb

Philadelphia, Oct. 9 (AP)—Promoter Herman Taylor's inability to produce 16,000 tickets he claims went unsold for the Joe Walcott-Rocky Marciano bout here has touched off a rhubarb involving city tax collectors and the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission. Taylor claimed the 16,000 tickets were inadvertantly burned before they could be checked by the city revenue commission for purposes of computing taxes, but he said the Athletic Commission had checked the tickets.

New York Knickerbockers To Play Exhibition Contest Here Saturday

Plan 10 Exhibitions If Public Responds

The famous New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association will meet the Pine Plains Bombardiers Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

The Knickerbockers, coached by Joe Lapchick, famous center of the immortal Original Celtics, are Madison Square Garden's representatives in the NBA, the nation's only big league pro circuit.

George Steutzle, of Pine Plains, a renowned stained glass expert who promotes basketball as a hobby, said he hoped to stage 10 games in Kingston, if public support warrants them.

The return of major league basketball to Kingston for the first time since the last days of Frank "Pop" Morgenweck's regime and the Kate Smith Celtics will be an outstanding sports event in local history.

Sweetwater Due

The Knickerbockers will have with them a flock of nationally-renowned collegiate stars and one of the greatest attractions of them all — Sweetwater Clifton — the giant Negro who formerly played with the fabulous Harlem Globe Trotters.

The Globe Trotters, incidentally, are scheduled for a Kingston appearance on Dec. 11, Steutzle said, if the crowds respond to the early attractions.

Among the bookings planned, besides the Knickerbockers, are the Globe Trotters, New York Rens, Rochester Royals, Boston Celtics and the Philadelphia Warriors.

Besides Clifton, the Knickerbockers feature Vince Boryla, former Notre Dame scoring champion; Carl Braun, of Colgate, who led the New Yorkers in scoring three straight seasons; and Ernie Vandeweghe, an All-American at Colgate.

Tricky Dick McGuire of St. John's University, three times All-Metropolitan, one of the game's greatest play makers (a la Nick Harvey) and Harry Gallatin, one of the pros' outstanding big men, are other standouts with the Knicks.

Have Rookie Aces

In addition to these veterans, the Knicks will show local basketball fans two of last season's top collegians — Ralph Polson, 6-7½ center of Whitworth College (Seattle) and Bert Cook of Utah State.

Polson was third leading scorer in the country last winter with 709 points. He averaged 33 points in three NAIB tournament games, a new record for that classic, and was generally recognized as the best center on the Pacific Coast.

In other games last night, the Schoonmaker Five trounced the Newkirk Aces by 55 to 36 and the Accord Chevies rolled over Central Lunch by 59 to 33.

Joe Gardiner, Art Gordon and Art Pinkham were the big guns for Schoonmakers with 16, 14 and 13 points respectively. Bill DuBois riddled the nets for 16 to lead the Aces.

G. Schoonmaker and Bart Schatzel registered 16 and 12 respectively for the Chevies in their lop-sided triumph. George Hooker found the range for nine points to pace the Lunchmen.

Rangers, Wings In NHL Opener

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—The National Hockey League swings into its 35th season tonight with the defending champion Detroit Red Wings playing host to the injury-riddled New York Rangers while the veteran-studded Montreal Canadiens are entertaining the rejuvenated Chicago Black Hawks.

The Rangers, hoping to better last season's fifth place finish, are plagued by the injury jinx. Goalie Chuck Rayner is shelved with a leg injury and forward Don Raleigh is sidelined with a broken wrist, sustained in a pre-season exhibition game.

Prince Eton Cops

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Prince Eton, driven by John Bedell, scored a length and a quarter victory last night over Josedale Dandy in the Montrose Pace at Yonkers Raceway. The favored Miss Shine-a-Mite was third. Overlooked in the betting, Prince Eton paid $13.90, $7.70 and $4.00 to those who backed him in the crowd of 14,316. Time for the mile was 2:05 4/5.

Ez Wins, Seeks Bout With Layne, Then for Crown

Cincinnati, Oct. 9 (AP)—Ezzard Charles, former world's heavyweight champion, wants a crack at the present title-holder, Rocky Marciano—but he wants to take on Rex Layne first.

Charles, 189, nedded less than two rounds last night to hang a knockout on Bernie Reynolds, 187, of Fairfield, Conn., in a nationally televised bout which drew a slim crowd of only 3,132 to the Cincinnati Garden.

When it was over, the 31-year-old Charles said, "I'd really like to fight Rex Layne. After that, I want to do what everyone else wants to do—fight Marciano."

The soft-spoken Cincinnati Negro heavyweight said that he felt he must lick Layne in order to ge a shot at Marciano. Layne won a referee's decision over Charles in a bout in Utah a couple of months ago.

Charles' knockout of the 25-year-old Reynolds also knocked the Connecticut heavyweight, who fights out of Cliffside, N. J., right out of the boxing profession, according to Reynolds' manager, Joe Vella.

"This was positively his last fight," said Vella, while Reynolds was taking a shower. "If a boy doesn't have it, it is no reason for him to be a punching bag."

Charles has a fight with Cesar Brion in New York on Oct. 24 and he reiterated that after that, he wants Layne.

Skaters Vie for Crowds

Indianapolis, Oct. 9 (AP)—A box office battle of ice-borne blondes—Barbara Ann Scott and her Hollywood Ice Revue versus Sonja Henie and her 1953 Ice Revue—begins tonight. They'll appear simultaneously in Indianapolis for eight of the next 10 nights. Barbara Ann, the sweet school girl type, tok Sonja's job in Arthur Wirtz's Hollywood show a year ago. Sonja immediately organized her own show. Her management claimed a total attendance of over one million for her 1951-52 tour. The Scott show claimed over two million.

Yanks Will Sign Stengel to New Record Contract

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—All thoughts of retirement cast aside, Casey Stengel, who managed the New York Yankees to the fourth straight world championship, is ready to sign a new contract, reputedly for $100,000 per year.

This would make him far and away the highest paid manager in baseball, almost twice the salary reputedly paid Leo Durocher of the New York Giants. Among active ballplayers, only Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals is supposed to be in that class.

The only other manager to win four consecutive World Series championships was Joe McCarthy, also of the Yankees.

Hugh Bradley, writing in the New York Journal-American, said Stengel "is sure to return as manager for a two year period at $100,000 per season if he feels his income tax statement can stand this extra burden."

Stengel is due to confer with George Weiss, general manager of the Yankees, before he leaves New York with his wife Edna for a South American vacation.

Stengel's present salary has never been revealed but it is probably over $75,000. Now in his 60's the canny Yankee pilot has toyed with the idea of retiring, but after the Yankees beat the Dodgers in the series he laughed off all talk of shelving himself.

Halfback Ollie Cline of the Detroit Lions in the National Football League has a strange hobby. He makes bullets.

Injury-Riddled Army Team Faces Trouble Against Rugged Dartmouth on Saturday

Army's injury-riddled football warriors, with Big Ed Weaver at right tackle, renew one of their oldest rivalries—in point of years, if not in games—Saturday when they clash with Dartmouth at Michie Stadium.

Kickoff time is 2 p. m.

This will be the fourth meeting between the teams since 1895, five years after West Point played its first football game. Of the three previous tilts, Army won two—losing last year, 28-14, after wins of 6-0 in 1895 and 6-2 in 1899.

Coach Earl "Red" Blaik's pupils opened the 1952 campaign with a surprising 28-7 victory over an up-and-coming South Carolina contingent. Dartmouth, tutored by capable DeOrmond (Tuss) McLaughry, meanwhile debuted by bowing to Holy Cross, 27-9.

Dartmouth, however, with a rugged display of defensive power to hold mighty Penn to a 6-0 win, while Army lost to Southern California. Cadet mistakes helped swell the Trojan score and everything considered the Black Knights of the Hudson made a good showing.

The availability of three of Army's top backs and an ace tackle, Bob Guidera, still is not known for sure. Halfbacks John Wing and Freddie Meyers, the Academy's top player, plus quarterback Dick Boyle, suffered leg injuries of varying degrees and did not play at all against Carolina or Southern Cal.

Dartmouth's chief guns are T-formation quarterback Jim Miller; Dick Collins, who scampered 89 yards for a TD against Holy Cross; and Dick Calkins. Chief threat to Army gainers in the line appear to be tackle Emery Pierson and Captain Pete Reich at guard.

The probable lineups:

| ARMY | | DARTMOUTH |
|---|---|---|
| Sisson | LE | Thielschuer |
| Wilkerson | LT | Rambour |
| Lunn | LG | Atahans |
| Ordway | C | Papatones |
| Ziegler | RG | Reich |
| Mischak | RE | Miller |
| Vann | QB | Smale |
| Meyers | LHB | Collins |
| Wing | RHB | Dorsett |

Tickets Cause Rhubarb

Philadelphia, Oct. 9 (AP)—Promoter Herman Taylor's inability to produce 16,000 tickets he claims went unsold for the Joe Walcott-Rocky Marciano bout here has touched off a rhubarb involving city tax collectors and the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission. Taylor claimed the 16,000 tickets were inadvertantly burned before they could be checked by the city revenue commission for purposes of computing taxes, but he said the Athletic Commission had checked the tickets.

Penn Picked to Halt Tigers' 24-Game Win Streak Saturday

Badgers, Spartans Also Rate Nod

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—The one thing you need to make football forecasts is confidence. After last week's debacle. The Claassen Confidence Co., Inc., went into bankruptcy.

Waiting for reorganization of the firm, here are this week's winners:

Wisconsin over Ohio State: This is another of those big 10 bruisers. Wisconsin has the more solid club, plus Alan (The Horse) Ameche but Ohio State has the incentive and could win it.

Penn over Princeton: Someday that Pennsylvania horde is going to bust loose and hurt somebody. Saturday is likely to be the day and the college football world's longest winning streak, Princeton's 24, goes boom.

Michigan State over Texas A&M: This is Saturday's TV gem. The Spartans, who specialize in late rallies, had better get the points early this time because those Texans can run long and far.

Georgia May Surprise

Maryland over Georgie: a pair of unbeaten giants. Experience gives Maryland the edge although Georgians say this is their best team since the Trippi days.

Syracuse over Cornell: Syracuse hasn't beaten Cornell since 1938 and comes to this game with Avatus Stone and Ed Dobrowolski, ace backs, out with broken leg bones. But the orange still is favored.

Michigan over Indiana: Can you remember when any previous Michigan team met its third foe and still was looking for its first victory?

Oklahoma over Texas: The Texans will discover that Vessels is the name of a top back, not to be confused with a fleet of ships on the gulf.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: The Tech backfield is young—and ferocious.

Illinois Favored

Illinois over Washington: West coast teams have spilled four Big Ten elevens without defeat. The Illini aren't in the habit of losing to the westerners, in the Rose Bowl especially.

Villanova over Wake Forest: Filipski and Co., to have their hands full.

Navy over William and Mary: The Navy defense has allowed two opponents a mere eight yards gained rushing. That comes out to three and a half inches for each rushing play.

UCLA over Rice: The edge goes to the home team.

Stanford over Oregon State: Stanford spent the week teaching Bob Mathias how to carry the ball.

The others:

Friday Night

Bucknell over Temple, Boston College over Drake, Boston University over Miami, Florida State over Virginia Military.

Saturday

Columbia over Yale, Colgate over Rutgers, Army over Dartmouth, Holy Cross over New York University, Brown over Rhode Island, Harvard over Washington of St. Louis, Coast Guard over Wesleyan.

Shelby Pruett, Yale halfback, is the son of Hub Pruett, one-time St. Louis Browns pitcher and now a physician.

Bowling

Cliff Quick, a veteran performer of local tenpin activities scored a resounding 663 blast on sticks of 201-225-237 in the Central Rec. Major wheel Wednesday night. Quick's hefty 663 shot, topped a list of four other 600 scorers in the action on the Railroad avenue drives.

Elsewhere in local leagues last night, Vince Burns made scores of 219-180-195 for a neat 594 count in the CYO-Holy Name League at the Bowlodrome.

Arlensky Hits 245

The top single effort of the night was turned in by Mitzie Arlensky in the Central Rec Major who hit 245 and 212 for a 613 series.

Other top efforts in that loop included Frank Grimaldi with 201-233-632; Tom Carlino 222-215-608; Boots Leskie 205-221-605; Larry Weishaupt 225-596; Bruce Davis 209-221-594; Ed Murphy 217-591; Steve Fassbender 207-212-587; Lew Hymes 205-581; Larry Petersen, Jr., 581; Ad Jones 220-571 and Bill Lawrence 210-550.

Also of note in the CYO action were Joe Maurer with 557; Jim Noble 556; Joe Mannello 536; John Sweeney 201-533; Ed Auclair 529; Joe Mahar 202-529; Vince Noble 527; W. Scherer 209-506 and veteran Jack Raible 500 on the nose.

Trailing Betty Macholdt's 477 in the Pioneer Women's loop were Fritzi Davis with 472; Phyllis Wolff 471; June Kelder 452; Ethel Hornbeck 449; Lillian Cameron 445; Pauline Barth 444; Peggy Duffy 432; Shirley Myers 427 and Louise Jordon 425.

Memo to league secretaries: ABC sanction blanks are still overdue from the majority of league secretaries in the jurisdiction of the Kingston Bowling Association. In order to protect high scores rolled, the secretaries are again reminded to file them immediately with the local secretary, Post Office Box 142, downtown office.

E. Williams fired one of those rare "600" triples in the Booster League, solving the Bowlodrome planks for 607 via 199, 221 and 187 on Tuesday night.

Williams' blast was the highest of 11 series of "500" triples, another standout accomplishment for the league known as the "cradle of bowling."

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Your feelings coincide with those of Harry Grayson and Frankie Frisch that the 1952 edition was the most exciting World Series ever played.

Frisch, who participated in eight, told the feasting scribes in the Dodger press room, that in his opinion only the 1934 series starring the Deans (Dizzy and Paul) against the Tigers was the only one that approached it.

John Robert Mize's spectacular performance in the last four games changed The Big Cat's idea about retirement. He needs just 15 hits during a championship season to reach the select 2,000-mark and will be back with the New York Yankees next Spring to get them.

Johnny Mize wasn't Leo Durocher's kind of ball player. He only helped the Yankees to four straight pennants and wound up playing first base in the biggest series in history.

And why don't the Giant fanatics stop harping about Mize as an ex-Giant.

For this observer who was fortunate enough to be present for the dramatic moments of the never-to-be-forgotten Sunday contest and the finale, the highlights of the series were, not necessarily in order: 1. Bob Kuzava's relief stint in the final game; 2. Johnny Mize's game-tying homer on Sunday; 3. the larcenous catches by Andy Pafko and Carl Furillo in that same game; 4. Mickey Mantle and Duke Snider's hitting; 5. Billy Martin's breath-taking catch of that twisting pop fly in the seventh inning. This could have been one of the most disastrous plays in World Series history if the ball had dropped to the ground. And like everyone else in the press box, we couldn't resist asking: Where was Joe Collins?

• A Writer Misses Baseball . . . No Kidding:

Francis Regan, sports editor of the Rome Daily Sentinel, was doing features on former Can-Am players in the series. Vic Raschi was one of them. Fran admitted missing Can-Am baseball during 1952 but held out little hope for its return. Al DeSantis, the Schenectady Union Star spts. ed., extolling Yogi Berra and Frankie Chamberland, the top kegler in Schenectady today. DeSantis, incidentally, rates Morris Cramer the best area bowler (Schenectady-Albany-Troy-Cohoes, etc.) in the last 25 years. A big order when you recall such titans as Chick Foley of Troy, George Sabatini and Johnny Drews of Schenectady, Scotchy Erhardt, Bunk Catino, Joey Schmidt and others of Albany. But Cramer is a phenomenal prospect and has been defeated only once in a major challenge because he couldn't stay with Dick Hoover's 256-plus average for 10 games in Akron. William "Billy" Shaul, the all-time New York State bowling great, told us at the recent state tournament in Kingston that Cramer could beat Hoover anywhere on flat alleys.

Ralph Williams, not the old time baseball star, socked a 240 solo for one of the top early scores at the refurbished Immanuel alleys. Mrs. Gen Whitmore, who missed the Wiltwyck Trophy Dinner Monday and has yet to receive her club championship trophy, will be guest of honor at next Tuesday's final session of the Ladies Auxiliary. Frank Campochiaro, the Glasco barrister, proved to be a phenomenal terpischorean at the Twaalfskill President's Dinner. Floyd Flint hadn't been elevated to the presidency five minutes when he plunged into 1953 plans. The biggest one, of course, being the start of an annual Ulster County Seniors championship. Mrs. Ray Garraghan beamed with understandable pride when the Abel F. Abernethy Memorial Trophy went to another Twaalfskill club champion.

Sight unseen, Gene Sarazen winged around Wiltwyck Golf Club in a three-under-par 32 the first time he ever saw the layout. Tough course?

Texas Christian Runs or Passes From Spread Right Formation

By Famous Coaches Diagramed and Written for NEA Service
By DUTCH MEYER
Texas Christian Coach

Fort Worth, Tex. — (NEA) — Texas Christian's Run-Pass From Spread Righ Formation play can be made into either a pass or run, depending on the defense.

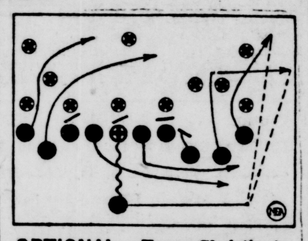
Dutch Meyer

The tailback takes the snap from center, starts to his right exactly as he does on an end sweep in that direction.

The guards pull back as they do on the run take a position in front of the tailback as they all move down the line of scrimmage.

Meanwhile, the right end has gone down to the defensive halfback and angled out.

The right halfback goes straight down about five yards, cuts squarely out.



OPTIONAL—Texas Christian's tailback observes the movement of the defenders as he runs with the ball. (NEA)

The left halfback angles wide across field.

If the defensive halfback plays the right end, the right halfback may be open and vice versa.

If a receiver is open, he passes, protected by the guards.

If the defensive left end, the linebackers, or both, in that area drop back to defend against the pass, the tailback can turn the play into a run by signaling the guards who immediately take off down field as blockers.

Seeks Second Crown

Mexico City, Oct. 9 (AP)—Wiry little Felicisimo Ampon, Philippines, was a likely candidate today for his second Pan-American tennis crown. Teamed with Mrs. Baba Madden Lewis, Newtonville, Mass., tenth U. S. women's player, Ampon upset the top seeded couple to reach the first finals at the 11th Pan-American tournament. Their opponents are the strong second seeded team of Thelma Long, Australia, and Gardnar Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla.

State Conservation Council Urges Local Clubs to Take Interest in Forest Preserve

An extended report on the activities at the 19th annual convention of the New York State Conservation Council at Watertown was released today by Carleton B. King, executive secretary of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County.

King attended the conclave on Oct. 2-3-4 with Ray Smith and Scotty Sickler of Phoenicia and was among more than 200 sportsmen who represented 53 counties at the convention.

Continued preservation of the state's forest preserve as an area "to be kept forever wild" according to the state constitution was again emphasized as council policy, King said, when the convention, with only one dissenting vote, again killed the attempt to secure council support for the proposed Panther Mt. dam.

To Continue Study

At the same time the council continued its committee to study the forest preserve question and asked it to make a report next year. Meanwhile, all sportsmen were urged to study the forest preserve question so that they may be prepared to act on suggestions made by the committee from time to time.

Ulster county's representatives also reported that another item of considerable interest was the role that sportsmen can and should play in gaining the fullest possible cooperation between all existing agencies of state and local governments, particularly as the work of these agencies affects the resources of soil, water and forests.

The work of a small club in Alleghany county in conservation work was given official recognition by the Council in the form of a plaque.

Representatives from the county pointed out that every agency of agriculture and conservation in that area had participated in the project. The reward to this county pointed out the need in other counties for similar cooperation.

Any local fish and game club or group of organized conservationists can make their wants known to the Conservation Council and get action, King pointed out.

In outlining the plan of action, King said that all proposed changes or additions to the existing conservation laws should be discussed fully by these local groups.

Medium In County.

The findings and decisions of these groups should be written up and voted on in the form of resolutions and presented for action by the county federation. In Ulster county this would be the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs.

Representatives of the county federation would then present these approved resolutions to the annual meeting of the New York State Conservation Council where fair consideration is given to all such proposals.

If the county proposals receive a 75 per cent vote of the counties represented in the Council, they are drawn up as proposed bills for presentation to the legislature.

Council legislative representatives will help in trying to get the proposals passed and keep the legislators abreast of the ideas and wants of the various clubs and members in the field throughout New York state.

This is a democratic process, King went on, and if sportsmen's groups follow this procedure there need never be the oft-repeated statement: Why don't they (the legislature) make or change this or that law." The means are provided for sportsmen's use.

The State Conservation Council, contrary to belief in some quarters, is not affiliated in any way with the New York State Conservation Department. It is an efficiently organized association of sportsmen's groups all over the state.

The Council served as a sounding board for discussion and action on all important fish and game problems, particularly of conservation problems as they relate not only to the sportsmen but also to every resident of the state.

State Conservation Department peronnel are invited to these conferences annually to provide answers, if possible, to questions that may arise in connection with changes or additions to the existing Conservation Laws.

Michigan State tackle Warren Spragg is co-holder of the college intramural doubles tumbling championship.

Badgers, Spartans Also Rate Nod

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Oct. 9 (AP)—The one thing you need to make football forecasts is confidence. After last week's debacle. The Claassen Confidence Co., Inc., went into bankruptcy.

Waiting for reorganization of the firm, here are this week's winners:

Wisconsin over Ohio State: This is another of those big 10 bruisers. Wisconsin has the more solid club, plus Alan (The Horse) Ameche but Ohio State has the incentive and could win it.

Penn over Princeton: Someday that Pennsylvania horde is going to bust loose and hurt somebody. Saturday is likely to be the day and the college football world's longest winning streak, Princeton's 24, goes boom.

Michigan State over Texas A&M: This is Saturday's TV gem. The Spartans, who specialize in late rallies, had better get the points early this time because those Texans can run long and far.

Georgia May Surprise

Maryland over Georgie: a pair of unbeaten giants. Experience gives Maryland the edge although Georgians say this is their best team since the Trippi days.

Syracuse over Cornell: Syracuse hasn't beaten Cornell since 1938 and comes to this game with Avatus Stone and Ed Dobrowolski, ace backs, out with broken leg bones. But the orange still is favored.

Michigan over Indiana: Can you remember when any previous Michigan team met its third foe and still was looking for its first victory?

Oklahoma over Texas: The Texans will discover that Vessels is the name of a top back, not to be confused with a fleet of ships on the gulf.

Notre Dame over Pittsburgh: Pittsburgh still nursing the wounds left by Oklahoma last week.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: The Tech backfield is young—and ferocious.

Illinois Favored

Illinois over Washington: West coast teams have spilled four Big Ten elevens without defeat. The Illini aren't in the habit of losing to the westerners, in the Rose Bowl especially.

Villanova over Wake Forest: Filipski and Co., to have their hands full.

Navy over William and Mary: The Navy defense has allowed two opponents a mere eight yards gained rushing. That comes out to three and a half inches for each rushing play.

UCLA over Rice: The edge goes to the home team.

Stanford over Oregon State: Stanford spent the week teaching Bob Mathias how to carry the ball.

The others:

Friday Night

Saturday

Columbia over Yale, Colgate over Rutgers, Army over Dartmouth, Holy Cross over New York University, Brown over Rhode Island, Harvard over Washington of St. Louis, Coast Guard over Wesleyan.

Shelby Pruett, Yale halfback, is the son of Hub Pruett, one-time St. Louis Browns pitcher and now a physician.

Bowling

Cliff Quick, a veteran performer of local tenpin activities scored a resounding 663 blast on sticks of 201-225-237 in the Central Rec. Major wheel Wednesday night. Quick's hefty 663 shot, topped a list of four other 600 scorers in the action on the Railroad avenue drives.

Elsewhere in local leagues last night, Vince Burns made scores of 219-180-195 for a neat 594 count in the CYO-Holy Name League at the Bowlodrome.

Arlensky Hits 245

The top single effort of the night was turned in by Mitzie Arlensky in the Central Rec Major who hit 245 and 212 for a 613 series.

Other top efforts in that loop included Frank Grimaldi with 201-233-632; Tom Carlino 222-215-608; Boots Leskie 205-221-605; Larry Weishaupt 225-596; Bruce Davis 209-221-594; Ed Murphy 217-591; Steve Fassbender 207-212-587; Lew Hymes 205-581; Larry Petersen, Jr., 581; Ad Jones 220-571 and Bill Lawrence 210-550.

Also of note in the CYO action were Joe Maurer with 557; Jim Noble 556; Joe Mannello 536; John Sweeney 201-533; Ed Auclair 529; Joe Mahar 202-529; Vince Noble 527; W. Scherer 209-506 and veteran Jack Raible 500 on the nose.

Trailing Betty Macholdt's 477 in the Pioneer Women's loop were Fritzi Davis with 472; Phyllis Wolff 471; June Kelder 452; Ethel Hornbeck 449; Lillian Cameron 445; Pauline Barth 444; Peggy Duffy 432; Shirley Myers 427 and Louise Jordon 425.

Memo to league secretaries: ABC sanction blanks are still overdue from the majority of league secretaries in the jurisdiction of the Kingston Bowling Association. In order to protect high scores rolled, the secretaries are again reminded to file them immediately with the local secretary, Post Office Box 142, downtown office.

E. Williams fired one of those rare "600" triples in the Booster League, solving the Bowlodrome planks for 607 via 199, 221 and 187 on Tuesday night.

Williams' blast was the highest of 11 series of "500" triples, another standout accomplishment for the league known as the "cradle of bowling."

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Your feelings coincide with those of Harry Grayson and Frankie Frisch that the 1952 edition was the most exciting World Series ever played.

Frisch, who participated in eight, told the feasting scribes in the Dodger press room, that in his opinion only the 1934 series starring the Deans (Dizzy and Paul) against the Tigers was the only one that approached it.

John Robert Mize's spectacular performance in the last four games changed The Big Cat's idea about retirement. He needs just 15 hits during a championship season to reach the select 2,000-mark and will be back with the New York Yankees next Spring to get them.

Johnny Mize wasn't Leo Durocher's kind of ball player. He only helped the Yankees to four straight pennants and wound up playing first base in the biggest series in history.

And why don't the Giant fanatics stop harping about Mize as an ex-Giant.

For this observer who was fortunate enough to be present for the dramatic moments of the never-to-be-forgotten Sunday contest and the finale, the highlights of the series were, not necessarily in order: 1. Bob Kuzava's relief stint in the final game; 2. Johnny Mize's game-tying homer on Sunday; 3. the larcenous catches by Andy Pafko and Carl Furillo in that same game; 4. Mickey Mantle and Duke Snider's hitting; 5. Billy Martin's breath-taking catch of that twisting pop fly in the seventh inning. This could have been one of the most disastrous plays in World Series history if the ball had dropped to the ground. And like everyone else in the press box, we couldn't resist asking: Where was Joe Collins?

• A Writer Misses Baseball . . . No Kidding:

Francis Regan, sports editor of the Rome Daily Sentinel, was doing features on former Can-Am players in the series. Vic Raschi was one of them. Fran admitted missing Can-Am baseball during 1952 but held out little hope for its return. Al DeSantis, the Schenectady Union Star spts. ed., extolling Yogi Berra and Frankie Chamberland, the top kegler in Schenectady today. DeSantis, incidentally, rates Morris Cramer the best area bowler (Schenectady-Albany-Troy-Cohoes, etc.) in the last 25 years. A big order when you recall such titans as Chick Foley of Troy, George Sabatini and Johnny Drews of Schenectady, Scotchy Erhardt, Bunk Catino, Joey Schmidt and others of Albany. But Cramer is a phenomenal prospect and has been defeated only once in a major challenge because he couldn't stay with Dick Hoover's 256-plus average for 10 games in Akron. William "Billy" Shaul, the all-time New York State bowling great, told us at the recent state tournament in Kingston that Cramer could beat Hoover anywhere on flat alleys.

Ralph Williams, not the old time baseball star, socked a 240 solo for one of the top early scores at the refurbished Immanuel alleys. Mrs. Gen Whitmore, who missed the Wiltwyck Trophy Dinner Monday and has yet to receive her club championship trophy, will be guest of honor at next Tuesday's final session of the Ladies Auxiliary. Frank Campochiaro, the Glasco barrister, proved to be a phenomenal terpischorean at the Twaalfskill President's Dinner. Floyd Flint hadn't been elevated to the presidency five minutes when he plunged into 1953 plans. The biggest one, of course, being the start of an annual Ulster County Seniors championship. Mrs. Ray Garraghan beamed with understandable pride when the Abel F. Abernethy Memorial Trophy went to another Twaalfskill club champion.

Sight unseen, Gene Sarazen winged around Wiltwyck Golf Club in a three-under-par 32 the first time he ever saw the layout. Tough course?

Texas Christian Runs or Passes From Spread Right Formation

By Famous Coaches Diagramed and Written for NEA Service
By DUTCH MEYER
Texas Christian Coach

Fort Worth, Tex. — (NEA) — Texas Christian's Run-Pass From Spread Righ Formation play can be made into either a pass or run, depending on the defense.

Dutch Meyer

The tailback takes the snap from center, starts to his right exactly as he does on an end sweep in that direction.

The guards pull back as they do on the run take a position in front of the tailback as they all move down the line of scrimmage.

Meanwhile, the right end has gone down to the defensive halfback and angled out.

The right halfback goes straight down about five yards, cuts squarely out.

OPTIONAL—Texas Christian's tailback observes the movement of the defenders as he runs with the ball. (NEA)

The left halfback angles wide across field.

If the defensive halfback plays the right end, the right halfback may be open and vice versa.

The tailback observes the movement of the defenders as he runs with the ball.

If a receiver is open, he passes, protected by the guards.

If the defensive left end, the linebackers, or both, in that area drop back to defend against the pass, the tailback can turn the play into a run by signaling the guards who immediately take off down field as blockers.

Seeks Second Crown

Mexico City, Oct. 9 (AP)—Wiry little Felicisimo Ampon, Philippines, was a likely candidate today for his second Pan-American tennis crown. Teamed with Mrs. Baba Madden Lewis, Newtonville, Mass., tenth U. S. women's player, Ampon upset the top seeded couple to reach the first finals at the 11th Pan-American tournament. Their opponents are the strong second seeded team of Thelma Long, Australia, and Gardnar Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla.

State Conservation Council Urges Local Clubs to Take Interest in Forest Preserve

An extended report on the activities at the 19th annual convention of the New York State Conservation Council at Watertown was released today by Carleton B. King, executive secretary of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County.

King attended the conclave on Oct. 2-3-4 with Ray Smith and Scotty Sickler of Phoenicia and was among more than 200 sportsmen who represented 53 counties at the convention.

Continued preservation of the state's forest preserve as an area "to be kept forever wild" according to the state constitution was again emphasized as council policy, King said, when the convention, with only one dissenting vote, again killed the attempt to secure council support for the proposed Panther Mt. dam.

To Continue Study

At the same time the council continued its committee to study the forest preserve question and asked it to make a report next year. Meanwhile, all sportsmen were urged to study the forest preserve question so that they may be prepared to act on suggestions made by the committee from time to time.

Ulster county's representatives also reported that another item of considerable interest was the role that sportsmen can and should play in gaining the fullest possible cooperation between all existing agencies of state and local governments, particularly as the work of these agencies affects the resources of soil, water and forests.

The work of a small club in Alleghany county in conservation work was given official recognition by the Council in the form of a plaque.

Representatives from the county pointed out that every agency of agriculture and conservation in that area had participated in the project. The reward to this county pointed out the need in other counties for similar cooperation.

Any local fish and game club or group of organized conservationists can make their wants known to the Conservation Council and get action, King pointed out.

In outlining the plan of action, King said that all proposed changes or additions to the existing conservation laws should be discussed fully by these local groups.

Medium In County.

The findings and decisions of these groups should be written up and voted on in the form of resolutions and presented for action by the county federation. In Ulster county this would be the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs.

Representatives of the county federation would then present these approved resolutions to the annual meeting of the New York State Conservation Council where fair consideration is given to all such proposals.

If the county proposals receive a 75 per cent vote of the counties represented in the Council, they are drawn up as proposed bills for presentation to the legislature.

Council legislative representatives will help in trying to get the proposals passed and keep the legislators abreast of the ideas and wants of the various clubs and members in the field throughout New York state.

This is a democratic process, King went on, and if sportsmen's groups follow this procedure there need never be the oft-repeated statement: Why don't they (the legislature) make or change this or that law." The means are provided for sportsmen's use.

The State Conservation Council, contrary to belief in some quarters, is not affiliated in any way with the New York State Conservation Department. It is an efficiently organized association of sportsmen's groups all over the state.

The Council served as a sounding board for discussion and action on all important fish and game problems, particularly of conservation problems as they relate not only to the sportsmen but also to every resident of the state.

State Conservation Department peronnel are invited to these conferences annually to provide answers, if possible, to questions that may arise in connection with changes or additions to the existing Conservation Laws.

Michigan State tackle Warren Spragg is co-holder of the college intramural doubles tumbling championship.

Loss of Freedom Due To Public Apathy Stressed at Sorosis

An America which gradually lost its freedom through the apathy of its citizens, and a country ruled by dictatorship was discussed by Sorosis' members at a meeting Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Edward Rick, Albany avenue. The subject for discussion was the result of a review, by Mrs. Ward Brigham, of Taylor Caldwell's dramatic novel, The Devil's Advocate.

The time of the story is the year 1970, and it describes the incredibly brave "Minute Men" who work secretly and ingeniously to overcome the "awful tyranny of the dictatorship that ruled the country," Mrs. Brigham told her listeners.

Referring to the time element in the story, Mrs. Brigham depicted family life as obsolete "except in the hierarchy. The education of children was strictly directed by the state without consent of the parents. Under the oppression, the people became robot-like and drained of human feelings.

"The control was total and iron-tight, but a little group of men and women devised a bold, brilliant plan to overcome it, a plan in which they had to have complete faith in each other and almost super-human courage."

There was an unanimous belief amongst those present as evidenced during the spirited discussion period following the excellent review, "that unless the apathy now existent is replaced immediately by alertness on the part of the citizens of this country, the predictions outlined in the book under consideration, may well become sorry facts."

Mrs. William Ochs, president, announced that the Ulster County Federation of Women's Clubs will hold a luncheon meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 29, in the Katsbaan Inn, Malden.

The next meeting of Sorosis will take place on Monday, Oct. 20, in the home of Mrs. Fred Ertel, Stone Ridge. Mrs. Grover Lasher will arrange transportation for the meeting.

British Wreck . . .

A locomotive from one of the three trains sheared straight through the coach yesterday, reducing most of its wooden structure to splinters.

A government investigation already was underway to discover the cause of the accident—Britain's worst train disaster in 37 years—in which two fast expresses piled into a jam-packed commuter train in front of the railroad station in this suburban town during yesterday's morning rush hour.

At least three Americans possibly were among the dead.

Donald G. Woodall, an American serviceman attached to a U. S. Air Force maintenance depot in Britain, was listed among those killed. A Mrs. Jean Woodall — presumably his wife — also was listed as killed, but no further identification of either was immediately available.

Mrs. Nettie Lawrence, of Green Island, N. Y., was listed as missing. Her husband, Thomas Lawrence, who was pulled out of the wreckage uninjured, told rescuers: "I tried to pull my wife towards me and couldn't. She kept saying 'I can't move.' "

The three trains involved in the crash carried more than 1,000 persons — many of them school children. Some 600 were jammed into the local commuter train when a Scotland-to-London express thundered at 70 miles an hour into its rear coaches as it stood in Harrow station.

A minute after the splintered coaches were strewn over the tracks, a northbound express out of London ploughed through the wreckage from the opposite direction.

Hacking and cutting through the debris, rescue squads managed just before dawn today to lift the locomotive of the northbound express off the track.

U. S. Air Force medical personnel from nearby bases helped in treating the injured and getting them off in ambulances to nearby hospitals.

Britons were loud in their praise of the American medical units.

Transport Minister Alan Lenox-Boyd sent a message of thanks last night for the American help.

"You made a most extraordinary effort—most prompt in every way—and acted like generous allies," the message said.

Draft Calls for 47,000

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP) — The army today issued a draft call for 47,000 men in December. This would bring to 1,154,430 the total draft since inductions were resumed in September, 1950. The December call is the same as for October and November. The Defense Department asked Selective Service to deliver the December quota during the first two weeks of the month in order to allow a maximum number of servicemen to take advantage of Christmas leave. Of the grand total of inductions, the army has taken or earmarked 1,073,000. The marine corps drafted 81,430 before it discontinued drafting men last May.

Fitzgerald Is 'Fair'

Korean War . . .

sibility for foreign policies which Truman says he helped to determine as a five-star general.

And the President has said the general periled this nation in 1945 by not warning against the future threat of communism, and by voicing belief that Russia wanted friendship with this country.

Eisenhower said he did testify before a congressional committee with "an optimistic hope and belief that the Russian policy was not then hostile, but was influenced by a desire for a workable friendship with the American people."

He said that hope was quickly proved "to be in vain," but in that hope "there then seemed to be the last best chance for world peace."

"Had we not striven for it then," he added, "how bitterly would we condemn ourselves now."

Made Appeal to Congress

Then he asserted he was appealing at the time for Congress to take military precautions by strengthening the armed forces.

"Looking backward from 1952," he said, "I am mighty glad that I supported in 1945 a policy of hope for the best and prepare for the worst."

He went on to hit Truman with this statement!

"But now listen to the man who is decrying this 1945 position of mine. In 1948, three years later and after repeated instances of Soviet duplicity, the same man said, 'I like old Uncle Joe Stalin. Joe is a decent fellow.' "

Then he said: "These particular charges against me are false." And he went on to give his own plan for prosecuting the cold war —which he said was the only course outside appeasement or "a stupidly aggressive attitude" that would increase the risk of another World War.

He proposed the United States "use all means short of war" in a huge psychological warfare program backed by every agency and resource of the nation.

Asked Meshed Action

This would call for meshing every action and policy of the government, he explained, adding if this were done, it would mean:

"We shall no longer have a department of state that deals with foreign policy in an aloof cloister; a defense department that makes military appraisals in a vacuum; a mutual security administration that * * * spends billions overseas."

Eisenhower noted that the 38th parallel passes just north of San Francisco—"this line is invisible in America, but in another land (Korea) it is traced in blood."

And, while Korean news focused on a breakoff of truce negotiations and the Chinese Reds' greatest attack in more than a year, Eisenhower went on:

Was Different in 1950

"Today this bloody line marks the 'defense perimeter' of our country in that part of Asia. Yet scarcely more than two years ago, the present administration announced its political decision that the 'defense perimeter' of America in that part of the world was a quite different line. That defense line did not touch Korea * * * but ran through islands well off the continental shore.

"Many an American family knows only too well how history has dealt with this policy decision of our government. The Communists hastened to exploit it. And we Americans are still paying dearly to redeem it."

He said this decision was "political in nature" and was not a decision by the military.

"The military has never decided questions of foreign policy," he said. "And if we are to continue to be free, the military never will."

He insisted the joint chiefs of staff in 1947—while he still was army chief of staff—had made a secret military appraisal of the strategic importance of Korea in event of general war. In that appraisal, thei mportance of Korea was minimized.

"As always," he said, "the joint chiefs were careful to refrain from political judgments that were beyond their authority."

Eisenhower said he couldn't have foreseen then that "three years later the secretary of state would translate that strictly military appraisal for war conditions into a peacetime political decision" —and made it public.

Now, he said, a "desperate administration" is using this military assessment "as the excuse for the political decision which it took * * * entirely on its own initiative."

Car Is Recovered

The car of E. W. Vedder, of 177 Murray street, reported stolen last night from in front of his home, was recovered today on Delaware avenue near Broadway, police said.

Chinese Are . . .

gest Communist offensive since May, 1951.

Heavy fighting has continued in other sectors, but the main Red effort now is directed at White Horse.

The initial onslaught dented the allied lines, but failed to breech any vital defensive position.

Planes Hit Positions

Allied warplanes today plastered Chinese positions behind White Horse with searing jellied gasoline, fragmentation bombs and machine gun fire. Allied artillery hammered Red strongholds.

Ten U. S. Superforts and 132 carried-based navy planes teamed up yesterday in a mass daylight raid against Kowon in northeast Korea. Pilots said their bombs were "right on the target" and caused countless explosions. Kowon is a vital Communist supply and communications center 25 miles north of Wonsan.

The battered force of South Koreans on White Horse is battling an estimated two Chinese regiments.

Morale High

"The men's morale is very high, but they are tired" after 60 hours continuous fighting, reported Maj. Gen. Kim Chong Oh, commander of the republic's (ROK) Ninth Division. "Their stand has been valiant and exemplary. We will hold our front at all costs."

The South Koreans fought the Chinese with grenades, rifle butts and bayonets in a see-saw battle in which the crest changed hands more than a dozen times.

Dead of both sides littered the slopes, the ridgelines and the valleys. The South Koreans said they killed at least 2,000 Reds.

3,000 Turned Back

On Arrowhead Ridge, just west of White Horse, French troops attached to the M.S. Second Infantry Division last night threw back an assault by 3,000 Chinese. The Reds peppered the French this morning with long range rifle fire.

South of Panmunjom, on the western end of the 155-mile battle line, allied troops repulsed three Chinese probing attacks last night.

Northwest of Yonchon UN troops this morning recaptured four outpost positions lost to the Reds a few hours earlier.

East of Kumsong on the central front the Reds attacked with tanks but were repulsed. UN soldiers failed to recapture two outposts on nearby Finger Ridge lost to the Reds Monday night.

Fighting continued all day yesterday for a hill east of the Mundung valley on the eastern front. Late in the afternoon the allied soldiers broke contact and withdrew.

Over at Mustang

pancakes in the armory basement for all comers—brings trade into town, you know. Also brings politicians. But they'd probably come anyway, this being an election year.

Wonderful weather, too. Almost as balmy as the Fourth of July. From all the fireworks Taft and Truman set off, you'd have thought it WAS the Fourth of July.

Out at Mustang Field (that's where the high school plays) Truman got up and said if the farmers want 15-cent wheat back again, and farms being foreclosed under them right and left—why, he said, just vote Republican and you'll get your wish.

Then in less than two hours out came Taft. And HE said the Democrats never would have got us out of the great depression if war hadn't come along. Now they're at it again, he said, with the "Truman Korea War." That got a big hand.

Even the Democrats had to admit that the crowd cottoned more to Taft than to the President. That's nothing to wonder at. Truman carried Iowa in '48—but not THIS county. Page county has been solid Republican since—

Well, anyway, Truman coming in here is like Casey Stengel going over to Brooklyn and expecting the key to city hall. Of course, Truman was hoping folks outside Page county were listening. Maybe a Fair Deal underground in the county, too.

Kennans Arrive

Berlin, Oct. 9 (AP)—Mrs. George F. Kennan and two children arrived by plane today from Moscow en route to Bonn to join her ambassador husband. The U. S. high commission banned photographers and reporters from the field without explanation.

In ancient times meteors were believed to originate in the atmosphere.

Pennsylvania Crowd Agrees . . .

presidential candidate's 67-year-old mother surprised the entourage with an unexpected appearance.

She came here by automobile from Washington where she has been taking care of the Nixon children during the campaign. She lived for many years in nearby Menges Mills, York county.

Speaks at Pittsburgh

At Pittsburgh, Nixon told a Syria mosque crowd estimated at 4,100 that he was "glad" the Republican presidential candidate is Russia's "number one enemy."

Unless Eisenhower's brand of leadership takes over in Washington, Nixon told the enthusiastic audience, youths who are now 14 and 15 years old will be fighting overseas when they are 18 and 19.

Before beginning a two-day swing through the state, Nixon told his audience in this Democratic stronghold Communist propagandists have been "cranking out vituperation against the Republican ticket" while becoming "most strangely silent on Harry Truman's handpicked candidate, Mr. Stevenson."

Nixon asserted the attack on Eisenhower by the 19th Congress of the Soviet Communist party in Moscow proved "that the one man in the world most hated and feared by the masters of the Kremlin and their satellites is Dwight Eisenhower."

Declaring the administration foreign policy is "the blackest mess of Truman-Acheson-Stevenson and Company," Nixon called for ousting of those "from Dean Acheson on down" who are responsible.

The young Californian said Democrats in Pennsylvania, California and other states are deserting the Democratic party for the GOP because they want "the kind of leadership that only Dwight Eisenhower can provide."

U. S. Raps Russia

Kennan, then in Geneva, could not return to the Moscow post he had filled less than five months.

The State Department told Moscow that "Ambassador Kennan's statement accurately and in moderate language described the position of foreign diplomats accredited to the Soviet government."

The 180-word message, delivered to the foreign office by Counselor Elin O'Shaughnessy, concluded by saying the U. S. government rejected the Soviet charges against Kennan.

Although the administration apparently has decided against hitting back by other than verbal means, Secretary of State Acheson said yesterday the U. S. is continuing to examine "all aspects of our relations with the Soviet government." He said this in a message to Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) who had urged the expulsion of Zarubin and withdrawal of the recognition of the Soviet regime which the United States extended in 1933.

Step of Seriousness

Acheson told Knowland that breaking diplomatic relations "would be a step of the utmost seriousness with worldwide consequences." He said that whatever action is taken would be governed by the national interest "and the interest of those who look to us for wise and calm judgment."

The latest Soviet restriction on American and other western diplomats was an order preventing them in effect from traveling more than 25 miles away from Moscow. When this was imposed the United States retaliated by requiring Soviet diplomats to give 48-hour advance notice whenever they proposed to go more than 25 miles from downtown Washington.

In addition the American ambassador in Moscow for years has been accompanied whenever he leaves the embassy by Russian "guards."

Child Is Injured

Ronald Johnson, 6, of 473 Washington avenue, suffered injuries of the face and head when he was struck by a car operated by Mrs. Gloria Merikle, of 287 Lucas avenue, at North Front street and Washington avenue this morning. Officer Gurnsey Burger, Sr., reported at 8:41 a. m., that the boy had been playing with a paper airplane when he got into the path of the car. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by the driver, treated and taken home.

Loss of Freedom Due To Public Apathy Stressed at Sorosis

An America which gradually lost its freedom through the apathy of its citizens, and a country ruled by dictatorship was discussed by Sorosis' members at a meeting Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Edward Rick, Albany avenue. The subject for discussion was the result of a review, by Mrs. Ward Brigham, of Taylor Caldwell's dramatic novel, The Devil's Advocate.

The time of the story is the year 1970, and it describes the incredibly brave "Minute Men" who work secretly and ingeniously to overcome the "awful tyranny of the dictatorship that ruled the country," Mrs. Brigham told her listeners.

Referring to the time element in the story, Mrs. Brigham depicted family life as obsolete "except in the hierarchy. The education of children was strictly directed by the state without consent of the parents. Under the oppression, the people became robot-like and drained of human feelings.

"The control was total and iron-tight, but a little group of men and women devised a bold, brilliant plan to overcome it, a plan in which they had to have complete faith in each other and almost super-human courage."

There was an unanimous belief amongst those present as evidenced during the spirited discussion period following the excellent review, "that unless the apathy now existent is replaced immediately by alertness on the part of the citizens of this country, the predictions outlined in the book under consideration, may well become sorry facts."

Mrs. William Ochs, president, announced that the Ulster County Federation of Women's Clubs will hold a luncheon meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 29, in the Katsbaan Inn, Malden.

The next meeting of Sorosis will take place on Monday, Oct. 20, in the home of Mrs. Fred Ertel, Stone Ridge. Mrs. Grover Lasher will arrange transportation for the meeting.

British Wreck . . .

mangled remains taken from one coach were those of at least three and possibly five persons.

A locomotive from one of the three trains sheared straight through the coach yesterday, reducing most of its wooden structure to splinters.

A government investigation already was underway to discover the cause of the accident—Britain's worst train disaster in 37 years—in which two fast expresses piled into a jam-packed commuter train in front of the railroad station in this suburban town during yesterday's morning rush hour.

At least three Americans possibly were among the dead.

Donald G. Woodall, an American serviceman attached to a U. S. Air Force maintenance depot in Britain, was listed among those killed. A Mrs. Jean Woodall — presumably his wife — also was listed as killed, but no further identification of either was immediately available.

Mrs. Nettie Lawrence, of Green Island, N. Y., was listed as missing. Her husband, Thomas Lawrence, who was pulled out of the wreckage uninjured, told rescuers: "I tried to pull my wife towards me and couldn't. She kept saying 'I can't move.' "

The three trains involved in the crash carried more than 1,000 persons — many of them school children. Some 600 were jammed into the local commuter train when a Scotland-to-London express thundered at 70 miles an hour into its rear coaches as it stood in Harrow station.

A minute after the splintered coaches were strewn over the tracks, a northbound express out of London ploughed through the wreckage from the opposite direction.

Hacking and cutting through the debris, rescue squads managed just before dawn today to lift the locomotive of the northbound express off the track.

U. S. Air Force medical personnel from nearby bases helped in treating the injured and getting them off in ambulances to nearby hospitals.

Britons were loud in their praise of the American medical units.

Transport Minister Alan Lenox-Boyd sent a message of thanks last night for the American help.

"You made a most extraordinary effort—most prompt in every way—and acted like generous allies," the message said.

Draft Calls for 47,000

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP) — The army today issued a draft call for 47,000 men in December. This would bring to 1,154,430 the total draft since inductions were resumed in September, 1950. The December call is the same as for October and November. The Defense Department asked Selective Service to deliver the December quota during the first two weeks of the month in order to allow a maximum number of servicemen to take advantage of Christmas leave. Of the grand total of inductions, the army has taken or earmarked 1,073,000. The marine corps drafted 81,430 before it discontinued drafting men last May.

Korean War . . .

sibility for foreign policies which Truman says he helped to determine as a five-star general.

And the President has said the general periled this nation in 1945 by not warning against the future threat of communism, and by voicing belief that Russia wanted friendship with this country.

Eisenhower said he did testify before a congressional committee with "an optimistic hope and belief that the Russian policy was not then hostile, but was influenced by a desire for a workable friendship with the American people."

He said that hope was quickly proved "to be in vain," but in that hope "there then seemed to be the last best chance for world peace."

"Had we not striven for it then," he added, "how bitterly would we condemn ourselves now."

Made Appeal to Congress

Then he asserted he was appealing at the time for Congress to take military precautions by strengthening the armed forces.

"Looking backward from 1952," he said, "I am mighty glad that I supported in 1945 a policy of hope for the best and prepare for the worst."

He went on to hit Truman with this statement!

"But now listen to the man who is decrying this 1945 position of mine. In 1948, three years later and after repeated instances of Soviet duplicity, the same man said, 'I like old Uncle Joe Stalin. Joe is a decent fellow.' "

Then he said: "These particular charges against me are false." And he went on to give his own plan for prosecuting the cold war —which he said was the only course outside appeasement or "a stupidly aggressive attitude" that would increase the risk of another World War.

He proposed the United States "use all means short of war" in a huge psychological warfare program backed by every agency and resource of the nation.

Asked Meshed Action

This would call for meshing every action and policy of the government, he explained, adding if this were done, it would mean:

"We shall no longer have a department of state that deals with foreign policy in an aloof cloister; a defense department that makes military appraisals in a vacuum; a mutual security administration that * * * spends billions overseas."

Eisenhower noted that the 38th parallel passes just north of San Francisco—"this line is invisible in America, but in another land (Korea) it is traced in blood."

And, while Korean news focused on a breakoff of truce negotiations and the Chinese Reds' greatest attack in more than a year, Eisenhower went on:

Was Different in 1950

"Today this bloody line marks the 'defense perimeter' of our country in that part of Asia. Yet scarcely more than two years ago, the present administration announced its political decision that the 'defense perimeter' of America in that part of the world was a quite different line. That defense line did not touch Korea * * * but ran through islands well off the continental shore.

"Many an American family knows only too well how history has dealt with this policy decision of our government. The Communists hastened to exploit it. And we Americans are still paying dearly to redeem it."

He said this decision was "political in nature" and was not a decision by the military.

"The military has never decided questions of foreign policy," he said. "And if we are to continue to be free, the military never will."

He insisted the joint chiefs of staff in 1947—while he still was army chief of staff—had made a secret military appraisal of the strategic importance of Korea in event of general war. In that appraisal, thei mportance of Korea was minimized.

"As always," he said, "the joint chiefs were careful to refrain from political judgments that were beyond their authority."

Eisenhower said he couldn't have foreseen then that "three years later the secretary of state would translate that strictly military appraisal for war conditions into a peacetime political decision" —and made it public.

Now, he said, a "desperate administration" is using this military assessment "as the excuse for the political decision which it took * * * entirely on its own initiative."

Car Is Recovered

The car of E. W. Vedder, of 177 Murray street, reported stolen last night from in front of his home, was recovered today on Delaware avenue near Broadway, police said.

Chinese Are . . .

gest Communist offensive since May, 1951.

Heavy fighting has continued in other sectors, but the main Red effort now is directed at White Horse.

The initial onslaught dented the allied lines, but failed to breech any vital defensive position.

Planes Hit Positions

Allied warplanes today plastered Chinese positions behind White Horse with searing jellied gasoline, fragmentation bombs and machine gun fire. Allied artillery hammered Red strongholds.

Ten U. S. Superforts and 132 carried-based navy planes teamed up yesterday in a mass daylight raid against Kowon in northeast Korea. Pilots said their bombs were "right on the target" and caused countless explosions. Kowon is a vital Communist supply and communications center 25 miles north of Wonsan.

The battered force of South Koreans on White Horse is battling an estimated two Chinese regiments.

Morale High

"The men's morale is very high, but they are tired" after 60 hours continuous fighting, reported Maj. Gen. Kim Chong Oh, commander of the republic's (ROK) Ninth Division. "Their stand has been valiant and exemplary. We will hold our front at all costs."

The South Koreans fought the Chinese with grenades, rifle butts and bayonets in a see-saw battle in which the crest changed hands more than a dozen times.

Dead of both sides littered the slopes, the ridgelines and the valleys. The South Koreans said they killed at least 2,000 Reds.

3,000 Turned Back

On Arrowhead Ridge, just west of White Horse, French troops attached to the M.S. Second Infantry Division last night threw back an assault by 3,000 Chinese. The Reds peppered the French this morning with long range rifle fire.

South of Panmunjom, on the western end of the 155-mile battle line, allied troops repulsed three Chinese probing attacks last night.

Northwest of Yonchon UN troops this morning recaptured four outpost positions lost to the Reds a few hours earlier.

East of Kumsong on the central front the Reds attacked with tanks but were repulsed. UN soldiers failed to recapture two outposts on nearby Finger Ridge lost to the Reds Monday night.

Fighting continued all day yesterday for a hill east of the Mundung valley on the eastern front. Late in the afternoon the allied soldiers broke contact and withdrew.

Over at Mustang

pancakes in the armory basement for all comers—brings trade into town, you know. Also brings politicians. But they'd probably come anyway, this being an election year.

Wonderful weather, too. Almost as balmy as the Fourth of July. From all the fireworks Taft and Truman set off, you'd have thought it WAS the Fourth of July.

Out at Mustang Field (that's where the high school plays) Truman got up and said if the farmers want 15-cent wheat back again, and farms being foreclosed under them right and left—why, he said, just vote Republican and you'll get your wish.

Then in less than two hours out came Taft. And HE said the Democrats never would have got us out of the great depression if war hadn't come along. Now they're at it again, he said, with the "Truman Korea War." That got a big hand.

Even the Democrats had to admit that the crowd cottoned more to Taft than to the President. That's nothing to wonder at. Truman carried Iowa in '48—but not THIS county. Page county has been solid Republican since—

Well, anyway, Truman coming in here is like Casey Stengel going over to Brooklyn and expecting the key to city hall. Of course, Truman was hoping folks outside Page county were listening. Maybe a Fair Deal underground in the county, too.

Kennans Arrive

Berlin, Oct. 9 (AP)—Mrs. George F. Kennan and two children arrived by plane today from Moscow en route to Bonn to join her ambassador husband. The U. S. high commission banned photographers and reporters from the field without explanation.

In ancient times meteors were believed to originate in the atmosphere.

Pennsylvania Crowd Agrees . . .

presidential candidate's 67-year-old mother surprised the entourage with an unexpected appearance.

She came here by automobile from Washington where she has been taking care of the Nixon children during the campaign. She lived for many years in nearby Menges Mills, York county.

Speaks at Pittsburgh

At Pittsburgh, Nixon told a Syria mosque crowd estimated at 4,100 that he was "glad" the Republican presidential candidate is Russia's "number one enemy."

Unless Eisenhower's brand of leadership takes over in Washington, Nixon told the enthusiastic audience, youths who are now 14 and 15 years old will be fighting overseas when they are 18 and 19.

Before beginning a two-day swing through the state, Nixon told his audience in this Democratic stronghold Communist propagandists have been "cranking out vituperation against the Republican ticket" while becoming "most strangely silent on Harry Truman's handpicked candidate, Mr. Stevenson."

Nixon asserted the attack on Eisenhower by the 19th Congress of the Soviet Communist party in Moscow proved "that the one man in the world most hated and feared by the masters of the Kremlin and their satellites is Dwight Eisenhower."

Declaring the administration foreign policy is "the blackest mess of Truman-Acheson-Stevenson and Company," Nixon called for ousting of those "from Dean Acheson on down" who are responsible.

The young Californian said Democrats in Pennsylvania, California and other states are deserting the Democratic party for the GOP because they want "the kind of leadership that only Dwight Eisenhower can provide."

Kennan, then in Geneva, could not return to the Moscow post he had filled less than five months.

The State Department told Moscow that "Ambassador Kennan's statement accurately and in moderate language described the position of foreign diplomats accredited to the Soviet government."

The 180-word message, delivered to the foreign office by Counselor Elin O'Shaughnessy, concluded by saying the U. S. government rejected the Soviet charges against Kennan.

Although the administration apparently has decided against hitting back by other than verbal means, Secretary of State Acheson said yesterday the U. S. is continuing to examine "all aspects of our relations with the Soviet government." He said this in a message to Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) who had urged the expulsion of Zarubin and withdrawal of the recognition of the Soviet regime which the United States extended in 1933.

Step of Seriousness

Acheson told Knowland that breaking diplomatic relations "would be a step of the utmost seriousness with worldwide consequences." He said that whatever action is taken would be governed by the national interest "and the interest of those who look to us for wise and calm judgment."

The latest Soviet restriction on American and other western diplomats was an order preventing them in effect from traveling more than 25 miles away from Moscow. When this was imposed the United States retaliated by requiring Soviet diplomats to give 48-hour advance notice whenever they proposed to go more than 25 miles from downtown Washington.

In addition the American ambassador in Moscow for years has been accompanied whenever he leaves the embassy by Russian "guards."

Child Is Injured

Ronald Johnson, 6, of 473 Washington avenue, suffered injuries of the face and head when he was struck by a car operated by Mrs. Gloria Merikle, of 287 Lucas avenue, at North Front street and Washington avenue this morning. Officer Gurnsey Burger, Sr., reported at 8:41 a. m., that the boy had been playing with a paper airplane when he got into the path of the car. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by the driver, treated and taken home.

Wadsworth Named To Replace Briggs In Czechoslovakia

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—President Truman today named George Wadsworth, veteran career diplomat, as American ambassador to Communist Czechoslovakia.

Wadsworth, now United States ambassador to Turkey, will replace Ellis O. Briggs who has been shifted to envoy to Korea.

Wadsworth is a foreign service officer with 36 years experience. A native of Buffalo, N. Y., he joined the State Department in 1916 as a clerk in the American consulate general's office at Beirut, Syria.

His transfer to Czechoslovakia comes a day after Secretary Acheson disclosed an American diplomat at the embassy in Prague talked for a second time with William Oatis, imprisoned Associated Press reporter.

Will Fight for Oatis

Oatis was arrested April 23, 1951, on espionage charges denounced by the U. S. government as phony. He was sentenced by the Communists to a maximum of ten years in prison.

Wadsworth will take up the fight to get Oatis released. In returning to the United States, former Ambassador Briggs said this fight was No. 1 on the embassy's list.

Wadsworth has been ambassador to Turkey for the past four years. He has served extensively throughout the Middle East, the Balkans and the Mediterranean area. He is 59 years old.

Final Registration Days
